Women's Groups Hold Planning Sessions

Arranging meeting places for ensuing meetings and planning programs for the church year took up much of the time of the October meetings of the four Circles of the Women's Society of the Church of Wide Fellowship. The discussions continued informally as refreshments were enjoyed.

The Friendship Circle met in the church parlor, with Mrs. Paul Ward leading the devotions. One new member, Mrs. Foss, was enrolled.

Methodist Women's First Sale Is Pleasing Success

Food prepared by the Methodist women for their bake sale Saturday went like the proverbial "hot cakes." Advance publicity stated that the sale would last from 8:30 until 2:30, but by 10 a. m. everything—cakes, pies, cookies—had been sold, adding $40 to the treasury. Some customers bought more than their current needs, to put in freezers.

Speaking for the Woman's Society of Christian Service, of which she is president, Mrs. J. S. Hiatt expressed her appreciation of the generous patronage given by the public to their first money-making venture. Proceeds are to be used to help furnish the parsonage.

The women plan to continue their sales and announcement of dates will be made. They would appreciate advance orders, Mrs. Hiatt stated.

Now a new year is being started with enthusiasm by the Civic Club under the leadership of the new president, Miss Louise Haynes.

Mothers of Seniors Hold First Club Meeting of Year

Mrs. Emory Smith, Jr., president of the Senior Class Mothers Club, called the group together for its first meeting of the year Thursday of last week, at the home of Mrs. S. G. Whiting. Mrs. Isaac Woodell acted as secretary in the place of Mrs. Roy Newton, who was absent, and Mrs. Harry Menzel, treasurer, received dues and made her report.

Activities for the senior class of Southern Pines High School were discussed and will be carried out, with the approval of the class.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joseph Haney and Mrs. Jack Ramsey.

This club, which had not previously reported its activities, is the first of its kind in the Sandhills, so far as The Pilot knows.

Inquiring into its history, it was learned that prior to last spring, small groups of mothers sponsored special events for the then junior class. One of the group conceived the idea of calling the mothers of all the juniors together to plan and finance the class breakfast. This was done and so satisfactorily did it work out that the mothers decided to organize a club, to meet at the call of the president, through their children's senior year.

With the whole group working together, they feel they will be able to guide and aid the young people in their plans and serve as chaperones for their parties, without working a hardship on anyone, a club spokesman explained.

When asked about the young people's reaction to the club, the reply was "Wonderful! Now they can make plans and feel that their parents will back them."

Miss Mary Scott Newton was a patient at Moore County Hospital from Thursday of last week until Wednesday morning. She is now feeling much better.

Miss Mary Carey Chamberlain of Des Moines, Iowa, was maid of honor, and Miss Mary Holly Webb of Harrisburg, Pa., was bridesmaid.

Jack Futrell of Ahoskie attended Mr. Kivette as best man. Ushers were Carey Vennema of Ridgewood, N. J., and James Council of Fullerton, Calif.

A reception was held at the Faculty Lounge of Union Theological Seminary at 80 Claremont Avenue, New York City.

Miss Kivette is a graduate of Barnard College, and of Columbia University Graduate School of English, New York City. Mr. Kivette, a veteran of World War 2, is a graduate of Wake Forest College, Wake Forest.

House: Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. H. W. Allen, Miss Norma Shiring, Ways and Means: Mrs. Margaret Douglas, Mrs. Gordon Clark, Mrs. Fay Horton, Mrs. James Besley, Mrs. D. L. Joscelyn, Mrs. Donald Case.

Membership: Mrs. A. R. McDaniel, Mrs. Thomas Hobson, Mrs. Harry Pethick.

Hospitality: Mrs. Wade Stevick, Mrs. Edward Schneider, Mrs. Ernest Morell.

Town Government: Mrs. Charles Covell and Mrs. Norris Hodgkins, co-chairmen.

E. Cox with her assistants, Mrs. Willard Sterrett and Mrs. Frank Hale; Arts and Crafts, Mrs. John E. Cline.

The program and publicity will be taken care of this year by the Board. Each group will plan its own activity and be responsible for its publicity.

No. these are not real Colonial Dames—just some of the young women who will be serving at a Colonial Dinner and Carnival-Bazaar to be held in the Manly Recreation Building on Wednesday, November 17. Seated around the flax spinning wheel, from left to right, are: Mrs. Louis Honeycutt, Miss Mary Scott Newton, Mrs. Herbert Wilson, and Mrs. Eveleth Richardson; standing, same order, Mrs. Frank Wilson and Mrs. Leroy Monroe. Background is a prize-winning quilt made before the Civil War, a copy of which is to be the grand prize in a "quilt-walk" at the bazaar. Quilt and spinning wheel, about which more is told in the accompanying article, are owned by Mrs. John Moore Goldsmith, general chairman of the event. (Photo by Humphrey)

MANLY GROUPS PLAN COLONIAL DINNER AND BAZAAR TO FINANCE CHURCH PEWS

There has been much activity around the Presbyterian Church in the neighboring village of Manly during recent months, as is evidenced by the new recreation building and the remodeled and redecorated church building. Now the two organizations that have been especially active—Women of the Church and Men of the Church—are joining hands to stage a big affair on the evening of Wednesday, November 17, which they hope will bring in the $1,000 needed to pay for the new pews for the church—the final phase of the improvement program on which they have been working. It has been named a Colonial Dinner and Carnival-Bazaar.

Mrs. John Moore Goldsmith is general chairman, with Mrs. Louis Honeycutt as her assistant, and Eveleth Richardson of the men's group has been designated purchasing agent for the dinner which the women in the photograph are to plan and serve and the men to prepare. The Manly churchmen prepared and served a dinner for the women of the church a few weeks ago, winning much praise, so they are being entrusted with this important phase of the endeavor.

Serving is scheduled to begin at 5:30 and continue until 8 p. m., with young women in colonial costumes watching out for the needs of patrons.

At 8 p. m., a "quilt-walk" will be held, with Mrs. Goldsmith in charge. The grand prize will be a tulip quilt made by women of the church. It will be a copy of the quilt shown in the accompanying photograph, which was made by Mrs. Goldsmith's great-grandmother, Mrs. Effie Johnson, prior to the Civil War. During the war the quilt lay buried in the back yard of the Johnson home on the Chicken Road between Fayetteville and Fort Bragg and was thus saved from destruction. It has won prizes at eight N. C. State Fairs. The flax spinning wheel is also a relic that was brought out of the Fort Bragg territory.

The carnival feature will include games of skill and various forms of entertainment, and the bazaar will offer items in wide variety suitable for gifts for the coming holiday season.

Mrs. Goldsmith has named a number of committee chairmen including the following: Toy booth, Mrs. Dan West; food booth, Mrs. G. L. Culler; aprons, Mrs. Alton Monroe; white elephants, Mrs. W. H. Hicks; fancy work, Mrs. Woodrow Boroughs; sewing, Mrs. J. B. Cameron; cake-walk, Miss Mary Scott Newton.

Dave Castro will supervise the preparation of the dinner and men will man the various carnival booths.
