WANTED: A WORD FROM THE CANDIDATES

Five candidates are officially in the field for the Democratic nomination for Representative in Congress from this district, the position to be relinquished by Walter Lambeth at the end of his present term in the House

The Pilot, like other newspapers in the dozen counties which comprise the Eighth district, is being besieged by these five aspirants and their friends to support their candidacies.

To date this paper has seen no statement of position on vital questions of the day from any of these candidates, with the possible exception of one, Mr. Newton of Gibson. Mr. Newton favors adherence to the Constitution, a balanced budget, maintenance of peace and a continuance of the traditional two terms for a President.

The Pilot is not a political newspaper. But it believes that at such a crucial time in national affairs as the present every effort should be made by its readers to select the best representative that can be sent to Washington. It believes the Moore county electorate is entitled to a statement on the important questions of the day from each candidate in the field. It reserves the right to support that candidate who appears to best meet the requirements of a representative from this section.

What have you to say, Gentlemen?

YOUR DOG MUST BE VACCINATED

The State of North Carolina requires that every owner have his dogs vaccinated annually by a rabies inspector.

This is a very necessary precaution since there are so many dogs at large outbreaks of rabies occur, causing terrible suffering and death not only among animals but sometimes among human beings as well.

The law specifies that the work of vaccination shall be done by a veterinarian where possible, appointed by the health authorities of the county and that all dogs in the county shall be taken to him by their owners at certain times and that he is to collect 50c for each dog treated.

"Our efficient County Health Officer, Dr. Symington, has been able to arrange with Dr. J. I. Neal to do this work for Moore county and we are very fortunate in having so able a man," says Leonard Tufts in a letter to The Pilot. "He is making a real sacrifice for the benefit of the county. As an old owner of dogs, for your own protection and for the protection of your animals as well as your neighbors may I urge all to take your dogs to Dr. Neal."

Notice of location and dates for vaccination appears elsewhere in this issue.

THE WAY OF DICTATORSHIP

One of the outstanding lessons the world has learned from dictatorships is this: No dictator can force himself into power and stay there so long as his people retain free speech and free, uncensored, newspapers.

Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, and all of their lesser imitators learned that. But now Hitler, fresh from his Austrian conquest, is irritated by comments of newspapers in free countries. So he proposes international treaties establishing official government control of all newspapers. What he means is this: "You see that your newspapers say only nice things about me

GRAINS OF SAND

In Sanford the other day, in a seven and one-half hour period, 1,136 traffic violations were observed at the intersection of Carthage and Steele streets by a group of Sanford High School civics students.

The violations were credited to motorists and pedestrians.

The beautiful flowering shrub adorning the plot on the south side of the Southern Pines depot which has evoked so much comment from beholders is a fine specimen of TAM-ARIX ODESSANA.

And speaking of Spring, the white ducks came out in profusion this week. Trousers, not eiders.

Struthers Burt, back for a visit from Philadelphia, says he is more convinced than ever after his absence of some time that the Sandhills is the ideal place to live in America. Struthers has been about a bit, too.

The Yale Glee Club, which is giving a concert next Thursday night at Pinehurst, is directed by Marshall Bartholomew, an occasional visitor in Southern Pines and a close friend of Carl Lohmann, son-in-law of Mrs. J. H. Andrews. Mr. Lohmann is secretary of Yale University.

Pinehurst and Southern Pines, in which most of the tickets are sold, don't seem to have any luck in winning that hospital car disposed of annually at the Charity Ball. It went and I'll do the same for you."

Up speaks Dr. Carl W. Ackerman, Dean of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University, a lifelong student of newspapers and their problems and duties. After pointing out that such a treaty would require amendment of the American Constitution, he adds:

"I consider these developments so ominous that I think the foreign press policy of the German government should be fully explained and earnestly studied. If governmental control of the printed and spoken word is a requirement of peace with Germany, we should know the conditions now and not later."

Hitler's plan doubtless suits some Americans. A United States Senator said in a radio speech the other day that 98 per cent of America's city newspapers are biased. What he meant was that they did not agree with him.

How different he is from Voltaire who once said: "While I might not agree with what you say I shall defend to the death your right to say it!"

Americans doubtless will agree with their own Constitution and with Voltaire rather than Hitler and the Senator, for down the Hitler-Senator road lies dictatorship.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

A large eastern corporation has just issued a special annual report to its 11,200 employees. The report points out that 51 per cent of the money received by the corporation last year was paid to the workers in wages and salaries; that stockholders received 11 1-2 per cent and that the other 37 1-2 per cent was required for maintenance, expansion, advertising, research and taxes.

In paying an aggregate of nearly five times as much to its workers as to its stockholders, this corporation was no exception, but, on the contrary, typical of American industries today.

In support of this, the Department of Commerce recently estimated that the total compensation paid to employees in 1937 amounted to $45,000,000,000, while total dividends were only $9,000,000,000.

With these facts before us it is not difficult to see that workers in the aggregate have a far greater stake in the stability and prosperity of business than many persons believe and that their stake is even greater than that of the millions of American stockholders.

SPRINGTIME IN THE SANDHILLS

No simile of a coy and capricious damsel serves to portray the coming of Spring to the Sandhills. Day by day the swelling tide of nature reveals a to Knollwood two years ago, to Aberdeen last year, to Carthage this year. We're thinking of moving.

In less than three weeks you of Southern Pines will be getting your mail in the handsome new postoffice building on West Broad street. If you don't forget your key.

In the new building all boxes have keys. Those days of trying to remember your combination are about over.

The first Southern Pines photograph to be accepted by the Associated Press' new Wirephoto Service for use throughout the country was that taken by Eddy at a recent gymkhana, the one of the Cowboy Owen Anderson and his horse all tangled up in the triple bar jump. The Wirephoto system, which makes it possible for newspapers to use today's pictures today, has also run many of John Hemmer's golf and horse scenes taken in Pinehurst this winter.

More Sandhills pictures have been used throughout the country this season than ever in history, the news bureaus tell us.

General Manus McCloskey, who has been a good friend of the Sandhills throughout the tenure of his office as commanding officer at Fort Bragg, retires on the 30th of this month after 40 years of service in the army. He was commissioned in 1898 during the Spanish War and left West Point for Cuba.

new charm. Longer lingers the sun in the western horizon to limn the coloring appearing in bud and blossom. Here and there a shy and elusive blossom glows in the greenery of the arbutus, a few white stars shine on the red-tinted pixie moss; down in the valleys the wild plums burst into a mass of white, and on the uplands the close ranked peach trees show miles of gorgeous coloring.

Forsythia, jonquils and jessamine are a mass of yellow blossoms, while the rosy red of the judas trees glisten amid the browns of the still dormant oaks. The flowers of the true long leaf pine are a light rose soon to change into the more familiar deep rose-purple. The wisteria flings its climbing tendrils to show a wealth of purple and white bloom. Amid this profusion of floral beauty the dogwood reigns supreme, the pale, ethereal glimmer of its blossoms shining through the glistening pine like fairy candles set among the greenwood forming exquisite pictures to charm all beholders.

Several trees within the borders of Southern Pines are notable for their beauty, one in the City Park, another in the old golf fairway of the Boyd estate, best viewed from Connecticut avenue, and the famous pink blossom trees on May street. —C. M.
