CARTHAGE NEWS

By Ruth Harriss Tyson
Congratulations

People in Carthage are quite pleased over the appointment of M. G. Boyette as Democratic nominee for the 13th District Solicitor by the solicitorial committee of the district in Rockingham last week. His name will appear on the November ballot as the Democratic nominee, replacing Solicitor Edwin Gibson of Laurinburg, who died June 12. The announcement came out in the daily papers on Saturday, and Mr. Boyette spent the rest of the day shaking hands. He probably had a sore arm by nightfall for he was continually stopped on the street by the entire contingent of Carthage to offer congratulations. It is the general opinion that he deserved the appointment and that he will fill the office well.

Dr. Felton Erects Office Building

When he returned from overseas, Dr. R. L. Felton was confining suitable offices to rehis private practice which had been interrupted by several years of service as an army doctor. He solved the problem by erecting a brickbuilding of his own on Sunset Drive just across the street from his residence. He expects soon to move into his commodious, well equipped quarters of several rooms on next Monday to be specific. At least, he hopes to have the work completed and equipment installed by that date. Dr. Felton is also on the staff of the Moore County Hospital.

Intensive Bible Study

The week of June 24-28 will be observed by the town's Presbyterian women as a week of intensive Bible study covering the Book of Isaiah. They met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Grier, with Mrs. M. T. Stewart as leader. Tuesday afternoon the meeting was held at the home of Miss May Stuart, with Mrs. Charles Cox as leader. Mrs. L. P. Tyson was the leader on Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon Miss Hilda Blue was leader at the home of Mrs. M. G. Boyette. On Friday afternoon, at 5:00 at the church, Miss Alma Edwards, retired head of the Latin department of Queen's College, will be the leader. A family picnic supper will be served outdoors at 7:30.

Saturday Trading Brisk

The stores and the streets were alive with shoppers all day long last Saturday, for some reason more so than usual. Trading was brisk, and a clerk in one of the grocery stores was heard to remark at the end of the afternoon, "People have been buying all day long like they never expected to get to a grocery store again."

Farm Life High School Not to be Abandoned

Since the move on the part of the State Board of Education to consolidate the smaller high schools with larger ones nearby, there have been rumors that the Sandhills Farm Life High School would be discontinued next year and that the pupils who attend it would be incorporated into the Carthage High School and into other nearby schools in the county. From information we have received from the County Superintendent's office, however, we find that this will not be the case.

The State Board of Education has continued the Farm Life High School for another year. It will have three teachers, two paid by the state, and one by the county. The elementary school will have five teachers. Mr. T. H. Lingerfelt will again serve as principal there next year.

Bible School Commencement

A most successful Daily Vacation Bible School ended a session of two weeks here at the Methodist Church Sunday night. Songs and choruses learned during the school term were given, as well as the memory work, consisting of passages from the Bible learned at school, for which a large number received awards.

Each department gave an attractive exhibition, or stunt. There were seventy-five pupils who received attendance certificates. The school was a union one for the Methodist, Baptist, and Presbyterian Churches. Rev. John Cline of the Methodist Church acted as director with Rev. W. S. Golden and Miss Hilda

Blue as assistant directors. The smallest attendance on any day was 118, the largest, 140.

The intermediate and juniors did a number of projects in handcraft and art including blue print pictures, planned boards, spatterwork, stenciling of luncheon cloths, and wax crayon tapestry.

The most noteworthy project, possibly, was the doll house five feet high built by the beginners, with Mrs. Howard Gardner as superintendent. The doll house was complete with curtains, doll furniture, tea set, and even a little broom. Needless to say, the young pupils busily swept the house every day. This was a part of the unit on the home around which all the work for the two weeks centered.

The children studied a cat family and a squirrel family which they had seen, and made little scrapbooks, called "My Home." On Thursday morning all the younger departments had a most satisfactory ice-cream party. That afternoon the older pupils were taken on a picnic to Aberdeen Lake with a picnic supper following. Mr. Jim Davis lent the truck from his furniture store for the occasion and Mr. Golden drove it. It took the truck and eight cars to get all the children and some of the papas and mamas who came along to the picnic.

The most bountiful picnic supper seen since pre-war days was spread, consisting of an enormous supply of fried chicken, home made cake with luscious icing, and all the different kinds of sandwiches one can imagine, including pineapple, something that went underground during the war years. Imagine having pineapple sandwiches again. There was such a super-abundance that even healthy young appetites, sharpened by a swim could not consume it all. Several boxes of food were distributed where they were needed after the picnic.

Baptists Hear Ministers

Although the Baptist congregation here is without a minister since their pastor, the Rev. Walter Warford, has gone to Wining up the Sunday School and the work of the various societies. They have also had a number of visiting ministers at various times to preach to them. At a special service on last Thursday evening, Dr. Alexander of Beaufort, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Thomasville, N. C., preached. Again on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, Rev. Otis Hagler delivered a message. Music was directed by Mrs. H. J. Hall. The Rev. Mr. Hagler is a recently returned army chap-
