PINE NEEDLES' AIM IS WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL COURSE

Extensive Remodeling of Golf Layout on Knollwood Heights Nearing Completion

NEW SPRINKLER SYSTEM

By A. S. NEWCOMB

The Pine Needles golf course is rapidly recovering from a highly successful face-lifting operation. The incisions have all been healed, the scars are rapidly disappearing and the whole face of the course will soon be covered with an underskin of Bermuda grass upon which a new outer covering of Italian rye will be growing. By the opening of the coming season the patient will have fully recovered, much improved in appearance, health and vigor, to be one of the most beautiful and attractive golf courses in the world, green from end to end.

During the early days of construction of New York's subways many of the principal streets were strewn with piles of rock, soil, lumber, pipes and other litter. A woman of Hibernian extraction visiting the metropolis for the first time accosted a policeman with the question: "Do this be Broadway?" "It do" was the reply. "Well," asked Bridget, "where be they amovin' to?"

A stranger walking over the Pine Needles course at almost any time in the past two months might have been prompted to make a similar inquiry, for ever since the season's close until last Monday a crew of from 40 to 60 men has been diligently employed plowing up putting greens, digging ditches lengthwise and sidewise through the fairways, hauling in pipes, valves, meters and other gadgets used in the science of hydraulic engineering, and generally cluttering up the whole area until it looked as if it was about to be transported to parts remote.

Sprinkler System

But last week order came out of chaos and the new sprinkler system was given its initial tryout when valves in the connections with the big Southern Pines water main were opened and the sprinklers, with a long stream projecting from one end and a short one from the other, began to revolve, each capable of watering a circle 130 feet in diameter, laying the entire course from the first tee to the last green, thus supplementing the work of Dame Nature who here as elsewhere sometimes nods in her duty of supplying sufficient rainfall.

Tom Bost to Preach in Aberdeen Sunday

Well Known Greensboro Newspaper Man to Supply For Rev. Mr. Barber

Tom Bost, of the Greensboro Daily News, one of the best known newspaper men in North Carolina who is styled by his friends, "The Bootleg Preacher," will preach in the Presbyterian Church in Aberdeen this coming Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

For a number of years Mr. Bost has made it a point to speak in some church nearly every Sunday. On the occasion of the joint cruise of the State Bar Association and the North Carolina Press Association to Bermuda last month he delivered one of the finest sermons ever heard by those present, according to J. Talbot Johnson, a member of the party. Mr. Johnson was instrumental in getting Mr. Bost here to preach in the absence on vacation of the pastor of the church, the Rev. E. L. Barber, and a large congregation is expected to hear him.

NEW DATE SET FOR OPENING OF SANDHILLS PARK

Public Celebration of Project at Hoffman Postponed from July 16 to 30

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND

The date for the public celebration and formal opening of the Sandhills Land Use Project has been changed from the 16th of July to the 30th. Frank Eatman, the Project Manager and a member of the citizens committee on arrangements has announced from the project headquarters at Hoffman.

The new date was set because it was found inconvenient for Governor Clyde R. Hoey and other notables to attend on the previous date which had been only tentatively set. The new date was set at a meeting of the citizens' steering committee held in Rockingham last week, in the office of C. B. Deane, chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are: Edwin Pate of Laurinburg, J. A. McGoogan of Raeford, J. R. Page of Aberdeen, the Rev. W. I. Howell of Hamlet and Frank Eatman, Hoffman. This committee was appointed and given full authority to arrange the program, at a citizens' meeting held at the headquarters of this 62,000-acre forestry, wild life and recreational development, two weeks ago.

To Feed 2,000 Persons

The celebration is to be held at Indian Camp Park, a new park on the Sandhills Project where a new lake, a large pavilion, ten vacation cabins, and other recreational facilities have just been completed. The expenses are being contributed by Richmond, Scotland, Moore, Hoke, Roberson and other surrounding counties and plans are being made to feed upwards of 2,000 people.

