Addresses Meeting in Aberdeen on "Neutrality."—125 Attend League Sessions

By Howard F. Burns

A delegation of close to 125 directors and officials representing 20 towns turned out Monday night at the Aberdeen school building for the Fifth District North Carolina Building and Loan League meeting.

Ralph Chandler, district president of the league, presided and called on the Rev. E. L. Barber, who made the invocation. The address of welcome was made by G. C. Seymour.

The principal address of the evening was by Congressman J. Bayard Clark of Fayetteville, who spoke on the subject of neutrality. Congressman Clark cited the recent European disturbance in Czechoslovakia and the grave danger that arises of drawing this nation into a European conflict, despite our very rigid laws governing munitions, such as the exporting of guns, airplanes and other international interests but by the people, the rise in the prices of cotton as a munition of war and the pressure that is brought not only by international interests but by the people at large in anxiety to reap the benefits of tremendous profits.

Others on the program included John B. Craven, mayor of Lexington, president of the North Carolina Building & Loan League, who pointed out the splendid work the Building and Loan associations of the state are doing, even under drastic competition of other loan corporations. He said that the day has passed when the directors of the State Building and Loan League can remain seated and wait for business to come to them. He stressed the importance in the encouragement of home building by going after the business, rather than waiting for it to come.

George W. Crone, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, stated that the Building and Loan associations of the state were in excellent financial condition, the strongest in their history.

Martin F. Guadian, Executive Secretary of the Building and Loan League, explained the Keesler Memorial slogan contest. He was assisted by J. W. Brinn of Sanford.

Joseph W. Holt, Assistant Secretary of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Winston-Salem, told the executives and directors of the Building and Loan associations that his organization stood ready to assist their organizations with their problems where additional funds are needed. A high spot on the evening program was singing by a quartet from the colored Mount Zion Church of Aberdeen.
