

CAMERON

We've had Indian summer with a vengeance. War whoop. Paint and feathers!

W. M. Kennedy, of Baltimore; Ed Kennedy and son, of Fayetteville, were in town last week calling on old friends. Both men lived here many years ago when the carriage and buggy shops were in operation.

T. W. Joyner and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. York and sons, of Fayetteville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wooten.

Miss Margaret Kelly, of Southern Pines, visited Mrs. G. M. McDermott last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Snow and little daughter, have moved to Carthage.

Wade Collins left last week for State College.

Miss Sarah Rowan, of Charlotte, was a week end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Rowan.

Mr. Watson, of Laurens, S. C., spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. McGraw.

Gabe Homes, of Goldsboro, came up Sunday, returning with Mrs. Holmes and children who had been visiting Rev. and Mrs. M. D. McNeill.

Alton Cole is proving to be quite a landscape painter in beautifying the grounds around their lovely new home near Breezy Summit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Meredith, of Greensboro, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, of Liberty, Mrs. C. P. Rogers, of Sanford, came over Sunday afternoon to see Mrs. Anna Culberson, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Wooten.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McNeill, Misses Ada and Mary McNeill, Miss Margaret Gilchrist attended the funeral of their relative, Graham McIntosh, at Red Springs Saturday. The funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. Mr. Black, pastor of Red Springs Presbyterian church. Interment at Red Springs cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas, I. S. Thomas spent Sunday with the brothers of R. C. Thomas in Chatham county. They report fine crops of beans and corn in that section. Evidently the bean bug has not made its raids in Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tally, Mrs. Julia McDugald and grand daughter, Margaret, motored over to Pine Needles Inn Sunday afternoon.

Prof. B. C. McIver and niece, Miss Mabel Muse, left last week for their respective schools. Professor McIver will teach at Chadbourne, Miss Muse at Cerro Gordo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Boaz, T. C. Gaddy and daughter, Miss Lula, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Gaddy, of Vass.

J. A. McPherson and J. M. Guthrie have now on sale their new Whippet sports roadster. Quite a handsome car.

The faculty of Cameron High School gave a porch party and miscellaneous shower, on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 at the home of Mrs. J. L. McGraw, honoring Mrs. J. E. Mann, a recent bride and member of the faculty.

After the guests had arrived there was an unique and clever contest prepared by Miss Kate Arnold, high school teacher. The name of the contest was "Man." Among some of the questions to be solved were "What man is over the fire place? Man-tel. "What houses a minister?" Manse. "What does every girl want?" Her-man. "Who transplanted the rose of Borderlee?" J. Ed Mann, the bridegroom.

After the contest was over, Miss Annie McFadyen, in her graceful manner, told the bride, as she was the only one who had captured a man, the prize belonged to her and requested her to enter the reception room leading the guests, and there she found the prize, a miscellaneous shower of many beautiful and useful gifts. After inspecting and admiring the lovely gifts, the hostess served refreshments of pound cake and block cream.

O. L. Taylor was here for the week end for a visit to Mrs. Taylor and little son, Ervin Ray.

Mrs. F. L. Coore and Frank, Jr., on Cameron Route 1, are visiting Mrs. L. E. Culberson, of Siler City.

Miss Annie Hollingsworth Jones, who is teaching in Jonesboro, spent the week end at her home, Edgewood, on Rt. 2.

Miss Catharine McLaughlin, an aged maiden, who lived alone between Union and Carthage, was found dead in a field near her home on Saturday. She was the daughter of Neill Mc-Laughlin and Jane McLeod McLaughlin. Her father died in the Civil war. Her mother and an only brother died many years ago. Although she had been offered a home by relatives, like all old people, she preferred to live at the home where she was born and reared. She was a life long member of Union Presbyterian Church, and a faithful attendant.

Billy, Hazel and Marjorie Coore, of Lakeview, spent Sunday with Virginia and Johnnie Cameron.

Sorry to report Miss Lola Thomasson on the sick list.

B. T. Thomasson and son, Milton, and Mr. Isgelt carried their tobacco to the Aberdeen sales Monday.

Rev. O. A. Keller was a dinner guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Thomasson.

One of the outstanding social events of the season will take place on Friday, Sept. 30, at 8 o'clock at the high school building when Mitchell Guthrie, formerly of Virginia, now a popular society leader of Cameron, and Johnnie Keith, of Ador, will be joined in wed lock for the benefit of the Cameron Woman's Club.

