Stork Brings Double Loads To St. Joseph's

The stork brought double loads Wednesday to St. Joseph of the Pines Hospital—two sets of twins in one day, for the first time in the hospital's history.

A little boy and girl arrived at 8:48 a.m. and 9:26 a.m., respectively for Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Warren of Southern Pines. The boy weighed four pounds three ounces, the girl five pounds. They were slightly premature and the little girl was placed under oxygen but at last report was getting along fine.

At 11:37 and 11:45 that evening, Mrs. John Ganziano of Southern Pines became the mother of bouncing boys weighing seven pounds two ounces, and six pounds ten ounces.

Just to round off the day, a boy was born to Mrs. William Lea of West End at 11:25 p.m. Weight, eight pounds, six and one-half ounces. All parents reported doing splendidly.

INS and OUTS

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson returned Monday from a wedding trip to Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Fort Lauderdale, Daytona Beach and Silver Springs, Fla. They are now occupying a Jefferson Inn apartment. Mrs. Ferguson is the former Georgia Williams of Niagara.

Mrs. David Gillis and David, Jr., of Mount Olive spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Richardson and on Sunday attended the funeral of Mrs. Emma Lloyd of Star Route, Carthage, at Union Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Lloyd was an aunt of Mr. Gillis Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Honeycutt and daughter Janie went to Asheboro Saturday night, where they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron. Mrs. J. Bruce Cameron of Manly went with them, planning to visit in the Cameron home until Tuesday before leaving for a visit of several weeks to relatives in Lawrence, Ind., and Sheldon, Wis. Little Kay Honeycutt accompanied her parents home after a week's visit, bringing her cousin, Johnny Cameron, home with her, and Janie remained in Asheboro for a week.

Mrs. Ola M. Hall, who has been making her home with her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Junkin, since shortly after the death of her husband a few months ago, is spending a vacation in her former home town of Roanoke, Va.

Mrs. A. C. Dawson, Sr., of Zebulon has been a guest in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dawson, 355 East Connecticut Avenue, since Wednesday night of last week. On Saturday she will go to Goldsboro for a visit to her son Robert and family.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. VanderVoort vacationed last week at Patricia Inn, Myrtle Beach, S. C. During their absence their little daughters, Glory and Kathy, had a wonderful time visiting their grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Medlin, in Aberdeen.

