Prominent Guests Among Arrivals at Pinehurst Hotels

C. A. Whalen of Tobacco Fame and Ex-Gov. Silzer, of N. J. Among Visitors.

SEASON WELL UNDER WAY.

By Miss Laura Butterfield
The Pinehurst season is well under way, with many of the hotels open and harboring more than the usual number of guests for this time of year. Among the crowd at the Carolina for the holidays were:

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Baruch and daughter, and a very unpretentious Mr. Buzzell who turns out to be none other than the star of the musical comedy now running in New York, "Good Boy."

Prominent Guests.

Other guests of interest at the Carolina are Mr. C. A. Whalen, of New York City, president of the United Cigars Stores and F. H. Eckler, also of New York, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hutchinson, Detroit residents, are wintering at the hotel. Mr. Hutchinson was formerly connected with General Motors and the Hupmobile Company. George Silzer, ex-governor of New Jersey, and Mrs. Silzer are also registered.

The list continues reading like a page from Bradstreet's with E. P. Thomas of Plainfield, New Jersey, first vice-president of the U. S. Steel corporation, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Croft of Pittsburgh. Mr. Croft is president of the Harbinson-Walker Co. and director in many corporations, among them the Mack truck, The Republic Iron and Steel and Certainitee Products.

Alexander Julian, owner of a large shoe factory in Cincinnati, is making his annual visit before leaving for his California home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bray are spending two weeks at the same hotel and were joined over the holidays by their son, Charles Bray, who is instructor in psychology at Princeton University. Mr. Bray senior is now retired but was formerly president of the Republic Iron and Steel corporation which goes to disprove the theory that capitalists and college professors are deadly enemies.

Mr. J. W. Johnson, president of Johnson & Johnson, makers of surgical dressings and C. W. McCormick, treasurer of the same company are also staying at the Carolina. An item of interest to all good Pinehurst people is that W. R. Pierson, vacationing at the hotel from his duties as state senator in Connecticut and horticulturist, has named a newly developed chrysanthemum for Glenna Collett.

Victor President Here.

Eugene Jones has chosen the Manor as a fit place in which to work on his new mystery novel. Our own special detective work has not yet discovered the name of this new opus, but the latest to be published goes under the cryptic title of "Who Killed MacGregor?" Also at the Manor are Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth of New York City. Mr. Ainsworth is working on a resort of his own in the newly developed Myrtle Beach region of South Carolina.

At the Pinecrest is Mr. E. E. Shumacker who succeeds Mr. Ellbridge Johnson as president of the Victor Talking Machine Company. With him is Mr. David Baird, Jr., of Camden, New Jersey. Miss Catherine T. Callahan, sister of Joseph Callahan, judge of the New York state supreme court, is registered there with Mrs. Le Hon her aunt.

The cottage owners have been drifting in ever since election day. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wigg are in the Box cottage and the Givens have rented the Spring house until their own on Linden road is completed. Ellbridge Johnson is here every few weeks in his home on the West End road.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parsons have returned to their house near the Carolina with Donald Jr. Peggy is at school in the North and is expected here for the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Hurd arrived last week for the season. Mrs. Hurd has been in the hospital and plans to devote most of her time to her new adventure, selling antiques.

Mr. and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin are also here for the winter. Their daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Patterson and Miss Virginia Chapin have just left for the North but are expected to return soon.

W. W. Windell is entertaining several guests at his cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ferguson, guests at the Carolina last year, liked it so well that they have taken the Gardner cottage and are settled for the season with their two small daughters.

With the hotels crowded and the private homes filling up daily, one wonders what will happen at the height of the season. We will soon have to turn the village green into a parking space and station traffic cops at all entrances to judge from the state of affairs in the post office square at mail times and in front of the theater on movie nights.

The Littlecote tea room is now open and doing well. Among those entertaining there lately at luncheon and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lloyd, and Mrs. C. W. Rudel. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coghill, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleming Popham and Mrs. John Lloyd were seen at the weekly buffet supper held there Sunday night.

BETTER LAW ABIDANCE, SAY POLICE OFFICERS

so decreased in its influences that there is small comparison between conditions now and half a dozen or more years ago. The blind tiger has disappeared from many places where it roamed at freedom soon after prohibition was adopted, and the tendency is to a far better observance of the law. Both these officers say the general tendency is to get away from whisky, for several reasons. The people are showing an inclination to stand by the law, and they are also showing more of a disgust for the sort of dangerous liquor that is the product of present days.

Both the officers are satisfied that law and order is given commendable recognition in the Sandhills, and that the use of liquor is becoming decidedly less conspicuous, and that the highways are becoming safer and that the general action of the travelers, local and through drivers both, is entirely in the right direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Simpson returned last week from a stay of several weeks near Mt. Airy, and are at home in Lakeview for the present Mrs. Simpson, before her recent marriage was Miss Freda Gschwind, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Smith spent Sunday in Dunn with Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. David M. Pearsall.
