One Full Troop, Part of Another Will Attend National Jamboree From Moore

Leaders Take Training Course At Camp Durant

One full troop of 33 Boy Scouts and a fraction of another troop, from Moore county, will attend the National Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge, Pa., in late June and early July. They will be among 260 Boy Scouts and leaders from the Oconeechee Council participating in the huge national celebration of more than 40,000 from all over the United States.

Seven full troops of 33 boys and three leaders each, plus a small group which will be thrown with another Council, will represent the 12 Oconeechee counties.

The all-Moore troop will have Cecil Stewart, of Aberdeen as scoutmaster, assisted by Wilbur Currie of Pinehurst and Archie P. Farmer of West End.

Arthur Rowe, of Aberdeen, will serve as an assistant scoutmaster for a troop composed of boys from Moore county, Harnett county and Fayetteville. Scoutmaster will be C. B. Tillinghast, with Allen Elliott as the other assistant. Both are from Fayetteville.

Leaders came together from all counties of the Council at Camp Durant April 1 and 2 for training for their part in the Jamboree. Clarence Weldon, of Durham, field executive, was in charge of the training program, assisted by W. Y. Compton, Tom Durham and Norman Suttles, all of the Council staff.

The leaders received their assignments, set up as a troop to use regulation Jamboree equipment, studied methods of packing and unpacking and lived in advance so far as was possible the troop routine they will supervise at Valley Forge.

Flag ceremonies, physical examinations, health regulations and many other phases of the project were discussed.

The leaders will meet with their scouts May 5, 6 and 7 for the first time at the Council Camporee at Camp Durant, where a skeleton troop organization will be set up and plans laid looking toward a successful participation in the

Moore Breeding Cooperative Gets Good Start In Life

The Moore Breeding Cooperative, organized in June, 1949, inseminated 250 cows during its first seven months of operation, from proved sires whose offspring should greatly raise the level of cattle breeding in the county.

Through the Cooperative, service from these great bulls is available to every dairyman, small or large, at a nominal charge. The office is located in the courthouse at Carthage and may be reached by calling the County Farm office phone.

The Moore Cooperative is one of 87 cooperatives and private breeding associations being served by the Southeastern Artificial Breeding association, one of four great organizations under one management. The others are in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana. All together, the four last year provided material for the artificial breeding of 250,698 cows, using approximately 70 high index proved bulls. The record of the Southeastern association, whose headquarters are at Asheville, was boosted last year from 17,139 cows artificially bred, to 44,561.

The Moore County Cooperative is considered to have made an excellent start, according to a release from the Southeastern organization's office at Asheville, giving Moore herd owners a dependable increase in purebred stock at far less than the cost of keeping a bull.

Court Disposes of Nine Cases On Jury Trial Day

Out of eight drunken driving cases docketed for jury trial at recorder's court Tuesday, April 4, three asked for jury trials, and of these, two were acquitted of the drunken driving charge.

James Clyde Cooper, of Asheville, convicted of drunken driving and also of careless and reckless driving, was given a three months' road sentence suspended on payment of $150 and costs, and also lost his driver's license for a year.

James Hardin Allen, of Robbins, Rt. 2, was acquitted of the drunken driving charge but found guilty of failing to stop when ordered to do so. Judgment was 30 days, suspended on payment of $25 and costs—$83.65 in all.

Daniel Laverne McCaskill, of Carthage, Rt. 3, won an acquittal. Joseph Max Pickler, of Pinebluff, only one of the lot to plead guilty, was fined $100 plus costs and lost his driver's license for a year as provided by law, but without any road sentence, suspended or otherwise.

Richard Jerome Almond, Aberdeen, failed to answer when called in court. Judgment was nisi sci fa, with capias issued returnable Tuesday, April 11.

Aubrey Lee Brewer, of Mt. Vernon Springs, and Edward Allen Rowe of Robbins persuaded the court to accept a plea of careless and reckless driving. Each was sentenced to 30 days on the roads, the sentences suspended on payment of $25 and costs.

Nol pros with leave was taken in the case of John Robert McIntosh, as was done also for Billy Franklin Blake who was charged with speeding.