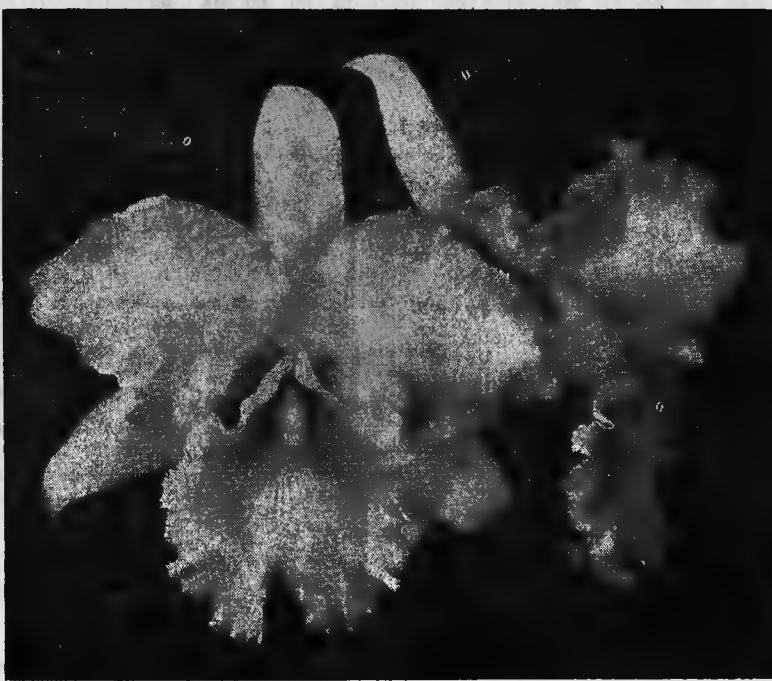

Mr. and Mrs. James Besley have received news from their daughter Joan that her husband, Airman 2c Roy C. Bowden, now stationed at West Palm Beach, Fla., is to be transferred to the Azores in October. Airman and Mrs. Bowden plan a month's visit to their families before he leaves, and she expects to join him at his new base, later.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul P. Parker and children, Johnny, Tommy and Carol Sue, of Wadsworth, Ohio, spent several days last week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Junkin of 795 North May Street. The Parkers and Junkins were next door neighbors in Raleigh before Mr. and Mrs. Junkin and family moved to Southern Pines three years ago.

E. Morell is here this week from Peacedale, R. I., where he and Mrs. Morell spend the summers. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Harrison and son, John C. Harrison, of Waldwick, N. J., left Saturday after a two weeks' visit to Mr. and Mrs. Frank de Costa. Mrs. Harrison is Mr. de Costa's sister.

Arriving last Sunday for a week's visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Causey, 710 South Ridge Street, were Mrs. Ada K. Weaver and Mrs. J. D. Frink, mother and sister of Mrs. Causey, of Columbia, S. C. Joining the family group for the day Wednesday were Mrs. Causey's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver, Elizabeth and Peggy, of Chapel Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Guill and children, Bill and Mary, of Halifax, Va., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Huntley, Jr., 475 East Massachusetts Avenue, from Fri-

ORCHIDS—The public felt like saying "Orchids to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bridges" for the hospitality they extended in holding open house for two successive weekends at Carolina Orchids, Inc., on which occasions around 600 visitors called—200 the first weekend and 400 last weekend. But inasmuch as the Bridges have orchids by the thousand, perhaps a simple "thank you" from the public would be more fitting. Above is a sample of the exquisite flowers that were seen on the open house occasions at the Carolina Orchids greenhouses, one of the most famous in the South.

VISITORS FROM FIFTEEN STATES FLOCK TO OPEN HOUSE AT CAROLINA ORCHIDS

"Open House" at Carolina Orchids, Inc., last weekend drew 400 visitors who without doubt will carry throughout the country the story of the estimated 1,000 orchids of 100 or more varieties which they saw and the educational display depicting their growth from seedpod to beautiful blossom.

Included in the 400 visitors registered were people from 15 states: Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Texas, Florida, Arizona, Colorado, and California. Some of these from far-away places were visiting in this section, others were tourists who chanced to hear of the open house event.

Mrs. Karl Bridges, the official hostess, kept busy greeting visitors and making them feel welcome. Mrs. Wayland Blue was in charge of the register, and Mrs. Emery Smith, Jr., directed guests to the greenhouses.

Mr. Bridges and Wayland Blue answered questions regarding the growing of orchids, and Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of Chapel Hill discussed corsage designing with those interested.

Serving as guides to conduct groups through the greenhouses were: sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bridges, Sandra, Diana, Eddie and Steve, also Mrs. Louise Spence, and Emery Smith III.

This was the second of a series of open houses to which the public was invited by Mr. and Mrs. Bridges, the owners. The plant includes about 15 greenhouses, stocked with some 60 to 75 thousand orchids in varying stages of growth.

Scottish Clans of State Gathering On Grandfather Mountain August 19

The Scottish clans are gathering on North Carolina's Grandfather Mountain August 19, a day when McRae Meadow above the resort of Linville will resemble a scene from "Brigadoon" as kilted dancers perform to the music of bagpipes.

The sword dance, Scottish reels, and—appropriately in this mountain setting—the highland fling will be performed. Pipers will compete for musical honors as teams and individuals. Contests will include the traditional Scottish sport of "tossing the caper," weight lifting, hammer throwing, broad jumping, and cross country running at this first annual Grandfather Mountain Highland Games and Scottish Clans Gathering. Booths displaying choice mountain produce, plaids, "crook-eddy" walking canes, tiles decorated with thistles, and other items with a Scotch motif will add a country fair atmosphere.

Everybody's invited to the day's program which begins with a religious service and music by a Scottish choir at 11 a.m.

