

Rotarians Tell What They Know About Each Other — But It's Not So Much

Members of the Southern Pines Rotary Club told what they knew about each other at their regular luncheon meeting in the Country Club last Friday—and it turned out they didn't know as much as they thought they did.

The unique program was initiated by June Phillips, at the request of Garland Pierce, program chairman for the month. The Rotarians drew cards on which names of members of the club had been written. The Rev. C. V. Covell was the only person who drew his own name.

Each man was allowed from two to three minutes to tell all he knew about the man whose name he had drawn. When extra time remained, the person speaking was assigned the task of telling about himself.

The novel contest proved, report club members, that they didn't know very much, in most cases, about their fellow Rotarians. When it came the turn of the Rev. Mr. Covell to talk about himself, he concentrated on memories of his childhood at Montclair, N. J., a portion of his life that others might not be expected to know.

The club discussed the athletic field lights project to which each Rotarian has contributed by signing a personal note for $60, amounting to $1500 in all. The club will sell tickets to the Southern Pines-Robbins "Homecoming" high school football game on October 8, using these funds to pay off their loans for the lights campaign.

Policy Set For Future Operation Of Art Gallery

Policy for operation of the Southern Pines Library Art Gallery during the fall, winter and spring was outlined this week by Mrs. Jane Carter, local artist who has been in charge of exhibits there during the past year.

Continuing past policy, the committee in charge hopes to show both modern and academic work by local and state artists. Exhibits will be non-commercial. Educational explanations of the work on view will be more fully stressed.

A reception, with artists from throughout the state attending, will be held at the opening of the gallery, for which a date has not yet been set. Several artists will be invited to speak.

The committee hopes that most shows will last longer than the two weeks customary during the past year. Another change will be opening of the gallery from 2 to 6 p. m. each Sunday.

Local artists desiring to show new work are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Carter immediately.

Many To Benefit By New SS Laws

Amendments to the Social Security Act designed to benefit millions of Americans were signed into law by President Eisenhower September 1, points out E. M. Mote, representative from the Charlotte Social Security office who visits the Southern Pines town hall the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, from 10 a. m. to noon or later.

These amendments provide for higher benefit payments, extension of coverage which now includes almost everyone, a more liberal retirement test, and a method of preserving the status of a person while disabled.

People now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments will have their monthly checks increased automatically beginning with the check to be mailed early in October. The minimum payment of $25 monthly to a retired worker has been raised to $30, the old maximum of $85 has gone up to $98.50. The minimum for a single survivor will also be $30. The least amount for a family group will now be $45, the most $200. All people filing in the future will receive higher payments than they would have under the old law.

Coverage is extended for the first time to the self-employed farm operator, certified public accountants, ministers, and many professions previously excluded. Still specifically excluded are physicians, dentists and lawyers.
