State Is Facing Fiscal Problems, Hodges Tells Club

Kiwanians Host To Lieutenant Governor At Luncheon Meeting

Fiscal problems in North Carolina should be the concern of every citizen, said Lt. Gov. Luther S. Hodges, speaking Wednesday before the Sandhills Kiwanis Club.

He revealed the fact that, at the end of the current fiscal year, the State will find itself without a surplus for the first time in many years. The 1955 General Assembly will face the problem of continuing a great program of progress with a budget $50 million too small.

This condition has resulted, Hodges said, from the fact that during the past half century North Carolina has had to come up from the very bottom, and its citizens have not been content with basic services only, but eagerly desired the things of the mind and spirit as well. The State has been like the poet who said, "If I have two loaves, I will sell one and buy white hyacinths for my soul."

At the turn of the century, the lieutenant governor said, North Carolina had a population of two million, only 2,000 boys and girls in public high schools, nine public libraries. Only $200,000 per year was spent on education. The average Tar Heel's annual income was $216 per year.

Now except for three small-budget states, "North Carolina spends more of each dollar it takes in on education and health than any other in the land."

The speaker was presented by Voit Gilmore, program chairman, at the luncheon meeting, held at the Southern Pines Country Club.

H. B. Lynch Buys Big Goolsby Farm

H. B. Lynch of Vass has bought the large Goolsby farm of 317 acres, with a 19.9 acres tobacco allotment.

The property, located on the Union Church road, also includes a general store which it is understood Mr. Lynch will operate. One of the first extensive irrigation systems in Moore County was installed on this farm, which has four lakes.

The property was owned by A. A. Goolsby of Ocala, Fla., who has a general farm there, with 24 acres of tobacco. The owner's father, A. J. Goolsby, operated the farm during the past season.

Ernie Boros of Mid-Pines carded a 79.

THEATRES CAROLINA

Held over through this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28-29-30, at 8:15 p. m., with a Saturday matinee at 3, at the Carolina Theatre, is Producer-Director Hitchcock's biggest success in recent years, "Rear Window," which is a knockout of a suspenseful comedy-drama played by two of the industry's finest, James Stewart and Grace Kelly, and a wonderful supporting cast headed by Wendell Corey and Thelma Ritter. They and the master are in fine form.

In this brilliantly conceived spine-tingler, Hitchcock loses no whit of his hard-earned, amply merited standing as the screen's reigning master of suspense—indeed, many critics and customers will vote it the producer-director's all-time best, or spittin' distance close thereto.

David O. Selznick's production of "Gone With The Wind," probably the greatest motion picture ever produced, is coming to the Carolina Theatre through the entire week of Oct. 31, in wide screen. The magnificent Technicolor film version, starring Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland, is even more spectacular in its new wide screen presentation.

Such spellbinding scenes as Sherman's march to the sea and the resulting panic-stricken flight of the populace from Atlanta, the siege of Atlanta and the burning of the munitions warehouses, the glittering ball at Tara and the plantation sequences, the marching armies and all the pageantry of the Civil War era are given a panoramic effect on the enlarged screen that is literally breathtaking.

On account of the extreme length (3 hours and 40 minutes) of the picture, the matinees will start at 2 p. m., instead of 3, and the night show at 7:30 p. m., in-

The wives see through the plan immediately and, ambitious to have furs and the finer things of life, start jockeying their men into position.
