CARTHAGE

by Ruth Harris Tyson

Rabies

Dr. Willcox, our county physician, is looking for more rabies to develop in the county right away. He says it is time for a new outbreak, as all the dogs that were bitten in the last rabies scare were not rounded up. No one knows how many dogs, cats, or foxes there were which were bitten at that time. The ones nobody knows about may at any time now start a new rampage of that dread disease. Therefore, he urges all persons who have not had their dogs vaccinated to take them to a veterinarian at once and have it done.

The most insidious thing about rabies is that a dog is dangerous fifteen days before he shows any symptoms. If a person gets any of the saliva of his dog in a broken place in his skin, rabies may develop before he notices anything wrong with the dog.

Vaccines for rabies have been much improved quite recently. The last rabies scare was at the Carthage Theatre, Sunday Night, June 2nd, at 8:30 and to the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 2-3-4, at 8:15 p. m. with a Tuesday matinee at 3:00.

Youth and beauty, love and laughs, opera and swing, all combine into one glorious musical for "Two Sisters From Boston" returning to the Sandhills at the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines, Wednesday through Saturday, (4 days) June 5-6-7-8, at 8:15 with a Saturday (Only) Matinee at 3:00, with Kathryn Grayson, June Allyson, Lauritz Melchior, Jimmy Durante and Peter Lawford, a quintet of atomic proportions, and backgrounded by the story of a girl who makes a hectic breathless climb from a bowery beerhall floor show to the opera stage. Wholly delightful, a gorgeous blend of Bowery beer-hall music of the 1900s, grand opera, slapstick comedy and romance and there is a production number at the finish, with Melchior and Miss Grayson doing a duet with a symphony orchestra accompaniment that should lift an audience out of the seats into a burst of spontaneous applause.

Sunrise

With almost every other film coming out of Hollywood being heralded as a "psychological drama," and wading knee-deep through the subterranean passages of strange and disordered minds, the new 20th Century-Fox picture, "Sentimental Journey," is bound to come as a welcome deviation for the legion of moviegoers who seek surcease from a screen peopled by lurid characters whose inhibitions invariably find release in only the goriest of "psychological murders."

Walter Morosco, producer of "Sentimental Journey," which plays Sunday and Monday at the Sunrise Theatre, starring John Payne, Maureen O'Hara and William Bendix, with brilliant little Connie Marshall, has his own ideas of screen entertainment. And despite his bucking of the current trend, his production of "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" made critics' "best ten" lists throughout the country.

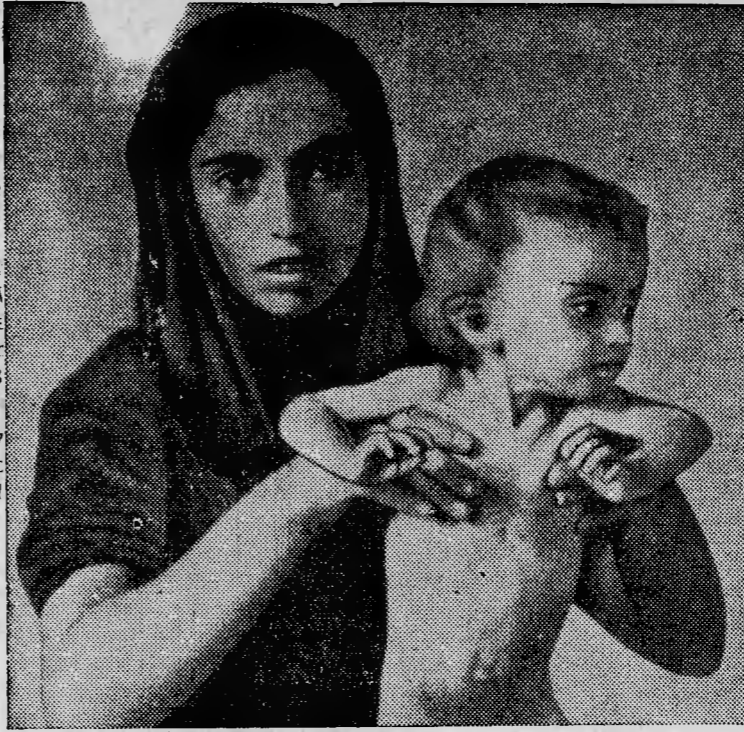

"Sentimental Journey" tells the unusual and heart-warming story of a glamorous stage star, passionately in love with her husband, who, in an attempt to add to his happiness, adopts a nine-year-old child. When the plan backfires with unexpected repercussions, the swiftly-paced drama is brought to a thrilling climax of tremendous emotional impact.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Glenn Langan, Mischa Auer, Kurt Kreuger, Trudy Marshall and Ruth Nelson appear in featured roles.

TWO BELLES OF '76

Mrs. Evaline Blue of Carthage and Mrs. Belle Pleasants of Aberdeen were honor guests at Peace College Monday at a luncheon given by the College.

It was just seventy years ago that they were there as students. Mr. Talbot Johnson drove them up to Raleigh in his car. Mrs. Gilliam Brown of Carthage and Mrs. Malcolm Pleasants of Aberdeen accompanied them. The pictures of these two ladies appeared in Tuesday's NEWS AND OBSERVER, and their youthful looks belied the caption that said Mrs. Blue was 88 and Mrs. Pleasants, 91. Simply impossible! These pictured likenesses seemed to say, Fortunate Peace to have these gracious ladies grace their commencement program!

A YUGOSLAV MOTHER holds her baby which she has managed to keep alive by feeding it her own meager ration. Both are typical of millions suffering from acute malnutrition in Europe and Asia who will die unless more food is provided immediately. You can help by giving money or canned food to the Emergency Food Collection.