Scottish Highlanders played a prominent role in North Carolina history, particularly in Moore

County, and made the state the home of the "earliest, largest and most numerous settlements of Highlanders in America" between 1729 and the Revolutionary War. Their descendants and those of Scotch settlers who came to other states will be at Grandfather Mountain August 19.

The Highlanders, only large group of settlers who arrived in North Carolina direct from their native land, came first to the seacoast of Wilmington on the Southeastern Coast of the Cape Fear Valley to the Fayetteville (formerly Campbelltown) area. Later, the Cape Fear Valley families and other North Carolinians of Scotch descent found in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Western North Carolina a terrain similar to that of their forbears had known in Scotland.

It was in the 1880's that the McRae family of Wilmington established the resort of Linville and acquired ownership of rugged 5,964-foot-high Grandfather Mountain. Linville has added vacationists from many states to its original summer colony of McRaes' neighbors and kinsmen from the Cape Fear region. One of his chief attractions is an 18-hole golf course designed by the famous Scotch golf course architect Donald Ross.

St. Andrews Societies of the Southeast, Burns clubs and the clans Donald, McLeod, Stewart and Douglas are cooperating with plans for the Grandfather Mountain event. The committee on arrangements includes Hugh McRae Morton, owner of Grandfather Mountain; Donald MacDonald, of Charlotte, commissioner of the Clan Donald in the Carolinas; Angus MacKinnon MacBride of the Isle of Mull, Scotland; and Mrs. Julian Morton (Agnes McRae) of Wilmington and Linville.

Among the larger groups planning to attend are the clans Donald, McLeod, Stewart, Douglas and others of the Cape Fear Valley.

Scottish pipe bands from Washington, D. C., Charleston, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., will attend. Laurinburg will send its "Fighting Scots" brass band and Scotland County High School will send its Kiltie Band. A number of people from Moore County of Scottish descent will also attend.

Martin B. Gentry, Mining Engineer, Died Here Tuesday

Martin Butler Gentry, 69, of Southern Pines, internationally known mining engineer, died Tuesday at Moore County Hospital. He had been in failing health since suffering a stroke two years ago.

Private funeral services were held at the home, Sweet Hall, this afternoon, conducted by Dr. C. K. Ligon, pastor of Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church. Interment will be in Kansas City.

Mr. Gentry was born in Kansas City October 13, 1886, the son of Richard and Susan Butler Gentry.

He graduated in the Class of 1906 from the Scheffield Scientific School of Yale University and in 1909 from the Columbia School of Mines.

He began his career as a mining engineer with William Braden in South America, doing much to help develop the tremendous mining interests in South American and Central American countries. Later in his life he worked on various projects in the mining industry in many different parts of the world and has been closely associated with the development of many of the accepted practices being used in the industry today.

He was for a number of years associated with the Anaconda Copper Company of South America, and later with the Freeport Sulphur Company, retiring as executive vice-president six years ago.

With his wife he moved from New York City to Southern Pines in 1952, purchasing a home for year-round residence.

He was a captain in the Engineer Corps during World War I, a member and past president of the Mining Club of New York, a member and past president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the North Carolina Society of Mining Engineers, and a member of the Pinehurst Country Club. He was also a member of the Yale Club of New York, the University Club of New York and the Explorers Club.

He maintained his membership in the Spring Street Presbyterian Church in New York City until his death.

Surviving are his wife, the former Margaret Tomlinson of Kansas City; one daughter, Mrs. Orvis C. Yingling, Jr., of Paris, France; one son, Martin Butler Gentry, Jr., North Haven, Conn.; five grandchildren, and three sisters, Mrs. William H. Bush and Mrs. Charles Lindmueller, Chicago, and Mrs. Stetson Hinds, San Francisco.

D. L. Purvis of Robbins, Dies; Rites On Friday

Dewitt Lendon Purvis, 59, of Robbins, died last Wednesday at a Pinehurst hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services were held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Tabernacle Methodist Church in Robbins. Burial was at Fall Creek Church.

