Theatre

Once in a while a motion picture projects the elusive essence of light hearted gaiety against a suspenseful background of melodramatic action in such deft fashion that it is immediately hailed as a smash hit.

Such a picture is "His Girl Friday," the attraction at the Pinehurst Theatre Sunday night, February 4th, at 8:30 and Monday, February 5th, at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. Cary Grant, Rosalind Russel and Ralph Bellamy provide a formidable triumvirate of talent, exacting laughter from hilarious situations, adding meaning to exciting and dramatic scenes.

Miss Russell, who "wowed" you in "The Women," the central figure in an unprecedented triangle, bears out previous encomiums of critics. Cary Grant is so engaging as a likeable rascal that his peccadillos are forgiven almost at the moment they are revealed. Ralph Bellamy, playing a grand character part, imparts a believability and naturalness to its interpretation that beggars description. The supporting cast reads like who's who, consisting of Gene Lockhart, Helen Mack, Ernest Truex, John Qualen, Roscoe Karns, Porter Hall and Cliff Edwards. We almost forgot to mention that "His Girl Friday" is adapted from that never-to-be-forgotten stage play, "Front Page."

Spencer Tracy, fresh from his triumphs in "Stanley and Livingstone," and Hedy Lamarr, number one glamour girl of the screen, are the attraction coming to the Pinehurst Theatre, Wednesday, February 7th, at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m., in "I Take This Woman," a romance of New York, which presents the European charmer in her first modern American picture.

It provides Spencer Tracy with the first romantic lover role he has ever played on the screen as the faithful scientist, Karl Decker, at whose side Miss Lamarr, as a society butterfly with a blasted romance, finds ultimate happiness and a destiny.

Darryl F. Zanuck and Director Henry King, the combination that gave screen fans such films as "In Old Chicago," "Stanley and Livingstone," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," have turned out another smash hit in "Little Old New York," the robust, rollicking, romantic drama, which is the attraction at Pinehurst, Friday, February 9th at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m.

The featured players are Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray, Richard Greene and Brenda Joyce heading a brilliant cast which includes Andy Devine, Henry Stephenson and Fritz Feld.

"Little Old New York," Brinks back those days "way back when" cows roamed Fifth Avenue, grog was a penny a swig and the Astors and the Roosevelts were just starting on their way.

It was a robust, hail and hearty life New Yorkers led in the days typified in the story of the barmaid belle of the brawling waterfront who fought the whole town to win the love and share in the glory of such a man as Robert Fulton, who was responsible for the first steamboat, the "Clermont."

That hilarious production, "Destry Rides Again," with James Stewart and Marlene Dietrich, comes to Southern Pines for a return engagement, Monday and Tuesday, February 9, 10, with a Saturday matinee and until you have seen it, you just haven't seen "nothin'".

And on Friday and Saturday, February 9A, 10, with a Saturday matinee, another laugh-fest, "Slightly Honorable," with Pat O'Brien, Edward Arnold, Broderick Crawford and Ruth Terry.

Truly another big week in the two Carolinas.
