'Nerve That Bordered on Insanity' Built Up Sandhills from Nothing

Bion Butler Compares Community of Today With 40 Years Ago for Kiwanians

When you consider what a few men with nothing to work with accomplished in laying the foundations of Pinehurst and Southern Pines, when you compare what we have today and what we had 40 years ago, there is no basis for any despair of the future growth of this section, of its continued popularity. Bion H. Butler told members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting held on Wednesday at the Highland Pines Inn.

Mr. Butler went back to the day's nearly half a century ago when he stepped off the caboose of a freight train into a sandy wilderness. "I never saw anything cruder, less attractive," he said. He told of the hogs and cattle running loosely about the community. "It had nothing to offer, and yet men like John T. Patrick, with nerve that bordered on insanity, started building what we have here today and James Tufts followed in his footsteps. Now when Southern Pines and Pinehurst are mentioned in the press of the nation, you don't have to put 'North Carolina' back of the names. They are known throughout the world.

"If with nothing to work with how can we be stopped with all the advantages of progress since those days," Mr. Butler asked. "All we need is a renewal of faith and confidence, and a little more of that optimism which 'bordered on insanity'."

Ed Fuller's Attempt to Alter Auto License Plate Gets Him 6 Months

It's all very fine for the women folks to make over their last year's clothes and effect a saving in times like these, but when the men begin making things over, they are liable to reach the point where thrift ceases to be a virtue. A "made-over" license tag proved the undoing of Ed B. Fuller, a colored man of Carthage who engages in selling hair restorer. Fuller while driving his automobile was stopped by a patrolman who hailed him into court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with a display number plate which had been repainted and altered with intent to defraud the State of the registration fee due it. It was a pretty nifty job. The ends had been cut off to make the license plate conform to this year's size and a good painting job had been done with the newest colors, but the weak spot was the "four" that made the change in the year. Fuller claimed that he bought the tag from a colored man in Pinehurst, but that did not alter the case and Fuller, if he continues his business, will have to seek his customers among the road camp population for the next six months.

Civic Club Guests Hear of Hawaiian Islands

Fine Program Given at Third of Series of Travel Teas. To Elect Officers

"Where shall we go, and what shall we do?" are questions frequently asked when winter visitors first come to Southern Pines. The Civic Club has attempted to assist in solving this problem by giving series of entertainments, teas and card parties on Friday afternoons during the tourist season. Many winter guests have attended them and expressed their appreciation of the club's hospitality and of its value as a contact place where they might meet other winter guests and the residents of Southern Pines, thus enlarging their field of interest and social activity.

On Friday was given the third of a series of Travel Teas, "A Trip to the Enchanted Isles of Hawaii" with Mrs. A. E. Hutt, presiding, assisted by Mrs. Tracey and Miss Alice Southworth who gave entertaining talks about their visit to the islands. Mrs. Tracey brought many interesting souvenirs of native products, tapa cloth, flower wreaths or leis, koa wood, etc. Miss Southworth related a thrilling experience of being one of a party who spent the night on the rim of the crater of the active volcano Kilauea looking down into the gigantic pit with its seething boiling mass of molten lava. Mrs. Hutt gave vivid word pictures, of the native sports, surf riding, cut rigger canoes and an appetizing account of a native feast or "lua." The native songs Aloha Oe and The Song of the Islands were sung by Miss Madie Wade in her deep rich contralto voice to the great enjoyment of her audience.

On Friday, March 9th a meeting of the members of the Civic Club will be held at the club for the annual election of officers and such other business as may come before the meeting. A director's meeting at 2:30 will precede the regular three o'clock meeting.

NINE TABLES IN PLAY AT THISTLE CLUB BRIDGE

The Thistle Club bridge party held as usual at the Country Club Wednesday afternoon found nine tables in play. The high scores for each table were won by Mrs. Dr. Lewis, Mrs. Sherman Cox, Mrs. John Barron, Mrs. Lee McDonald, Mrs. A. A. Smith, Miss Charlotte Erson, Mrs. Elmer Davis and Mrs. Royal Scott. The newly formed club of the "Three Little Pigs" will meet every Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Next week little Louise Manning Milliken will entertain the club. The members are little Pauline May Nichols, Ann Perkinson and Louise Manning Milliken.

Friday afternoon, Pauline May Nichols, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Nichols, entertained a few friends at her home in Weymouth Heights. The guests were Jane Moore, Ann Perkinson, Louise Manning Milliken and Pam Goodwill.

COUNTY TITLE AT STAKE IN BASKETBALL TOURNEY

as the whole team clicked. Barrett, Lacks and Shaw were the outstanding performers. Coach Webb has certainly worked wonders with this this outfit.

West End, seeded No. 2, had plenty of trouble in gaining the semi-finals as they tackled a stubbornly fighting Aberdeen team. They won by 23 to 15, but the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle. Lawhorn was the leading player for the winners, while David Park featured for Aberdeen.

Pinehurst met Elise Academy, the favorite, in a semi-final game last night, while Southern Pines battled West End in the other half of the bracket. The finals take place tonight at 9 o'clock.

Fair Sex Battles
The Farm Life and West End girls continue as favorites, with Elise rated as dangerous and unexpected opposition coming from the Carthage sector. These four teams are semi-finalist.

