Girls At Watts

For Nurse Course

Three Sandhills girls are among 72 first-year student nurses who started a three-year course of study at Watts Hospital School of Nursing at Durham Monday.
Listed by the hospital among the members of the class of 1957 are Fay Matthews and Marie Wicker of Aberdeen and Jeanette Van Boskerck of Pinebluff. Miss Wicker is one of the scholarship winners in the Sandhills Veterans Association nurse training program.
The new students comprise the largest class ever admitted in the 59-year history of Watts Hospital whose school of nursing is second oldest in the state.
Classes were to begin Thursday, after registration on Monday and two days of orientation to acquaint students with the hospital campus, the community and each other.
Other girls in the class from this area of the state are Peggy Jane McLendon and Zeldia Tillman, of Sanford, and Peggy Blair and Alice Strickland, of Dunn.