The celebration will last all day, the committee announced. Inspection tours will start at 9:00 a. m., the public addresses at 11:00, barbecue dinner at 1:00, followed by further inspection of the project in the afternoon and a dance that night.

In addition to Governor Hoey, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Re-settlement Administrator W. W. Alexander, the North Carolina Congressional delegation and other notables have been invited.

Page Motor Company To Remodel Building

Modern Service Station Planned for Corner of Broad St. and New Hampshire Ave.

Plans for modernizing the Page Motor Company's headquarters at East Broad street and New Hampshire avenue have been submitted to the Street committee of the Board of Commissioners of Southern Pines for its approval, as the plan includes a slight change of grade for the New Hampshire avenue sidewalk. The committee, of which L. V. O'Callaghan is chairman, is expected to approve the change as it will not only greatly improve this corner in appearance but eliminate dangers to pedestrians.

As planned by Contractor C. J. Austin, the changes in the building include the razing of the outer walls and roof of the present office, the space thus gained to be an open concrete floor beginning 17 feet from the south wall on east Broad street and extending 37 feet up New Hampshire avenue. This space, accessible from both street and avenue, will

With Prospects Favorable, Citizens Organize For Big Season; Seymour Chairman

ADVERTISING PLANNED

Some 35 to 40 interested business men, farmers, warehousemen and tobacco buyers attended the Aberdeen tobacco market rally at the Community House in Aberdeen last Friday evening. The purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans through which it is hoped to make the Aberdeen market one of the best in the state when it opens its doors on September 16th, and those present voiced opinions that prospects for a good market were extremely favorable and agreed to cooperate to the fullest extent in working for the Aberdeen market.

It was voted to raise sufficient funds to properly advertise the market and Chairman G. C. Seymour appointed a Finance Committee consisting of A. L. Burney, Henry Blue, W. D. Caviness, Leon Seymour and C. J. Johnson, and an Advertising and Publicity Committee consisting of Forrest Lockey, Frank D. Shamburger, C. W. Covington, A. L. Burney and Neill A. Sinclair to work together to that end.

Kiwanis Speaker

REV. F. CRAIGHILL BROWN

Clergyman Tells Club of Work Among Colored People and County's Tubercular

The work that the Negro Welfare Committee is doing in West Southern Pines and the County Tuberculosis Committee is doing throughout the community was recounted to members of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting held on Wednesday in the Methodist Sunday School Building, Aberdeen, by the Rev. F. Craighill Brown, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Mr. Brown told of the need for funds to carry on the tuberculosis work to the full extent it demands here, stating that the financing of more than the usual number of local cases at the State Sanatorium had depleted the committee's treasury. He then enlightened the members on the splendid work which is being done in the improvement of health conditions in West Southern Pines, through the acquiring of a building for clinics, a reading room and social center, the grading of the school grounds for tennis, volley ball and other athletic activities.

The clinics which Dr. Symington, county health officer, is holding once a month have revealed an appalling condition among the colored population, he stated, and large numbers are undergoing treatment found necessary through Wassermann tests. The county nurse is also holding clinics to advise members on the proper care and feeding of children, and it is planned soon to have the county's home demonstration agent meet occasionally with the women of the section, giving talks on preparation of food, proper sanitation and other household advice.

PEACHES WIND UP BASEBALL SEASON IN THIRD PLACE

Play Brilliant Ball in Final Games To Defeat Troy and Raleigh

SEASON'S AVERAGES

By BEN BOWDEN

Last Thursday and Friday afternoons, in a desperate campaign to stay out of the American Legion Junior Baseball cellar and to finish as high in the league as possible, the Peaches defeated Troy and Raleigh to bring their season record to four wins and four losses and clinch third place in the district standing, two full games behind the league-leading Dunn-Erwin club and one game in back of Hamlet.

