HUMANITARIANISM IN PINEBLUFF

For real uplift and inspiration let The Pilot suggest a visit to the sunny but business-like sewing room at Mrs. Walter Mac-Neille's home in Pinebluff...

Your attention would be held for an unforgettable moment by the exquisite Madonna on the wall, a symbol of the spirit which underlies the work at the Pinebluff Committee for Maternity Welfare...

Simple bassinets are bought and equipped by the workers to give the baby a better start than he would get when sharing a bed, as many must do...

The interests of the committee are widespread and include a bi-monthly baby clinic and home economics class for colored mothers at Addor. This is proving to be a popular social gathering where the County Public Health nurse, Miss Margaret McQueen, has an opportunity to check up on the progress of the babies...

But it is around Pinebluff itself that the main part of the Maternity Welfare work is centered. Local colored families know they can always find sympathy and aid for deserving cases requiring special treatment or medical care...

HOW TO GET OUT OF THE CYCLONE CELLAR

We doubt if any more preposterous theory was ever advanced, outside of Alice-in-Wonderland or the never-never land of a Barrie or a Hans Anderson, than that a "strike of capital" had been deliberately launched because of resentment against the policies of the Administration...

Capital does not operate that way. Persons and institutions that have capital want nothing so much as to employ it profitably, and no feeling of spite is powerful enough to make them do damage to their own financial interests.

The reason that capital does not flow into productive enterprises is that people with mon-

Government Makes Business Make Two and Two Make Four—But Can't Do It Itself

"When Roosevelt Asks Government To Cooperate With Business Instead of Business To Cooperate With a Defaulting Government We'll Get Somewhere"

Editor, The Pilot:

So many inquiries have been made as to what the Republicans intend to do that something ought to be said, so here goes:

With two million on relief and another two million on W. P. A., the Democrats have a handicap on the Republicans of about seven million votes. It isn't a question of what the Republicans are going to do, the question is how long will it take people to learn that under every "Deal" known to man, two and two still make four. No matter how many New Deals are organized, this remains a fact...

The Republicans should feel thankful that they didn't vote for Landon, considering the present depression. It is quite possible, however, that they are sick of the fact that they voted for "We planned it that way." If the Republicans are successful they will return to the old saying of Lincoln, "I am not bound to win but I am bound to remain true. I am not bound to succeed but I am bound to live up to what light I have..."

An Earlier "New Deal" Belshazzar put on a "new deal" in his day. Some of his dinners would almost equal some Jackson Day dinners of modern time.

Why Business is Afraid Business has a right to be afraid of a business that runs itself in the hole nearly thirty thousand million dollars in five years. Why should I make five dollars to give four of it in taxes to a bunch of lying politicians to fool the simple and dope the hopeful, foolish into looking for something for nothing?

Here are some interesting facts: A bale of cotton will buy less today than ever before in the history of the United States. A pound of tobacco of regular grade will buy less today than ever before in the history of the United States.

Per Capita Debt at Peak The people of the United States owe more money today than ever before in the history of the United States in time of peace. There are

Grains of Sand

The New York Herald Tribune—his own paper—reported the other day that Walter Loppman was a guest at the Highland Pines Inn, Southern Pines.

There's many a slop Twixt the cup and the lip.

Reviewing Leslie Ford's story in Pictorial Review, Katherine Shields said in last week's Moore County News, Carthage:

"Purely aside from the story itself, which is a good one, this reader couldn't resist picking out a few climatic and linguistic errors that the northern author failed to check up on, but which are glaringly apparent to any native. As this sentence: 'It was March, and March to a New Yorker should be blustering and windy and cold; people shouldn't be standing about without much on, drinking iced tea in the brilliant sunshine.' If they do that in 'Sandhurst' during any typical March day, then the climate is several states removed from that in Carthage! Iced tea in March? Brr." You must come down see us some time, Miss Shields. We had dinner on the veranda last Sunday with no coat on, and it's only January. In fact, we ate out of doors on Christmas day, down here in the Sandhills. And we always have to stop hunting in March—it gets too hot for horse, hound and man.

more liquor drinkers and cocktail consumers today than ever before in the history of the United States. A politician used to be able to expect about one hundred votes per one hundred lies, but now its about ten thousand lies per one hundred votes. There are more murders today than ever before in the history of the United States. People ask 'What's Wrong?' The whole philosophy of the new deal is wrong. It has been a lie from the beginning, in that it has taught ignorant and unfortunate as well as the better class of people that they are going to get something for nothing. That two and two, if handled right, will make 7 or 8. Its the same old lie that the devil told Eve when he said if you eat of the forbidden fruit you will be equal with and have the Knowledge of God.

People are fooled and doped by relief, by old age pensions, (most of them wouldn't feed a bird thirty days); just a sop to get people to believe what has always been a lie.

What can the Republicans do about it? They would have to have more power than John the Baptist when he cried in the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. If Government doesn't begin to co-operate with business and make straight the paths of Government, Sodom and Gomorrah won't be a circumstance. Killing off sixty families won't help. Saying "My friends" isn't going to last always. The Government monopoly is the worst monopoly we have to deal with. Prosperity is not by the number of dollars we have in our pocket but by what we can buy with what few dollars we have. Pilfering will never make plenty.

Why Business is Afraid Business has a right to be afraid of a business that runs itself in the hole nearly thirty thousand million dollars in five years. Why should I make five dollars to give four of it in taxes to a bunch of lying politicians to fool the simple and dope the hopeful, foolish into looking for something for nothing?

We have the money the brains and the backbone but it looks like after five years of plu-perfect foolishness, we've still suckers. You can't tell folks what to do when they don't want to hear. There isn't anything much you can do. As old man Jarvis once remarked "There isn't any question about it, gentlemen; there has been a great letting down of the ambitions of the people."

Samson had too much power and he pulled down the temple, destroying himself and many others. Roosevelt has the power and it looks like another Samson act. All I have to say to the Republicans is this: Hold yourself in readiness, take due notice thereof and govern yourselves accordingly; somebody will have to build it back and you're all that's left. Whether people believe it or not, two and two still make four.

Chester O. Bell Awarded $3,276 in Damage Suit

Former Moore County Auditor Wins Action Against City of Raleigh For Wife's Fall

Chester O. Bell, deputy State Auditor and former auditor of Moore county, last week was awarded damages of $3,276.35 against the City of Raleigh for medical expenses, and loss of his wife's companionship resulting from her serious injury in a street fall.

A jury in Wake Superior Court returned the verdict after a two-day trial with Judge N. A. Sinclair presiding.

Mrs. Bell, in a hearing of her suit last year, was awarded $2,000 damages. The case was appealed, but the city lost in the higher court also. It was indicated the city would appeal last week's decision.

The jury, in deciding the case awarded Bell $1,276.35 for medical expense incurred by reason of the accident. To that, the jury added $2,000 for loss of Mrs. Bell's companionship.

Mrs. Bell suffered permanent injury to one leg when she stepped into a post hole near the sidewalk in her neighborhood. She has never recovered fully and appeared in court with crutches.
