Theatre

In Pinehurst
They can do a little bit of rearranging at the table where seats have been laid out since last January for potential Academy awards. We cannot recall for the moment how many brackets constitute the full award list, but they can safely leave two or three spaces for the new arrivals coming with "Kitty Foyle," the attraction at Pinehurst Sunday night, January 19th, at 8:30 and Monday, January 20th at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. It is that sort of a picture. And this brings us to our prime Academy Award in connection with this picture—Ginger Rogers.

Her's is truly a superb characterization, with its balance of emotion and wise-cracking independence. "Kitty Foyle" is the kind of picture that built the business, built all the theatres and all the studios and, from time to time and often in the nick of it, rebuilds that business. It is the kind of picture producers dream about making; a picture in the groove of today, yet in no groove, with something for every man and woman in every level of life expressed in terms every one of them can grasp without a struggle and hold on to with satisfaction.

Built along the heroic lines, which characterize all production efforts of Cecil B. DeMille, his "Northwest Mounted Police," in technicolor, the attraction at Pinehurst Wednesday, January 22nd, at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. is tops in entertainment for any type of audience.

The hand of DeMille, who was his own producer and director, is evident throughout the picture, in its magnificent color backgrounds of the Canadian woods, the handling with expert technique of large groups of people, its stirring and dynamic battle scenes. The cast is a shoemaker's dream come true. Cary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, George Bancroft, Lynne Overman and Walter Hampden perform expertly and the leading role, aided by fine support from a large cast.

The adaptation of famous novel, "Victory" with Frederic March, Betty Field and Sir Cedric Hardwicke in the featured roles, is the attraction at Pinehurst Friday, January 24th at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. To a surprising degree, the mood and the method of that master tale teller, Joseph Conrad, have been captured in the screen version of "Victory." In this achievement, and the fact that they did it so well, is the basic quality of the picture's spellbinding entertainment—the players, the director, the producer and the screen playwright, all have a splendidly cooperative share. An added attraction which should not be missed by any American is the new March of Time Magazine, titled "Uncle Sam—the Non-Belligerent." Pictures not meant for U. S. eyes to see are: Slave labor in France—Refugees receiving neagre German rations.—Giant "secret" weapons shelling England from the coast of France.—R. A. F. damage in Germany which has heretofore been concealed. Also the first uncensored pictures from occupied France where the capital is now Paris, Germany.

In Southern Pines
At Southern Pines Monday and Tuesday, January 20, 21, at 8:15 p. m. with a Tuesday matinee at 3:00 comes the return engagement of that epic production, "Santa Fe Trail," with Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland and a large supporting cast.
On Wednesday and Thursday, January 22, 23, with a Thursday matinee, the Lane Sisters, Gail Page, Claud Rains and the entire cast of previous issues, comes back in the third of the series for which they are famous, entitled "Four Mothers."
And on Friday and Saturday, January 24, 25, with a Saturday matinee, Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith, return in that top comedy, "Second Chorus."
