Roseland Club
Of much interest and enjoyment to the members of the Roseland Club was the auction sale which was held at our meeting. Each of the members brought something to sell. There were aprons, eggs, butter, canned goods and other things from which to choose. Each one was sold and the proceeds were sent to the State building at Raleigh. The sale went off so well that another one is planned for the fall. Another thing of interest is the plan being made for a demonstration on willow basket weaving by Mrs. H. A. Clayton of our club, to be held in the spring.—By Mrs. Clayton Kirk, publicity chairman of Roseland Club.

Eastwood Club
All members of the Eastwood Home Demonstration Club are busy canning, freezing and making jelly and jams.

We are especially proud of the work two of our young club members did in painting furniture for the nursery in the Culdee Sunday School. Mrs. Tom Young and Mrs. Edward Smith painted the following pieces of furniture: two baby cribs, one play pen, two tables and a stool.

The paint job is done well and looks like the work of a professional. Club women are always ready and willing to help out in anything that is for the betterment of the home, church or community.—By Mrs. Sam Boggs, publicity chairman Eastwood Club.

Westmoore Club
The Westmoore Club met with Mrs. W. W. Brewer as hostess for the July meeting. We enjoyed having the visitors who came to the meeting. One visitor, a guest of Mrs. Stutts, was from South Carolina.

Miss McDonald held a very interesting discussion on picture framing. The most important things to remember when purchasing a picture is, she said, deciding what kind of a picture you want for the room in which you will place it, and then make sure to select a frame that will bring out the best light and color of the picture. A poor selection of a frame will ruin even the loveliest picture.

After the meeting adjourned vacations were discussed. One member said she had a very nice trip to Manteo to see the Lost Colony. Another visited Blowing Rock and other parts of the mountains. Some spent their vacation at the beach.

We will meet at Mrs. Kenny Brewer's for a picnic in August.—By Mrs. Wade Hare, publicity

Bethlehem
Bethlehem and Mt. Holly Clubs met in June with Mrs. Tracy Seawell with almost 100 per cent present. The lesson, "Take a Look at Yourself," was given by Miss McDonald in a most inspiring way.

In the early spring the Bethlehem women were very much occupied with sewing. Weddings accounted for much of the needle flying. Now the needles are put aside and picked fingers are exchanged for blistered palms as the hoe became the tool of the day. Life on the farm is certainly not the same old thing from day to day but we agree that "Variety is the spice of life."—By Mrs. Earl Dowd, Publicity Chairman Bethlehem Club.
