

State Fair To Open Gates Tuesday Morning

Five Days and Nights Packed With Education and Fun is Raleigh Program

Gates will swing open next Tuesday morning on a State Fair of which every citizen of North Carolina can well be proud, Manager J. S. Dorton declared this week as he put final touches on arrangements for the great exposition October 12-16.

Exhibit halls, with added space to accommodate the emergency overflow, are receiving the vanguard of North Carolina products which will go on parade in an imposing array of Progress. Entertainment attractions, of which there are a dozen features entirely new to the South, will begin to move into the far-flung fairgrounds Sunday, and by Tuesday morning the fair will swing into full blast for five days and nights packed with education and fun.

Back in State hands after several years of private operation, the State Fair of 1937 has struggled against numerous handicaps to assure citizens of North Carolina a creditable exposition, Manager Dorton explained.

With a total of $14,000 being offered in agricultural premiums, keen competition is indicated from producers throughout North Carolina. Judging of exhibits will begin Tuesday morning.

"Lucky" Teter and his Hell Drivers will be the special attraction Wednesday afternoon in the grandstand arena. Horse races will be held Thursday and Friday beginning at 2 P. M. Friday has been set aside as Young North Carolinians Day, and all school children will be admitted free. Professional auto races Saturday afternoon will top off the week's program of special entertainment.

On the midway will be the World of Mirth, with 19 rides and 22 novelty shows. A glittering musical attraction, "The Revue of Tomorrow," will be presented nightly at the grandstand. A dozen extra attractions, including some of the world's finest hippodrome talent, will feature the grandstand show afternoon and night, and each evening's performance will be capped by startlingly brilliant displays of aerial fireworks.

11-Year Old Girl Drives Pinehurst Trotter To World's Record

Alma Shepard in Sulky Behind the Former "Mr. Watt," Now Renamed Dean Hanover

Sensational Trotter, "Mr. Watt," Sets Up Two New World Records

Trots Mile in World Record Time of 1:58 1-2 With Daughter of New Owner in Sulky

Mr. Watt won't be back in Pinehurst this winter. In fact he isn't even Mr. Watt anymore. He's Dean Hanover.

But that must be rather confusing to William H. Watt's many Sandhills friends and we hasten to explain that we are not referring to last year's Tin Whistles Club president, but to a trim little three-year old trotting horse that was named after him, established a series of two-year old and three-year old records under that name, and was recently sold back to his breeders for $20,000.00 (he was purchased as a yearling by Newark, N. J. banker H. Stacy Smith for $410.00) and given back his original name, Dean Hanover.

Dean Hanover (Mr. Watt) trained at Pinehurst during the winter season for his two-year old and three-year old campaigns and from the very outset his owner, Mr. Smith, was convinced that the little horse was destined to become a champion. A year ago, as a two-year old, he fulfilled the first of the prophecies made in his behalf when he trotted a mile in 2:05 on a half-mile track to become the 1936 two-year old champion. Then, this summer, as a three-year old and still racing as Mr. Watt, he won a sensational race in the Goshen Purse on the one-mile Goshen track wherein he trotted the final mile heat in 2:00 1-4. On the strength of that performance Laurence B. Shepard of the Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., his breeder, bought Mr. Watt back from Mr. Smith and, in spite of the fact that his reputation was made under the name Mr. Watt, gave him back the name Dean Hanover, the name given him when he was foaled. This because every horse bred by that stable must have "Hanover" as part of its name:

New World's Record

Dean Hanover's (Mr. Watt's) latest accomplishments were recorded at Lexington, Ky., on the past two successive Fridays. Two weeks ago, on the opening day of the Lexington "Trots," with Mr. Shepard's 11-year old daughter, Alma, in the sulky, he trotted a mile against time in 1:58 1-2—a new world's record for three years olds. Then, last Friday, he turned in another record shattering performance to feature the closing program of the Grand Circuit when, driven by Mr. Shepard, he lowered his own world's mark for three heats by a stallion, in taking the 59th renewal of the $2,000 Kentucky Stake in 2:00 1-4, 2:00 3-4, and 2:00 3-4.

This winter and throughout the remainder of his career the great little horse will go through his winter training with the Hanover Shoe Farm string and will be seen no more at Pinehurst, but there are other fine prospects in the stables that winter here regularly, and who knows when another one like him may be developed.

Already this season Pinehurst-trained trotters and pacers have won 125 races, nearly twice as many races as have been won by horses trained at all of the other southern tracks put together—and the season still has a few weeks to run.

Prospects now are that the Pinehurst race track will have every available stall occupied during the coming winter and that it will share in the unprecedented success predicted for the forthcoming Sandhills season. Returning there this year will be

September Weather

With Little Rainfall and Low Temperatures Month Was a Pleasant One

In notable contrast to the preceding month of August, with its 16 days of rain totaling 11.17 inches, September bestowed only a little more than one quarter of an inch of rain, 20 all-clear days, nine partly cloudy and one cloudy. Two passing showers precipitated 26-100 and 11-100 of an inch, making a deficiency of 3.21 inches against the normal expectation of 3.58 inches. However, the first nine months of the year still show an overplus of five and one-half inches.

Also pleasantly contrasting with September of 1936, the month just past recorded lower temperatures, the highest, 92 degrees on the 6th, and the lowest, 47 degrees on the 26th. Compared with the long time normal figures the drop in temperature was noticeable, 3.4 degrees less than maximum, 6.2 degrees less than minimum, and nearly 5 degrees less than the expected average temperature. Thirty-seven one-hundredths of an inch of rain is the lowest recorded since September, 1926 when two hundredths of an inch fell. The average temperature for that month was 77, four degrees above normal. The Fall of 1937 came in on the morning of the 23rd, the day being fair and pleasant, highest temperature 83, lowest 51.

Long time	Max.	Min.	Aver.
Average	84.5	62.3	73.3
1936	84.1	63.1	73.6
1937	81.1	56.1	68.1

DUKE AND TENNESSEE AT DURHAM SATURDAY

All roads will lead to Durham tomorrow, Saturday, October 9! If you don't believe it, ask the Duke and Tennessee alumni, the sports-writers, and the thousands of the football faithful. Duke's Blue Devils will meet the potent Tennessee Volunteers before a homecoming crowd at Duke stadium which will fill the horseshoe's 35,000 capacity. The sports-writers are calling this meeting, which is the first for Duke on home soil, the "Battle of the South."

Duke will be out for blood in this ball game—will be seeking revenge for the heartbreaking blot placed upon the Blue Devil record a year ago in Knoxville when a midjet back on Major Bob Neyland's squad roster—his name was Red Harp—grabbed a punt in the last two minutes of play and scampered 82 yards.

And one of the south's oldest and greatest coaching rivalries—that between Coach Wallace Wade of Duke and Coach Bob Neyland of Tennessee—will be taken up again in the clash of the 1936 editions of the Vols and Blue Devils.

Dr. H. M. Parshall of Urbana, Ohio, the leading race winner at meetings this year; Herman Tyson of Newark, Del.; the Biery Farms Stable of Butler, Pa.; H. Stacy Smith of Newark, N. J., and numerous other stables of trotters, pacers, runners and hunters that have wintered here in years past.
