

George W. Case Dies Wednesday In Tennessee

George W. Case, 81, former prominent Southern Pines resident, died Wednesday morning at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruggles, at Kingsport, Tenn.

Funeral services were conducted at the Broad Street Methodist Church there Thursday afternoon. Burial was at Kingsport.

Mr. Case and his wife, who died about six months ago, came to Southern Pines from Connecticut in the late 1920's. They moved to Kingsport, Tenn., about two years ago, to make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Ruggles. A son, Wallace Case, the only other immediate survivor, also lives in Kingsport. In poor health when he left Southern Pines, Mr. Case succumbed after a long illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Case bought "The Gertrude" apartments soon after they moved to Southern Pines, later buying a house on N. Ashe St., which was made into an apartment building and where the family also lived. The two local structures remained the property of Mr. Case until his death.

Active in the civic and religious life of the community, Mr. and Mrs. Case were members of the Church of Wide Fellowship during their residence here. They gave the memorial window which is at the south end of the church. Mr. Case served on the town board of commissioners in the early 1930's.

Mr. Ruggles, also a former resident of Southern Pines, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ruggles and a brother of John Ruggles, of this community.

LIONS HELP THE BLIND—Fifteen of the 23 members of the Southern Pines Lions Club dramatize efforts of the club and Lions Clubs everywhere to aid the blind by posing with blindfolds over their eyes. Several of the members also are leaning on crutches made available by the club to all who need them at Moore

County and St. Joseph of the Pines Hospitals or through physicians. Starting September 7 and running through Saturday, September 11, Southern Pines Lions will sell brooms made by blind workers, with proceeds going to further work for the blind in this area.
