Dr. Cameron Visits Mother; His Daughter Wins Recognition

Dr. E. A. Cameron, mathematics professor at the University of North Carolina and chairman of its committee on Provision for Superior Students, spent Saturday here with his mother, Mrs. Estelle Cameron. Dr. and Mrs. Cameron and their daughter, Molly, plan to go to Massachusetts next week to see Wellesley College, which Molly plans to enter this fall.

Molly, who is the only child of the Camerons, was graduated from the high school in Chapel Hill this spring. She has been awarded a National Merit Scholarship for her scholastic achievement. In a recent write-up in the Chapel Hill Weekly which appeared with a photo of the family, the cutlines stated that Molly is following in the footsteps of her father, who made the highest scholastic average in his class and was president of Phi Beta Kappa when a student at the University.

Dr. Cameron has been teaching in the summer school at the University. During the winter term he is math instructor for the Superior Students group.