On both afternoons the Peaches played the kind of baseball that would have won from any club in the league and it is to be regretted that they didn't flash the same form in the two previous games against Hamlet and Dunn-Erwin. A win from either one of those clubs would have necessitated a play-off for the second place in the district play and the opportunity to go up into the State elimination series. The brand of ball the Peaches played in their last two games would have won at least one, and probably both of the two previous games.

Thursday afternoon Howard Auman went to the mound for the Peaches against Troy and he held the visitors to five hits and two unearned runs. Both of Troy's runs came in the sixth as a result of a pair of hits and errors by Buchan and Melvin. For the remaining eight innings Auman gave up only three scattered hits and shut out the opposition.

The Peaches got two in the first on singles by Leon Melvin, Buchan and Williams, and three more in the third on Leon Melvin's second single, Buchan's sacrifice, singles by Williams and Newton and Pate's sacrifice.

Win from Raleigh, 4 to 2

On Friday afternoon Buss Thomas faced Raleigh and for the second time this season he subdued them handsly. Raleigh made seven hits and two runs; one in the fourth on Thomas's triple and Horton's single, and the other in the seventh when Holmes was safe on Leon Melvin's error, stole second and scored on Holding's single to center.

A snappy double play, Leon Melvin to Buchan to Pate, broke up a threatened Raleigh rally in the third (Please turn to page six)

DEFERRED TAXES SUIT PRESENT RATE OF SPENDING

Congressman Lambeth Calls for Reductions in Federal Expenditures, Balanced Budget

"PUT HOUSE IN ORDER"

Representative J. Walter Lambeth of this Congressional district in a statement this week predicted that unless Federal expenditures decline sharply, Federal taxes on lower bracket incomes would have to be increased.

Comparing the $8-a-year income tax a married person in the United States pays on a $3,000 annual income with the $362 paid in England, Lambeth said:

"We could establish such income tax rates as England has and balance our budget, and it is not at all unlikely that this will have to be done."

He said the Federal tax in large incomes is now the highest in the world.

Lambeth said also he favored a constitutional amendment to provide that all future issues of bonds be taxed and that the salaries of government employees not be exempt from Federal or State income tax.

Pointing to a rising public debt, he said "The time has come for the government to put its house in order." "The national income for this year is estimated to approach 70 billion dollars, having climbed from the low point of 39 billion dollars in 1932; so that it is now well above the normal level," Lambeth said.

"We should not only have a balanced budget but should begin to reduce the public debt."

He said, "Expenditures must be decreased and revenues must be increased to reach a balanced budget, and we may as well face the issue."

Lambeth proposed reductions in the cost of relief, Army and navy expenditures and the personnel of government departments, especially emergency agencies.

Ball Team To Spend Week at Myrtle Beach

Peaches Lose Game to "All-Stars" But Win Post-Season Vacation

About ten days ago the management of the Sandhills Junior American Legion baseball team came to the decision that it would be an excellent idea to treat the Junior Legionnaires to a week at Myrtle Beach at the end of the season—if the treasury would stand the strain. They contacted Treasurer E. Levis Prizer and were informed by him that there was a respectable sum still remaining that would doubtless suffice for the purpose, but that it might be a good idea to bolster up the finances a little to be absolutely sure.

Accordingly they arranged a game for Wednesday afternoon between a slightly augmented and re-vamped aggregation of Peaches and a group of "All-Stars" from Southern Pines, West End and Hemp under the management of Charlie Ritter, erstwhile coach of the Peaches, with the hope that the collection at that game would do the trick. But the cards were stacked against the Peaches, for a heavy downpour just about game time kept the anticipated crowds away from the ball park and they

PEACH PRICES CONTINUE STRONG; SHIPMENTS HEAVY

With the Hiley market at its peak and Georgia Belles beginning to come in, the market for Sandhills peaches remains strong with prices excellent. To date the Sandhills have shipped nearly two and one-half times the volume of peaches that had moved out of the area by the same date last year and prices have been consistently around $3.75 to $4.00 a bushel in New York for average grades, with some fancy and extra fancy peaches bringing as high as $4.50 to $4.75.
