Church of Wide Fellowship Reports Summer Activities

Although Dr. Wofford C. Timmons, pastor of the Church of Wide Fellowship, and Mrs. Timmons have been away on vacation since July 1, all departments of the church have been very active and much has been accomplished under the leadership of Roger Gibbs.

Early in July Mrs. Marshall Palmer and Mrs. L. W. Fitch attended the eleventh annual School of Missions of the Women's Fellowship of the Southern Convention of Congregational Christian Churches at Elon College, arriving on Tuesday, the opening day, and remaining until the convention closed Friday afternoon.

They reported a very fine program with many interesting speakers, among whom was Dr. Procula A. Rodriguez, Bishop of the United Church of Christ in the Philippines and also president of Silliman University, who spoke on the Philippines and Southeast Asia. This will be the subject of much mission study the coming season, it is said.

While at Elon College the Convention moved to Moonelon one day for a picnic supper of fried chicken and other choice foods which were served at the lakeside, after which an impressive vesper service at the Vesper Circle was led by the dramatics department of Elon College.

Several of the young people of the church attended the encampments at Moonelon this summer. Carol Ann Prim, Sandy Woodell, Nancy Wiggs and Bill Shockley attended Junior Camp June 24-27. Vicky Michael, Jimmy Parker, and Kenneth Reid were at Junior High Camp the first week in July, and David Prim attended Senior High July 22-28. Phillip Guin went to Moonelon to attend the planning and training of Pilgrim Fellowship Groups, meeting August 26 to September 1. James Humphrey was a counselor and lifeguard there for the summer.

Last Sunday evening the Youth Fellowships from all churches held a union meeting in the fellowship hall. Mrs. L. D. McDonald assisted by Mrs. H. H. Pethick from the Women's Society served refreshments and Mrs. Guin acted as hostess.

The Youth Federation will meet again at the Church of Wide Fellowship this Sunday evening at 6:30, when Mrs. Isaac Woodell will act as hostess. This will be the last of the union meetings of the Southern Pines youth groups for the summer and a large attendance from all the churches is hoped for. James Humphrey, who will be back from Moonelon, will lead the service.

The annual Sunday School picnic will be held next Wednesday, August 23, at 4 p.m. at Pinebluff lake. Those who need a ride are asked to be at the church at 3:30. Pickles, potato chips and soft drinks will be furnished. "Bring bathing suit and a few sandwiches," is the call being issued.

Dr. and Mrs. Timmons will return from their vacation in time for the picnic, and the regular service schedule will go into effect Sunday, September 2, with Sunday School at 9:45 and worship service at 11.

SAT. LAST DAY

(Continued from Page 1) the constitutional amendment would pass but added that he hoped it will never have to be used. Instead, he has urged voluntary segregation in the schools and use of the Pupil Assignment Act.

Registered voters, no matter whether they are Democrats or Republicans, can vote in the September 8 election. Voting will be held at the regularly established precincts.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from the chairman of the County Board of Elections, and are available to people who will be away from their polling places on election day, and to those unable to go to the polling place because of illness.

Servicemen who are assigned elsewhere, their wives and dependents can get absentee ballots from the office of the Secretary of State in Raleigh. Service personnel can obtain application forms from their commanding officers if they wish.

The September 8 elections will also give voters a choice on three other constitutional amendments: raising the pay of the members of the General Assembly; changing the date of the Assembly convening from January to February each year; and authorizing married women to exercise powers of attorney conferred on them by their husbands.

CEREMONY AT CULDEE CHURCH UNITES MISS BARBARA BLACK AND MR. KIRK

Miss Barbara Black became the bride of William Monroe Kirk, in a candlelight ceremony at Culdee Presbyterian Church at 5 o'clock Saturday, August 18.

The Rev. Thomas Young, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Patricia Farmer of West End, cousin of the bride, pianist, and Miss Mary Louise McDonald of Carthage, vocalist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. Her finger-tip veil was attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a purple throated orchid showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. Freddie McKenzie of Pinehurst, matron of honor, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua net and crystallette over taffeta, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and baby's breath.

The groom has as his best man, his brother-in-law, Edward Baker of Aberdeen. Ushers were Nelson Black, brother of the bride, and Joseph Leighton, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. W. E. Black, mother of the bride, wore a dress of blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Lane Kirk, mother of the groom, wore a dress of rose lace with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Black of West End, Route 1. She is a graduate of Pinehurst High School and attended Woman's College at Greensboro. At the time of her marriage she was employed on the office force of Amerotron, Inc. in Aberdeen. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Kirk of Aberdeen Route 1. He attended the Aberdeen schools and served in the armed forces. He now holds a position in Washington, D. C., where they will reside after returning from their honeymoon.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was given at the home of the bride.

Judge Wilson has had previous experience, both as clerk of court in Wake county, and as judge of the Wake Forest recorders court. Before admission to the bar he was a professor of romance languages at Wake Forest. He practiced as an attorney in Raleigh for a number of years, part of the time as partner of William Y. Bickett. He moved to Carthage three and a half years ago as an associate in the firm of Sewell and Seawell. Recently he entered practice on his own and early in July moved to Aberdeen. He will continue his civil practice while serving as judge of the new recorders court.

