Funeral Services Held Monday For Mrs. Verdie Wiley

Mrs. Verdie T. Wiley, 83, a longtime resident of Southern Pines, died suddenly at Moore County Hospital last Friday night.

Mrs. Wiley was born July 27, 1873, in Richmond, Virginia, the daughter of Richard and Sarah N. Nalley Tuck. In 1906 she moved to Southern Pines with her husband, the late R. E. Wiley.

Mr. Wiley, who died in 1922, was a former mayor of Southern Pines, and did much in the town's early days to set the stage for its future development.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. O. Schaefer of Asheboro, and Miss Katherine Wiley of Southern Pines; one granddaughter; and two great granddaughters.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a. m. at Emmanuel Episcopal Church with the Rev. Martin Caldwell, rector, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Mortimer Glover, Jr., of Asheboro.

Interment followed at Mount Hope Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Sherwood Brockwell, Jr., George Pottle, Harold Collins, Garland Pierce, John Howarth, R. F. Hoke Pollock, Roy Grinnell, and Bert Perham.

A TRIBUTE

Mrs. Wiley was a lady much beloved in her community. An ardent worker for her church, Emmanuel Episcopal, whose woman's group she headed for many years, she took an active interest in all affairs for the good of Southern Pines. A warm friend and good neighbor, she was kind, outgoing, with a delightful gaiety of spirit. An appealing, bird-like quality in her voice and lively manner lent rare charm to a personality that will be greatly missed in her beloved "hometown."—K.L.B.

THEATRES

CAROLINA

Returning to the Sandhills at the Carolina Theatre this Thursday—Saturday at 8:15 p.m. with a Saturday matinee is that very good and very powerful story of life and love, in CinemaScope—Stereo Sound—Color de Luxe production, "The Bottom Of The Bottle," starring Van Johnson, Ruth Roman, Joseph Cotten and Jack Carson.

The nicest of the many nice things that can be and will be said about this well-tooled production from Twentieth Century-Fox is that its heart is in the right place.

Another return engagement in the Sandhills is that remarkable production, "Trapeze" coming to the Carolina Sunday—Wednesday, September 23-26 with three Sunday shows at 3, 7, and 9 p.m., and week nights at 8:15.

Three of filmdom's most personable stars, the virile Burt Lancaster, the Italian beauty Gina Lollobrigida and the youthful Tony Curtis appear to the best possible advantage in this spectacularly thrilling and superbly photographed melodrama of circus life. The entire troupe went to Paris, where Sir Carol Reed filmed the picture in CinemaScope and De Luxe color at the famous Cirque d'Hiver with the result that the picture boasts of great realism, the breath-holding suspense of split-second aerial flights, a strong romantic plot and the excitement and atmosphere of a Parisian big top.

Burt Lancaster gives probably his finest screen portrayal and Miss Lollobrigida is excellent as the lovely performer.

The photography achieves some amazing effects and the De Luxe Color gives the entire picture a soft natural hue which is comparable to the memorable "Moulin Rouge" colors and may rate an Academy Award nomination.

"The King and I," Twentieth Century-Fox's second production in the new CinemaScope 55 medium and De Luxe color, with Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner in the title roles, will have its local premiere Sunday at the Sunrise Theatre.

The event will be a gala one for the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical classic, which was so successful on the stage and rated as the most beautiful musical show ever produced. It is the first CinemaScope picture with a Siamese background and the elaborate Oriental settings and rich costumes make it the costliest musical ever produced by Twentieth Century-Fox.

Darryl F. Zanuck, who astutely purchased the rights to the distinguished stage production; Charles Brackett, who produced it; Walter Lang, who directed; and Ernest Lehman, who wrote the screenplay, saw to it that every element of the stage hit was enhanced to make the opulent film version. The decor for the picture, consisting of 40 colorful settings, including the throne room with its walls papered in gold leaf and the reception hall of the King's palace studded with 100,000 sparkling crystals, offers a sumptuous background for the enchanting music and lyrics from the magic pens of Broadway's fabulous hit makers, Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II. There are fourteen of their musical numbers in the screen version including "I Whistle a Happy Tune," "Getting to Know You," "The March of the Siamese Children," "Hello Young Lovers," "Shall We Dance" and "We Kiss in a Shadow." The Siamese-style ballet, "The Small House of Uncle Thomas," with choreography by Jerome Robbins, is one of the highlights of this elaborate screen production. Famed Oriental dancers, Yuriko and Michiko are featured in this weird dance based on "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The story of the brash King of Siam and the prim Victorian schoolteacher, who travels all the way from London to Bangkok to bring Western culture to the King and his 67 wives and children, was taken from Margaret Landon's book, "Anna and the King of Siam," which was a best seller years ago and was a successful dramatic motion picture made by Twentieth Century-Fox.

Specialists with the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service say the September 1 cotton lint yield per acre is estimated at 363 pounds, compared with 350 pounds last year and the 10-year average yield of 321 pounds.
