MOORE FARMERS HEAR AGRICULTURE SECRETARY

Approximately 50 Moore county farmers and farm women were in Raleigh Tuesday to hear Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard declare that the South can aid the cause of democracy by producing enough food and feed for its own consumption. An address featuring the annual joint membership meeting of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange.

Pinehurst P. T. A. Has Final Meeting of Term

Hears Good Reports From Treasurer and Various Departments of School

The last meeting until September of the Pinehurst Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school auditorium Tuesday afternoon. The treasurer, Miss Betsy Tillman, reported $175.00 on hand. Mrs. Kari Johnson made a report on the cafeteria saying more than 100 children had been served lunch daily and asked that $75.00 be designated for use for the school garden and canning of vegetables during the summer as was done last year, which was voted. It was also voted to send two delegates to the Parent-Teacher Institute in Chapel Hill in August. Miss Dorothy Ehrhardt reported that a pre-school clinic was held last Monday.

As a program feature Miss Mary Louise Riddick told of the work being done in the Commercial Department. She presented several pupils in a typing and shorthand demonstration. Miss Harriet Shillinglaw directed the school band in three numbers and Mr. Campbell told of the work done in the Industrial Arts classes and had on exhibit samples of metal work.

Miss Anne Allan's class in sewing put on a style show. The pupils modeled the costumes they had made.

ARMY MANEUVERS

The form which landowners are asked to sign reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, invite the U. S. Army to maneuver and bivouac (camp temporarily) upon our lands during October and November, 1941, with the understanding that we will be compensated by the U. S. Government for any damage which may accrue as a result of such use."

As one officer put it, "the only cost to farmers for allowing soldiers to practice war on their lands will be some slight inconvenience. But our troops must be prepared and landowners who cooperate will be at the ringside when the guns start firing, the parachute troops begin landing, and the tanks start roaring up and down the roads. It will be war, with all the excitement but without casualties."

Nurses' Training School Grads Honored By Hospital Auxiliary

Carolina Orchestra and Talent From Fort Bragg Entertain at Nurses' Home

The Moore County Hospital Auxiliary was host at a graduation party in Pinehurst on Wednesday evening, in honor of the ten students who are finishing their course in the Nurses Training School jointly maintained by the North Carolina Sanatorium and the Moore County Hospital.

Guests were welcomed in the living room of the Nurses' Home by Miss Eula Rackley, Superintendent of Nurses at the Sanatorium, Mrs. Edwin S. Blodgett, Chairman of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Elizabeth Hardison, Matron of the Home, and Miss Sara Hamilton, Superintendent of Nurses at the hospital.

Music for dancing in the playroom was furnished by the Carolina Hotel orchestra, through the kindness of Harry W. Norris, manager of the Carolina, and with the whole-hearted cooperation of the musicians.

Col. Frank C. Mahin, of the 60th Infantry at Fort Bragg, granted permission for some of his talented soldiers to come as guests of the auxiliary. The men in khaki couldn't refuse the requests of the ladies to sing. Particularly enjoyable were the quartet numbers by Messrs. Viebrok, Van Bobel, Beigelison and Pollock.

The honor guests of the graduating class were the Misses Katherine Elizabeth Best, Evelyn Roberta Crowell, Nancy Ruth David, Elizabeth Mae Hare, Ruth Dixon Hinson, Dolie Elizabeth Richardson, Mary Francis Rogers, Lula Lee Rogers, Mary Margaret Royal and Lella Wright.

PLAN GRANDSTAND AND FENCE AT NEW BALL PARK

The new Southern Pines Athletic Club, which recently acquired a ball park and recreation center at Manley, is having plans drawn for a grandstand and fence, and preparing to seed the field with Bermuda grass. Work will be started on the baseball diamond in a few days. Season tickets are now on sale to help finance the improvements, and may be purchased from any of the following: Carl G. Thompson, Dante Montesanti, Bynum Patterson and Father Edelen.