Carthage proved its worth by wrecking Aberdeen on Tuesday by 14-11 and continuing at the expense of a very nervous Southern Pines team on Wednesday by a 29-15 score. The Southern Pines girls, due mainly to nervousness and some deadly basket shooting by Miss Roberts of Carthage, got off to a very bad start and were trailing 24-3 at the half-way mark. In the second half the local girls outplayed their opponents, but it was too late for them to win. Miss Roberts accounted for 18 of her team's points. Mary Elizabeth Cameron ran up 7 and Eleanor Eddy 6 for Southern Pines. Eddy was the outstanding player for the losers, while Martha Carlisle did well on the defense.

The complete results of games of Tuesday and Wednesday: Boys: Elise 26, Vass 14; Farm Life 18, Cameron 16; Pinehurst 23, Farm Life 12; Southern Pines 26, Carthage 20; West End 23, Aberdeen 15. Girls: Farm Life 26, Cameron 11; Carthage 24, Aberdeen 11; West End 49, Vass 10; Carthage 29, Southern Pines 15; Elise 26, Pinehurst 14.

Theatre

"Not since the days when Jack Barrymore who was very young have I noticed in any playhouse that strange poignancy of incense and gunpowder which filled the theatre as young Mr. Lederer approached in a love scene." So wrote Heywood Brown in an estimate of the dynamic sensation who held Broadway spell-bound for eight months in the notable play, "Autumn Crocus." He had come heralded as the sensation of Europe; his performance at the Morosco Theatre confirmed and intensified the high degree of his fame. It is this same Francis Lederer who makes his screen debut and gives the broader American audience a revelation of virile talent in "Man of Two Worlds," with Elissa Landi co-starring as the feminine element. Undertaking probably the most difficult of sympathetic roles ever to be presented as a star opus on the screen, Lederer goes through the gamut of every known human emotion during his performance of a barbarian transplanted from the frigid North into the most effete environment on earth—the drawing rooms of Mayfair. "Man of Two Worlds" has been given an exceptionally lavish Hollywood production, and a notable supporting cast comprising among others, Steffi Duna, Hungarian ingenue; Henry Stephenson, J. Farrell McDonald, Forester Harvey, Ivan Simpson; and Lumsden Hare. J. Walter Ruben's direction shared acclaim with the performances of the principals at the previews of "Man of Two Worlds." "Man of Two Worlds" is the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre, Monday, March 5th matinee and night.

We are pleased to announce that the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre for Wednesday, March 7th, matinee and night, is the Premiere showing of the well known story, "Success Story" with a siring cast headed by Colleen Moore, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Genevieve Tobin. And, by special request of the many who missed it week before last, we have booked a return engagement of the Grantland Rice Sport Subject, "Horse Power," which contains some of the most remarkable feats of horsemanship ever seen.

Fox Film's latest release, "David Harum," starring Will Rogers, will make its appearance on the screen of the Pinehurst Theatre, Friday, March 9th, matinee and night. Its typical American theme deals with a shrewd horse trader. Because of the coldness with which he barter, his reputation in none too good in the small town in which he lives. A young man who has come to work in the bank owned by the horse trader, learns that his employer really has a soft heart, and that his hardness is only for those who deal unfairly. The young man has fallen in love with a wealthy girl, but hesitates to propose marriage because of his poor financial standing. The horse trader, who is interested in the boy, tries to help the romance along, but gets no where. When the young girl comes to him and requests him to enter her horse in a forthcoming race, he advises the boy to place all his savings on the horse. The hilarious method by which the horse trader brings the horse home a winner, is said to bring the film to a happy and amusing conclusion. The large cast in support of Will Rogers displays an array of impressive names that include Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor, Stepin Fetchit, Noah Beery, Roger Imhof, Frank Melton, Charles Middleton, Sarah Padden and Lillian Stuart. Fames Cruze directed from Walter Wood's Screen play, which was adapted from the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott.

We are pleased to announce that the special imported production from the London Film Company, "Catherine the Great," is playing a return engagement in Southern Pines, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, March 5, 6, 7 with a Tuesday matinee. "Catherine the Great" stars England's most famous stage and screen star, Elizabeth Bergner, who is ably supported by one of our own American stars, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. To those who were privileged to see that delightful comedy, "The Private Life of Henry the Eighth," produced by the same concern, we have but to state that "Catherine the Great" far surpasses it in its gorgeous settings, superb photography and brilliant acting. Elizabeth Bergner in her performance as "Catherine" portrayed as a lovable Empress who was so misunderstood, and unjustly treated by her swaggering, over-ambitious, and mentally deranged mate, played by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will get the bulk of the praise accorded this London Film's production.

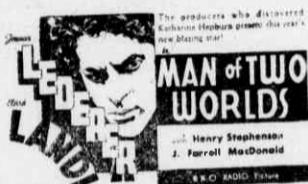

The Southern Pines Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 8, 9, 10 with a Saturday matinee, offers the nifty mystery melo-drama, "The Mystery of Mr. X" with an all star cast headed by Robert Montgomery, Lewis Stone, Elizabeth Allen, Ralph Forbes and Henry Stephenson. For mystery fans, better entertainment than this one is hard to find. It is so well done, in fact, with the inclusion of an intriguing crook angle and delightful romance, that its appeal extends quite beyond the main theme of the drama.

As an added attraction, Laurel and Hardy offer their latest comedy riot, "Oliver the Eighth."

PATE-WOODRUFF

The marriage of Miss Ollie Pate of Southern Pines to Fred Woodruff of Jackson Springs has been announced, the wedding taking place on January 20th. Mrs. Woodruff is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pate of Southern Pines. Mr. Woodruff is the son of Mrs. R. E. Henderlite of Jackson Springs.