This is the only court serving people of Moore County outside the Moore recorders court at Carthage. A municipal court was set up in Southern Pines by special act some 30 years ago, but was discontinued after a few months and the act was repealed. The establishment of such a court does not now require a special act. The Aberdeen court was set up according to provisions of an enabling act, by the town board assisted by their town attorneys.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE

In initial workouts the team has been quarterbacked by Kenneth Creech, a 185-pound regular who played middle guard last year.

Tony Parker, weighing in this year at a coach's "dream figure" of 180 pounds, has been playing center, the position that earned him a berth on all-state teams last year. Also bolstering the line is Lynn Van Benschoten, 185 pounds, playing in his regular middle-guard slot.

Other returning lettermen are Bobby Parker, Billy Hamel, Roger Verhoef, Charles Watkins and Donald Walter.

Workouts are being held twice daily at Memorial Field: from 9 to 11 each morning, and from 4:30 to 6 each afternoon. The sessions will probably be held at least until school starts September 5, Leonard said, which is just two days before the opening game.

MONKEY CAPTURED

"He's a bit leery of men," Mrs. Wright said this morning, "but he's beginning to like my husband. Don't know exactly what that means, but, speaking for the women, we sort of like him... the monkey, I mean."

No name on the collar, she reported, and not much knowledge about monkey diets. So far the stranger has been having a feast on bananas, apples and peanuts. Police don't know where the monkey came from. There was a rumor that he came from Charlotte, but just a rumor.

Right now, happy to report, monkey and everyone else is doing fine.

JUDGE PHILLIPS

Key himself seemed shocked at the verdict.

On the first ballot, it was learned, four jurors voted for conviction of rape with a recommendation for mercy, making a life term in prison mandatory. One source said that several of the jurors on the first ballot had voted for acquittal. At least one juror voted for conviction of rape without recommendation of mercy.

Miss Robinson, third grade school teacher from Biscoe, testified earlier in the week that Key had raped her in a car in a wooded area near Robbins while they were on a date the night of May 26. She said that Key had overpowered her and had threatened her.

Two doctors on the staff of the Montgomery County Hospital, where Miss Robinson was confined several days after the alleged rape, said it was their belief after examining Miss Robinson that she had been raped. Another physician, Dr. F. L. Owens of Pinehurst, also was called to the witness stand but Judge Phillips ordered the jury out of the room.

It was brought out that Miss Robinson's parents had refused to allow Dr. Owens to examine her. Dr. Owens had been requested by Key's brother, it was reported, to make such an examination. The state objected to all of Dr. Owens' testimony.

In a painstaking charge to the jury Friday afternoon Judge Phillips told the jury that one of five possible verdicts could be brought in: guilty of rape with no recommendation for mercy, a sentence that automatically carries the death penalty; guilty of rape with recommendation for mercy, which means life in prison; guilty of assault on a female with intent to commit rape, which carries a prison sentence of up to 15 years; guilty of simple assault on a female, which carries a maximum sentence of two years in prison; or not guilty.

Judge Phillips stressed that a defendant could be guilty of assault with intent to commit rape in two ways. On the one hand, he said, a defendant could be guilty of the charge without being successful in his effort to have sexual relations with a woman against her will. Or, Judge Phillips pointed out, he could assault a woman with such force and to such a degree that she finally consented. The defendant would be guilty in this event, he said.

In the long trial, said by many people in the courtroom to be the most sensational and, some suggested, the saddest in their memories, hundred of ideas were advanced outside the court chambers as to just what happened on the night in question. Calls from a number of towns in the state to the courtroom indicated the tremendous interest that had been generated by the case that saw two respected and highly popular young people in their communities bare the most intimate detail of their lives to an open courtroom.

Several Phillips threatened at judge points during the proceedings to clear the courtroom if any outbreaks were noted.

Key, neat appearing in dress but with an appearance due to his stay of almost three months in jail, tried at one point to get Miss Robinson to talk to him. He did talk to her sister but was told by a deputy sheriff to sit down.

Miss Robinson's parents were obviously annoyed when Key was talking to the sister.

During the long hours the jury was out on its deliberations it appeared that no one left the packed courtroom.

In making their speeches to the jury the state and defense attorneys were, quite naturally, at odds as to the character of the two principals.

Solicitor Boyette described Key as a young man with a "domineering spirit who would stop at nothing when he makes up his mind to achieve something."

Sabiston acknowledged the excellent character of Miss Robinson but said, "She's a little bit too sweet, a little bit too innocent, a little bit too pious."

A number of State College students, friends of Key, were on hand to witness the trial and to come forward if necessary, to testify to his good character.

Probably the one single thought that every person in the courtroom had was the one expressed by an elderly man from Carthage, who said, "No matter what the outcome, these two young people, by the very nature of their testimony, are both going to lose. It's just too bad that such a thing ever was tried in the open."

THREE PEOPLE received injuries last Friday night when this automobile ran off the road on a curve in front of the Andrews estate on East Connecticut Ave., shortly after 7 p.m. Bobby Lee Poindexter, driver of the car, was reported to have received multiple contusions and lacerations, and Wilbur Moore received a crushed chest. Hospital officials report both in fair condition. The other occupant of the car was not confined to the hospital but received dispensary treatment. State Highway Patrolman R. R. Samuels, who investigated, said the car left the road when Poindexter lost control. The driver estimated his speed at between 50 and 55 miles per hour when the accident occurred. Only thing holding the car up was two small "blackjack" trees. (Pilot photo)
