By MARY EVELYN de NISSOFF

Golden Anniversary
The Rev. Dr. Thaddeus A. Cheatham, rector emeritus of Village Chapel, will preach the sermon there on Sunday on his 50th wedding anniversary. Dr. and Mrs. Cheatham will be honored later that day at a small party of intimate friends given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Chapman.

Entertain
Among those entertaining before last Thursday's Forum at dinner at the Country Club were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Frizer, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Horrax, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Herzog, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Spelman, Mr. and Mrs. Max von Schlegell, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence von Tacky, and from Southern Pines, Gen. and Mrs. A. V. Arnold, Mrs. Katherine McColl, Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt B. Nettleton, and Mrs. Millard Tompkins. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carter entertained prior to the Forum at a buffet supper at their home for their daughter, Mary Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Forsyth of New York, who have been the house guests of Mrs. H. P. Hotchkiss and the Misses Anne and Carole Hotchkiss, were guests of honor at a cocktail party given on their wedding anniversary at the Hotchkiss' home Friday.

Miss Barbara Rudel was hostess at a dinner party for a number of her young friends Saturday evening at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. C. M. Rudel.

Mrs. F. C. Page will be hostess today (Friday) at a cocktail party at her home honoring Mrs. Davidge Voorhis, who will leave later in the month for a visit in Japan.

Brief Mention
Arriving here Sunday to visit his golfing father, Richard D. Chapman, and Mrs. Chapman, is Jack Chapman, a member of the William College golf team, which will also visit Pinehurst at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Vedder of Worcester, Mass., season guests at the Carolina Hotel, are visiting Mrs. Raymond S. Farr at her cottage for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Markle of Ardmore, Pa., are occupying the former Norwood Johnston home, "Cotton Cottage." With them are their children, Cappy and Margueritta, and Mrs. Ralph McLean and her son, Peter, also of Ardmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Phillips, their two daughters, and Mrs.

Phillips' mother, Mrs. Joseph Becker, all of Bellport, L. I., are occupying the home belonging to Mrs. Hargrove Vail, for the month of April.

Kennedy & Company announces the sale of the James Ferebee house on McCaskill Road to Mr. and Mrs. Rodney S. Jarvis of Fairfield, Conn., who have been occupying the DeBosque cottage, Nandina.

Here visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Todd are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Todd, Jr., of Raleigh; another son, Richard McA. Todd and Farry Bell, Chapel Hill; and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Todd, II, and children Billy and Judith, of Rye, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Quigley of New York City arrived Tuesday to occupy their home here for several weeks. Their daughter, Martha, will join them for Easter.

Mrs. James Howe has as her house guests this week Mrs. Clarence J. Ward and Mrs. G. Pascal Swift and three children, of Williamsville, N. Y.

Chester I. Williams and son, Monroe, are arriving home tomorrow (Saturday) from a visit to Mrs. Chester M. Williams at Palm Beach, Fla.

Dr. Cameron To Head Conference

Dr. Edward A. Cameron, son of Mrs. Estelle Cameron of Manly, will be director of a Conference on Collegiate Mathematics to be held at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, July 15 to August 6.

A professor of mathematics at the University, Dr. Cameron is a 1928 graduate of UNC. As a student he was president of Phi Beta Kappa and prophet of the senior class. In 1937, he was married to Miss Mary Shore, a 1934 graduate of the University. They have a daughter, Molly, now in high school.

From 80 to 100 college teachers of mathematics are expected to attend next summer's conference. The program will be financed by a $15,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The conference is being held because of the critical shortage of scientific personnel in the nation's life, including trained mathematicians.

Sandhills Entries To Vie For Trophy In Carolina Cup At Camden Saturday

W. Carl Scoggin Reappointed To Welfare Board

W. Carl Scoggin of Robbins, N. C. has accepted re-appointment as a member of Moore county board of public welfare to take office on April 1, as the appointee of the State Board of Public Welfare. Announcement of this selection was confirmed this week by H. G. Poole of Carthage, chairman.

The county welfare board, composed of three persons from the county, has responsibility under State law for the administration of the public welfare program in the county in accordance with uniform State-Wide policies. This board determines who is eligible for public assistance and in what amount. The welfare board and the board of county commissioners determine annually in joint session the amount of county money available for public welfare, including the welfare department's administrative and assistance budgets.

Mr. Scoggin is one of the 100 persons in North Carolina, one in each county, who have been named this year as the State Board appointee of their respective county welfare boards for a three-year term. Only two consecutive terms may be served on this board though a person may be eligible for re-appointment after another person has served at least one intervening term. A second year, the county commissioners designate one member on each county welfare board, who may be a commissioner. A third year, the third member of the welfare board is agreed upon by the other two continuing members of the welfare board.

Mr. Scoggin is personnel manager of the Robbins division of Robbins Mills (N. C.), Inc. He has been chairman of the Moore County Tuberculosis Association, and is an active member of the Methodist Church and Lions Club. He is a sponsor of the Crippled Children's program, and an active worker in all recreational and civic organizations to promote better welfare for his community and county as a whole.

"W. Carl Scoggin has rendered excellent service on the Moore County Welfare Board," H. G. Poole said. "This unselfish and effective service in the interest of good welfare administration and the desire to help people help themselves is greatly appreciated and we are happy to have him continue his work with us for another term." The other continuing member of our county welfare board is J. B. Edwards of Aberdeen. The board meets every fourth Tuesday

A record-breaking number of 13 entries have been received for Saturday afternoon's 20th running of the Carolina Cup at Camden, S. C. To be run over a grueling three mile timber course, the classic will highlight a well-balanced program of seven races, starting at 2 p. m. There will be a total prize distribution of $4,800.

The field of a baker's dozen represents interests from eight states in this country and one from Canada, with Golden Loch II and Rustling Oaks vying for early favoritism. The former, owned by Miss E. R. Sears, Prides Crossing, Mass., captured the season's opening timber race at Southern Pines, recently, ridden by Carlyle Cameron of Southern Pines who will again be aboard at Camden. Rustling Oaks, owned and trained by Wm. G. Jones, Charlottesville, Va., will be attempting a double, having won the "Cup" last year in an easy fashion.

Other entries include: Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's Friar's Maid, Ste. Marguerite, P. Q., Canada, and Southern Pines; Mrs. M. G. Walsh's entry of Erin's Cottage and Repose, Southern Pines, and Charles W. Stitzer's Warrior Gay. The latter, to be ridden by his owner, also of Southern Pines, finished second to Golden Loch II in the recent Sandhills Cup.

Six Other Races
Aside from the timber classic, six other well-filled races will be contested over the brush, hurdle and turf courses. Inaugurated in 1930, the Carolina Cup Races have grown in stature through the years to rate as one of the mid-south's major sports attractions. Should fair weather prevail, it is expected that the annual day of steeplechase racing will draw a record crowd of 30,000.

Both Golden Loch II and Warrior Gay are trained by M. G. (Mickey) Walsh of Southern Pines, last year's leading steeplechase trainer.

A number of Sandhills residents plan to go to Camden for the race.

With Mrs. Walter B. Cole, county superintendent of public welfare, to transact official business, and more frequently when necessary. The board welcomes suggestions from any citizen regarding its work.