Miss Lyndon Hartsell who has a widely known lyric soprano voice, will direct the wedding music and prior to the ceremony will sing a solo. Miss Flynt Loving, charming society leader of Sanford, will also render a solo in her pleasing contralto voice. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin will be used as a processional and will be rendered by the following intimate friends of the bride, J. Clyde Kelly, Dillard Handcock, Lefe Thomas, Pardon Loving, Cone McPherson and J. D. McLean. The bride will have as maid of honor J. Loyd McGraw, and dames of honor will be Alex McPherson, the flower girls will be dainty little Asa Yew and Ira Turnley and the ring bearer will be the popular and charming little Make High McLean.

The ceremony will be performed by H. D. Tally in his usual impressive way.

A bevy of beautiful brides-maids will include James Hunter, Bill Muse, Alton Cole, Henry Gichrist, Ed Mann, Jack Phillips, John C. Muse and Angus Gilchrist.

Among the guests will be Leighton McKeithen, mother of the bride; Stanley Graham, aunt of the bride; Teem Thomas, grandmother of the bride, and a great many other notables.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception will be given and sandwiches, cakes and cream will be sold. Admission, 10 and 15 cents. Everybody come.

The Correspondent was a guest of honor Sunday at a reunion dinner of the Bowden-Graham families and in-laws at the home of Mrs. Mary Graham-Bowden, widow of T. M. Bowden, on Route 2. Mrs. Bowden has six children living, three sons and three daughters, all married. She has 12 grand children. Those present: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bowden and two sons, two daughters; Howard Bowden and Miss Abernethy, of Durham; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bowden and sons, Sydney and Ronald, of Fayetteville; Mr. and Mrs. Jones Bowden and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Graham and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harrington, Mrs. Stone and two children, Mrs. M. A. Helms, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maples, Miss Annie Maples, Mrs. A. F. Graham, all on Rt. 2; Mrs. A. A. Graham, of Cameron; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown and little son, Mrs. Addie Graham, J. M. Brown, of Jonesboro, Jim Moore, of Fayetteville; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrington, Route 2.

A long table covered with snowy linen was set in a shady grove and loaded with everything imaginable that was good to eat and perfectly cooked. Viands seasoned and fresh, a variety of delicious salads, breads, pies, delicious cakes or many varieties, pickles of all kinds, individuals plates and cups with sparkling ice water to drink. A bountiful dinner with a quantity left over. Everything beautifully arranged, a well behaved crowd, no rushing at table after W. H. Maples asked a blessing. Even the little tots behaved beautifully.

Mrs. Bowden asked me to go with her to see her "fattening" hogs. She has two that will at present weigh 250 each. Poland China and Duroc mixed, I also took a look at her canned fruit. Rows upon rows of a variety of fruits that would grace a county fair. Canned pickles, canned sweet peppers. I saw a peck of large red peppers on a shelf that reminded me the peck that Peter Piper picked. They have two mammoth grape vines, the scuppernong and James, that were loaded. They ship their grapes, often realizing $50 a year, besides all they use for home consumption. J. J. Harrington has eight acres in fine corn that has been estimated at 40 bushels to the acre. Joe believes in living at home. He and Mrs. Harrington have plenty of hog and hominy, raise their wheat, have lots of truck and fruits of all kinds canned and preserved for winter use.

I held my first interview with a sporting man, or professional boxer. Ronald Bowden, known in the sporting world as "Dick Bowden, the Irish wonder." Tar heel born, and bred, 20 years old, weighs 126 pounds. Home in Fayetteville, professional boxer. Been in the game two years. Under the management of Walter St. Dennis, an Englishman, of Newark, New Jersey, and is sport writer for the Newark Star Eagle. He trained first in Fayetteville. Has been whipped three times and has whipped 57 times. He has fought in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Cuba, Canada, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. He has fought with Leo-Kid-Roy, Canadian featherweight champion, and with Ansino Varala, Cuban champion, with Eddie O'Dowd, of Columbus, Ohio; Tim O'Dwod, Atlanta, Ga.; Bennie Tell, New York;

Frankie Nanci, Pancho Divera Filippin. He will fight next week in Savannah, Ga.

Mr. Bowden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bowden, of Fayetteville. Doesn't look like a boxer, not to me. His hands are small and shapely, rather pretty hands, but the muscles of his arms are like iron. I asked him how could he hit a man and hurt him with so small a fist. He said it didn't take brute strength to be a boxer, that boxing was a science. Asked if he liked his profession, he replied he liked the money that was in it. I found him quite interesting in conversation. He is intelligent and speaks with a foreign but cultured accent that is perfectly natural. Asked where he was educated he said in Fayetteville, but that his two years of travel was the better education. The editor of the Fayetteville Observer says of him: "Clean as a hound's tooth in the ring and out. Fights like a bull dog." Next week I may tell of a few of the boys he defeated.

One way to put money into circulation is to take it to the racetrack.