Surviving are his wife, Gladys Purvis of Robbins, two daughters, Mrs. Edith Schler of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Dorothy Dorman of New York City; two sons, D. L. Purvis Jr., of Miami, Fla., and Harry Purvis of Jacksonville, Fla.; his mother, Mrs. Lillie McNeill; five sisters, Mrs. Roma McBride, Mrs. Lula Mayhew, Mrs. Peggy Hall, and Mrs. Bertha Register, all of Durham, and Mrs. Lester Utt, Miami, Fla.; two brothers, Baxter Purvis of Durham and Bobby Purvis of High Falls.

E. J. Tarlton, 47, Dies In Conway Following Illness

E. J. (Sam) Tarlton, 47, died in a Conway nursing home Friday afternoon after several years' illness.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church in Aberdeen Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the Rev. Eugene Deese, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Zeb A. Caudle of Albemarle, former pastor.

Interment followed in the family plot in Old Bethesda Cemetery.

Mr. Tarlton was born in Wadesboro, the son of the late V. F. and Flora Cox Tarlton. For several years before his illness he worked at Fort Bragg.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Wagner; one daughter, Sheila of the home; three sisters, Mrs. E. A. Helms of Sanford, Mrs. W. K. Carpenter of Pinebluff and Mrs. E. F. Pickler of Pinebluff; two brothers, R. F. Tarlton of Fayetteville and T. J. Tarlton of Aberdeen.

Final Rites Held For A. C. Hussey

Allen Clayton Hussey, 44, of Robbins, Route 1, died last Wednesday afternoon after a heart attack.

Funeral services were held Friday at 3 p. m. at Smyrna Methodist Church. Interment was in the church cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cora Hussey, two daughters, Annette and Judy of the home; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Hussey of Robbins, Route 2; two sisters, Mrs. Mozelle Brady of Bennett, Route 2, and Miss Ollie Mae Garner of Robbins, Route 2; four brothers, Curtis, Elster and Richard Hussey of Robbins, Route 2, and Ray Hussey of Bennett.

Coleman Reviews Events Leading To Suez Seizure

Arch Coleman, a professional lecturer who makes his home in Southern Pines part of the year, told members of the Southern Pines Lions Club last Friday that the State Department had exercised real diplomacy in calling Russia's bluff about the construction of the Aswan Dam in Egypt.

Failure of the United States or Russia to provide funds—estimated in some quarters at close to one billion dollars—to build the dam has caused Premier Nasser to seize control of the Suez Canal in retaliation.

First-hand look at Egypt through first-hand look at Egypt through visits there, said the history of Egypt's poverty goes back many years. "There are 22 million people in Egypt," he said, "and approximately 75 per cent of them are illiterate."

"Egypt needs desperately to have more land in which its population can carve out an existence. The country is woefully crowded."

Big question right now, Coleman pointed out, is a matter of grave concern to the world: Is Egypt with the East or West?

He traced briefly the steps that led Premier Nasser into seizing the Suez Canal, vital to world shipping. Egypt, he pointed out, could conceivably become a fertile land if the huge Aswan Dam were built. Cost of such a project is prohibitive to the Egyptians, he added, and Nasser and his associates, since kicking Farouk from power several years ago, have been searching around for someone to finance the project.

Both the East and the West consider Nasser a bad risk, primarily because of Egypt's probable inability to repay any loan and because Nasser has continued to play one off against the other.

Coleman said that Russia offered to build the dam, hoping, of course, that the United States would match the offer. It was Russia's intention of working the proposition around to the point where the United States, striving to build allies in the Middle East, would also offer to build the dam. The United States refused.

Russia, after learning that this country would not back the construction under present conditions, backed out.

Coleman hailed the State Department for its brilliant strategy in refusing to fall for Russia's bluff.

Other committee appointments included: Finance and budget, Grady Wright, Joe Montesanti and Norris Hodgkins, Jr.

Entertainment, Kirk Everett, chairman. Promotion and publicity, Jimmy Mann and Vance Derby. The Chamber of Commerce has granted use of its office facilities for receiving reservations and invitations. Carter said a committee would be appointed to process them.