RILEYS PAY $164 FOR SHOOTING OUT STREET LIGHTS

Henry and Horace Riley, brothers, of Southern Pines were fined, given suspended sentences and charged with the costs for driving through the streets of Southern Pines in the early morning hours the forepart of the week and shooting out street lights. Arrested by Night Patrolman Irvin Morrison, they were arraigned before Magistrate D. E. Bailey. Fines and costs totaled $164.

In Pinehurst

Labelled by critics as "the great American motion picture you'll always treasure," the premiere showing in North Carolina of Frank Capra's special production, "Meet John Doe," will take place at Pinehurst Sunday night (only) May 18th, at 8:30. Frank Capra is responsible for many outstanding productions, but it is doubtful if any of them will top "Meet John Doe" for enthusiastic audience acclaim. Equipped with a unique plot, the film abounds in humor, romance, drama and suspense, building up to a climax that leaves one nearly prostrate with suspense, yet with a feeling that he has witnessed a great entertainment. Because it is so keenly American, because its hero could be any one of this country's millions, the picture will go right to the heart of every person who sees it. It is difficult to remember Gary Cooper in a finer role, more difficult to remember any past performance that excels the one he gives here. Excellent too, is the work of Barbara Stanwyck, Edward Arnold, Walter Brennan and James Gleason. It is entertainment from the word "go" and is, at the same time, a stirring exposition of Americanism, a story of the "it could happen here" variety if the little man, the John Doe, weren't around to prevent it.

In Southern Pines

Those masters of sophisticated love scenes, Irene Dunne and Gary Grant, are playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Monday and Tuesday, May 19, 20, with a Tuesday matinee, in "Penny Serenade." No longer the sophisticates, they tell the story of Mr. and Mrs. Average American, of youthful ambitions, of troubles, of determined rebuilding, of further troubles and of ultimate joyous conquest. It is a picture for the family trade and the whole family will like it.

Reported as one of Joan Crawford's best and a picture that most of her fans, and others, have been waiting for, "A Woman's Face" comes to Southern Pines Wednesday and Thursday, May 21, 22, with a Thursday matinee. Supported by a notable cast, including Melvyn Douglas, Conrad Veidt, Osa Massen, Reginald Owen, Albert Bassermann, Marjorie Main and Donald Meek, she plays the role of a woman with a criminal record whose face has been badly disfigured from childhood, but who is finally redeemed by plastic surgery and the influence of the good people around her.

The magic touch for musicals which Zanuck revealed in "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and has displayed again and again since that time, is to be noted in full play on behalf of entertainment in the case of "The Great American Broadcast," which is playing a return engagement at Southern Pines Friday and Saturday, May 23, 24 with a Saturday matinee. The stars are Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, John Payne and Cesar Romero, while contributing to the entertainment as themselves, are the Ink Spots, the Nicholas Brothers and the three Wierse Brothers, newcomers who offer something new in the nature of vaudeville. An item of special interest, to see, is the inclusion of the Dempsey-Willard fight films, made at the ring in Toledo in 1919 worked into the story of the picture.

Medical Technologists Meet Here Next Week

Prominent Speakers Coming For Gathering of North Carolina Society

The stage is well set for an outstanding meeting—the fourth—of the North Carolina Society of Medical Technologists, to be held in Southern Pines Tuesday, May 20th at the Country Club.

Although still in its infancy, this group has gone forward by leaps and bounds in preparation and program for this meeting.

The program lists many subjects of outstanding interest to all who are employed in or interested in phases of laboratory study and diagnosis. The group will be honored by attendance and a paper by Dr. Paul Kimmelstiel, Director of Laboratory, Memorial Hospital, Charlotte, formerly of the University of Hamburg. In addition, as a luncheon speaker, there will be Dr. C. C. Carpenter of Raleigh.

The local chairman has obtained from Scientific firms several valuable door prizes, to be drawn for at the luncheon. The total value of these