Seven Negro Nurses Graduate At North Carolina Sanatorium

Two Girls From Here One From Aberdeen

The nineteenth class of Negro Nurses to graduate from the North Carolina Sanatorium School of Nursing, Sanatorium, received their diplomas on Friday, May 24. The members of the class are: Misses Doris Manette Brown, Aberdeen, Fannie Belle Cogdell, St. Pauls, Willie Helena Fuller, Southern Pines, Mattie Mae Hodge, Wendell, Evelyn Louise Hughes, Tarboro, Claire Elizabeth McNair, Southern Pines, and Christine Catherine Perry, Zebulon. These girls received their first two years of training at the N. C. Sanatorium School of Nursing, Sanatorium, and their third, at Kate Biting Memorial Hospital, Winston-Salem.

Dr. J. N. Mills, staff member of Lincoln Hospital, Durham, and physician for the North Carolina College for Negroes, Durham, delivered the commencement address.

Dr. P. P. McCain, Superintendent of the N. C. State Sanatoria, extended congratulations to the class. Dr. McCain stressed the importance of early diagnosis in tuberculosis and suggested that all take advantage of the clinics and X-ray facilities now available in North Carolina.

Dr. L. A. Marks, Resident Physician, at the Negro Division of N. C. Sanatorium, presided over the exercises, and presented the class pins. Dr. J. S. Hiatt, Associate Superintendent and Assistant Medical Director of the N. C. Sanatorium, awarded the diplomas.

The invocation was made by Reverend L. R. Bennett of Southern Pines. Music for the occasion was furnished by Levon Haithman at the piano, and vocal arrangements were rendered by the student nurses.

Robert Hawk Dies Result of Wounds

Robert Arthur Hawk, 24, died last Saturday at his home in Aberdeen. Young Hawk was wounded in Belgium on the 4th of November, 1944. Bursting shrapnel pierced his side, and it was from these wounds that cancer later developed which could not be controlled.

Popular throughout the County, and to his friends in uniform all over the world, a great sense of loss is felt by the family and friends of Robert Hawk.

Hawk was a sergeant with the 501st Paratroop Infantry and on the 18th of December, 1943 married Grace Klabbatz, of Southern Pines.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. G. Hawk, parents of Robert Hawk, drove up from Tampa, Fla. when the news reached them. The funeral was held Thursday at 2:30 at the Church of Wide Fellowship in Southern Pines and he is now buried in the Mt. Hope Cemetery.

JAMES CADDELL

James Caddell, 90, died at his home here Monday morning following a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Graham Caddell; two sons, John and William Caddell, both of Aberdeen, and two daughters, Mrs. Annie McDonald of Pinehurst, Mrs. Alice McDonald of Jackson Springs and a granddaughter, Mrs. Don Jensen of Southern Pines.

RELEASED FROM SERVICE

Ralph M. Stephenson, Y2c, received his discharge on May 24 at the Naval Personnel Separation Center, Jacksonville, Fla. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephenson of Southern Pines.

ABERDEEN GIRL PEACE COLLEGE GRADUATE

Miss Belle Elizabeth Caviness received her commercial diploma at the 74th annual Peace College commencement which was held Monday night in the James Dinwiddie Memorial Chapel at the college.

Locals Drop Saturday Game After Comfortable 6-Run Lead Then Bow To Star Wednesday

ODD

For the first four innings of last Saturday's game practically all of Southern Pines' rooters felt sure they were tasting a long-overdue victory. The local batsmen knocked Ramseur all around the lot and were leading by a fat 7-1 margin.

In the last of the third, "Red" Vest rapped out a three-bagger, "Jackrabbit" Harper had previously practically stolen home, after beating out to first what would have been a sure out with a slower runner. Things looked on the up for Southern Pines, leading 3-1 going into the fourth.

The first three men up for Ramseur in the first of the fourth were retired in rapid fire order—struck out, pop-flaw out, and called out.

The last of the fourth was a debacle. Ramseur blew up. Haynes up first, got a clean single to short left. Newton sacrificed, advancing Haynes to second, and except for his bad ankle Newton would have been safe at first when Ramseur's third baseman dropped the ball but still beat Newton with the throw. McNeill hit a double and the push was on. Fisher, Harper, Wicker, and Vest... everybody got on and most of them got home. When the inning ended Southern Pines was ahead 7-1.

But if Ramseur "blew up" in the fourth, Southern Pines plumb busted all over the place in the fifth. It started simply enough, with Brooks, pitcher for Ramseur, getting hit by a soft one for a free trip to first. Then followed a slugging fest. And before the Dwellers throughout the entire length of Ashe Street peered out of their windows in stark amazement, just before noon Wednesday, as they viewed the quite odd appearing four room bungalow, supported by a heavy truck, slowly moving from the old Dickie place to a new lodging upon a lot owned by R. Y. Alfred.

But when another and equally comfortable bungalow crept past early Thursday morning in similar fashion, folks felt no surprise world!

hooting and hollering and dust had cleared, Ramseur was ahead 8-7. Pitcher Fisher, formerly a southpaw, but now right handed due to shrapnel piercing his right hand in Normandy, had literally thrown in the glove after pitching a wild soft ball for the tying run. When he sat down disgustedly on the bench, Fisher groaned: "And on that last throw I tried to pitch a drop!"

Cole took Fisher's place on the mound and squeezed through only allowing one run to score from the loaded bases, with two away. The score: 8-7.

The rest of the game was close, with Southern Pines threatening in the last of the seventh, but the eighth and ninth innings were fruitless and disappointing—the game ending 19 for Ramseur and 8 for Southern Pines, as the silent backers of Southern Pines left the ball park in clouds of disgruntled dust.
