Photographer's Life Has Pleasures And Perils, Hemmer Tells Kiwanians

Getting the pictures is just the first step in news photography, said John Hemmer, veteran Pinehurst photographer, speaking informally Wednesday before the Sandhills Kiwanis club. Getting them out fast, in quantity and to the papers where they'll be used provides the headaches, calling for hectic speed along with continual screening for news value. The pleasure comes when the pictures you've made break into print all over. As an example Mr. Hemmer showed a spread of his work used in the state papers Tuesday, showing winners in the Pinehurst field trials which are under way this week. For many photographs, he said, the "home town" papers, most responsive to items of local news interest, provide the best publicity media. Only the occasional picture is a "natural" for the big metropolitan dailies and news services, where interest dwindles sharply in the face of mass competition. As for the photograph of a special party or dance, no matter how important it is at home it doesn't rate much anywhere else, as every place has its own parties and dances—and their pictures don't get in either.

These were some of the lessons he had learned in a good many years as official Pinehurst photographer, during which his work has been a big factor in the building up of international fame for the resort. Known as one of the "best in the business," Mr. Hemmer's technical skill along with his news sense have given him a double job, for he is also official photographer for the State News Bureau and since 1950 has been its assistant director. Theoretically, he works half a year for Pinehurst, half a year for the State, though actually no such sharp dividing line is drawn. In addition he operates his private studio at Pinehurst. Coming to Pinehurst in 1927, Mr. Hemmer left there to spend seven years, just before and during World War 2, on the staff of the New York Daily News. The latter part of his talk was devoted to incidents of these perilous years, when, covering military and naval affairs within a range of several states, he would take off at a moment's notice to be flown in a tiny plane for long distances—and they never sent out unless the weather was terrible.

The recounting of several hairbreadth escapes in snowstorms and out over the ocean, including one when the pilot decided to fly around hunting a submarine till the gas almost gave out, showed his hearers that this was no calling for sissies. Mr. Hemmer admitted that sometimes he got pretty scared, though he had philosophically decided that it was "the best way to die." He was introduced by Nelson C. Hyde, Pinehurst Outlook editor, as the club's first speaker of the year. L. B. Creath of Pinehurst presided for the first time since his installation as president last week. Voit Gilmore officiated at the induction of a new member, Dr. J. S. Hiatt, medical director of the N. C. Sanatorium at McCain. The luncheon meeting was held at the Hollywood hotel.

School Teams Trim Alumni In "The Game"

The boys' and girls' varsity teams of Southern Pines High school defeated the Alumni in a twin bill—"The Game"—at the school gymnasium Tuesday night, December 30.

Both games, a holiday tradition of some years' standing, were full of thrills and sharp action. The High School girls defeated the Alumnae girls 60-43. The Varsity boys, however, were hard pressed to defeat the big Alumni team by the close score of 62-58.

The Blue and White lassies were led by Sieger Herr and Dorothy Newton. The Alumnae line-up was sprinkled with many former star players of the school—Betty Jane Worsham, Barbara Guin, Pete Dana, Carol Sue Humphrey, Shirley Stuart, Barbara Page, and others. Betty Jane Worsham led the scoring.

The story was different in the second game, in which the High School boys continued along the unbeaten trail, though they met their toughest match of the season so far in the ex-stars of Southern Pines. The result was not determined until the final minutes. In the superior shooting ability of the varsity lay the vital difference. Gary Mattocks, Bill Baker, Bobby Harrington, Chan Page and others led the way for the Alumni. Harrington and Baker led the scoring with 15 and 13 points respectively, but Gary Mattocks sparked with his fine floor play. Jimmy Townshend led the varsity with 26.

Captains Named For Bloodmobile Visit Jan. 28
Blood donor committee captains for the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Wednesday, January 28, were named at a meeting of community chairmen of the program held Monday night at the Red Cross chapter house. Mrs. Harry Menzel, Don Madigan and Dr. Robert McKenzie serve as captains for Southern Pines, Ralph Kleinspehn for Aberdeen and Mrs. Ira T. Wyche for Pinehurst.

Miss Ingebord Rudd, Red Cross field director, spoke to the group, emphasizing the increased need for blood for Korea and military hospitals, and also to continue and expand the "gamma globulin" polio vaccine tests, in which the Red Cross and National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are cooperating. These tests are being conducted in various widespread areas under auspices of the Foundation, with the Red Cross supplying the blood requirements of one pint per child. The more tests are held, the sooner a conclusion can be reached, with the possibility in sight that a vaccine can be developed to protect all children against the effects of polio.

MEN WOUNDED IN KOREAN WARFARE ARE HONORED AT AFTER CHRISTMAS PARTY

Korean casualties temporarily hospitalized at Fort Bragg had their Christmas extended beyond the one special day by the Christmas Cheer group of the Sandhills American Legion and Auxiliary, who gave an After-Christmas Cheer party in their honor in the recreation hall of the hospital on Sunday night, the 28th. Volunteers from the various Southern Pines church choirs sang a group of familiar carols that were greatly enjoyed by the veterans. Mrs. Paul Barnum read the Christmas story, which was interspersed by the carols and two special solo numbers, "Gesu Bambino," sung by Mrs. Harlow Pearson, and "O Holy Night," by Mrs. Harry Chaffield. Group singing of holiday songs, led by the choruses, followed. Distribution of candies, cakes, drinks, cigars, cigarettes and toilet articles to the boys was carried on night club style throughout the program by a group of girls under the direction of Mrs. John Ostrum and Miss Nancy Wrenn. Contributors had been so generous that there were gifts for all the patients, including those who were not able to be carried to the recreation hall for the celebration. So much did the men appreciate this expression of friendship on the part of the Sandhills organizations that just before the curfew hour when they were to return to their wards, one of the veterans asked to be wheeled to the piano and he and a number of his buddies played and sang several original "Boogie Woogie" numbers which were received with enthusiastic applause by the visiting carolers. The organizations acknowledge generous contributions for the party from Mrs. J. H. Andrews, Haynes Britt, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stevens, Charles Patch, Karl Klabbatz, John Underwood, A. L. Burney, Mrs. Ed Newton, Southern Pines Pharmacy, Sandhill Drug Store, Mack's, Holliday's cafe, the Jewel Box, VFW Club, Harry Lewis, Mrs. Nettie Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, the Legion and Auxiliary membership, and many other anonymous donors, who gave liberally of their means and time in planning the party. Shields Cameron, chairman of the Legion's Christmas Cheer committee, Jerry Healy, commander of the Sandhills Post, and Mrs. Veta Germain, president of the Auxiliary, wish to express their thanks to all who helped make the party possible. All say that if those who contributed could have seen the happy faces of the boys after the party, they would have felt amply rewarded for their contributions.
