Carthage Dinner Opens Campaign Of Cancer Group

The Moore County campaign of the American Cancer Society opened Thursday night of last week with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McGraw of Carthage. David Ginsburg of Carthage, county campaign chairman, presided, assisted by Mrs. McGraw who is commander of the Moore County unit of the Society.

Attending the meeting and telling of the work done in the state for the detection and treatment of cancer were Mrs. George E. Marshall of Mount Airy, commander of the North Carolina division of the Society, and Mrs. William Alexander of hCapel Hill, field representative.

Dr. J. W. Willcox, Moore County health officer and chairman of the Moore County unit board, was present, with about 40 campaign workers and interested guests from various areas of the county.

A buffet dinner was prepared and served by the volunteer workers of Carthage, under the supervision of Mrs. June Harrington, secretary of the Moore County unit.

On Friday of last week, volunteer workers met at the home of Mrs. McGraw. After a covered dish luncheon, they spent the afternoon making surgical dressings for the N. C. Cancer Institute at Lumberton.

Biologist Says More Fish Should Be Taken From Town Water Works Lake

New Ordinance Sets Convenient Annual Fishing Permit Fee

More fish ought to be caught in the Southern Pines Water Works Lake.

That's not the opinion of a hopeful angler but of a biologist from the State Department of Conservation and Development who recently made an analysis of the lake, at the request of town officials, to help the town find out how the lake should best be used for fishing purposes.

Fishing in the lake, a check with the State Board of health revealed, is "in complete conformity" with State health regulations.

Checking with the biologist and the board of health were only two of several steps taken by City Manager Tom E. Cunningham, at the request of the council, in a study of the fishing situation at the lake and how fishing regulations might be set up to benefit both anglers and the town.

Out of this study grew an ordinance that was presented to the town council for discussion at the council's meeting Tuesday night.

Perhaps the most important provision of the new ordinance as it would affect the public is elimination of the 50 cents per day boat rental charge, which required a trip to town hall each day a fisherman wanted to use the lake. In its place will be a one-time annual permit fee of $5 for residents of the town and $10 for non-residents. A one-time permit for a non-resident visitor who is accompanied by some person holding an annual permit, can be obtained for $2.

The ordinance, which is slated for adoption at the council's regular "action" meeting tonight (Friday), makes the supervisor of water purification the custodian of the lake and requires all fishing parties to check in at the water works on their way to the lake.

Permits are required for all persons above 12 years of age. Youngsters 12 and under do not need permits and must be accompanied by their parents. Since fishing is permitted only from boats, which are owned or controlled by the town, and since only persons 18 years of age or older may be given permission to use a boat, it means that anglers up to 18 years must be accompanied by an adult and those over 12 will have to pay the permit fee.

At Tuesday night's council meeting, City Manager Cunningham reported that the new ordinance had met with approval from all fishermen with whom he had discussed it. Members of the council expressed approval and noted that the town has received unfavorable criticism because it would not allow non-residents to fish in the lake.

Detailed safety and sanitary regulations are outlined in the ordinance which will be published in full in The Pilot next week, after its adoption.

Storage Helps Wheat Farmers

Tar Heel wheat farmers stand to lose up to 75 cents per bushel if they are forced to sell their wheat during the height of the harvest, says Walter I. Fields, secretary of the Moore County ASC committee. If, however, they have approved storage on the farm—or if there is commercial storage available—the CCC price-support program will enable them to place it under CCC loan at a support rate, Fields said.

The 1954 national crop has been predicted to be 300 to 500 million bushels larger than last year's. Details on loans for construction of farm storage, and an amortization of costs over a five-year period, can be obtained from the ASC office at Carthage.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in North Carolina in 1953 totaled $884,070,000, or 6 per cent below those of a year earlier.

THEATRES CAROLINA

On April 11, 1952, it was our privilege to present that glorious Technicolor Musical production, "With A Song In My Heart," which was the love story of Jane Froman, in which Susan Hayward played the role of Miss Froman with Jane's glorious voice, at the Pinehurst theatre. In support was David Wayne, Roy Calhoun, Thelma Ritter and Una Merkel and it was unquestionably one of the finest pictures of the entire 1952 year.

Circumstances over which we had no control, denied us the pleasure of presenting it to our Southern Pines patrons and now in a search for a very suitable and appropriate screen entertainment, for this particular week, we are bringing it back to the Carolina Theatre, Southern Pines for Friday and Saturday, April 16-17 at 8:15 p. m. with a Saturday matinee at 3.

The attraction at the Carolina Theatre for Easter Week, April 18 to April 24 at 8:15 p. m., with matinees Sunday, Tuesday and Saturday, at 3 p. m., is the Technicolor special production, "Rhapsody," starring Elizabeth Taylor, Vittorio Gassman, a new screen idol and John Ericson, of the New York Stage.

"Rhapsody" is a romance in big screen stature that is as inspiring as its setting—Paris, Zurich, The Riviera—and told against the love music of the world's immortals. It is fitting that Technicolor has been used to film its glories because Elizabeth Taylor has never been more alluring as the wealthy girl, whose selfish need of attention causes the man she loves to desert her and almost destroys another musical student who gives up his career for her.

This superb attraction ranks with the great motion pictures that have been inter-woven with the brilliant music of the masters, including Sarasate to Debussy, and Saint-Saens, but those coming in for full attention are Tschai-kowsky's Concerto in D major for violin and orchestra and Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2 in C minor. To lovers of good music this film offers a treat.
