Tennis Group Is Planning Series Of Open Matches

"Tennis, anyone?" Come on over to the town tennis courts Sunday afternoon, racket in hand—pick a partner or opponent—and go to it.

This Sunday, and every Sunday afternoon as long as the good weather holds out, the Sandhill Tennis Association will sponsor open matches on the town courts.

"We have lots of people interested in tennis here, and if everybody will just come on over to the courts, we will have plenty of good matches going," said Tom Cunningham, STA president. "It doesn't matter if you've played on our courts before or not, or if you know the other players. One object of the matches," he said, is to further acquaintanceship among those in the vicinity who are interested in the game.

Players of all ages will be welcomed.

He has appointed Norris Hodgkins, Jr., to be on hand at the courts starting at 2 p. m., to help the players arrange their matches. Hodgkins or some other STA member will be there every Sunday. For the opening matches balls will be available, as a courtesy, for those who do not have any, also there will be refreshments for the players.

Plans for the informal series were made at a meeting of STA directors held Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hodgkins.

Demonstration Club News

The Stanton Hill Club met in August with Mrs. Frank Loving. At the meeting we were honored by having Mrs. Cone McPherson as our guest. Mrs. McPherson spoke of some of the highlights of her recent trip abroad.

Miss Flora McDonald, home agent, gave a very interesting lesson on framing pictures. She had many samples of frames that were good. We learned that with a little skill and scraps from the carpenter's that lovely frames can be made at home. Mrs. Loving showed a collection of treasured pictures that she had bought at a very small cost which she expects to frame this fall. We are all anxious to see these when she has finished.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served delicious ice cream and cake. —By Mrs. Walter McDonald, publicity chairman, Stanton Hill Club.
