

UNC DEAN TO SPEAK

National Newspaper Week Will Be Observed By Kiwanis Club Oct. 3

Kiwanians of Moore County will pay tribute to the Moore County newspapermen at their regular weekly meeting October 3, it has been announced by Kiwanis Club president John Ponzer.

Representatives of the press will be guests of the club and will hear Norval Neil Luxon, Dean of the School of Journalism of the University of North Carolina. The Moore County Kiwanians have dedicated this program to the newspapers of America in observance of National Newspaper Week, October 1-8.

This is the 17th year that Kiwanis International has participated in National Newspaper Week.

Dean Luxon is president of the Association for Education in Journalism, composed of 700 college and university teachers of journalism, and last April was a United States delegate to a UNESCO meeting in Paris on professional training for journalism. He is a past president of the American Association of Schools and Department of Journalism and a past secretary-treasurer of that organization and of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

He is the author and co-author of a number of books on journalism, the most recent of which "Education for the Professions" was published in 1955.

He has been Dean of the School of Journalism since December 1, 1953 and previously was at Ohio State University for 25 years. He did newspaper work prior to entering teaching in Ohio, North Carolina, and Texas.

He will speak on "American Newspapers, the Best in the World."

In announcing the observance Ponzer pointed out that Kiwanis clubs in nearly 4,200 U. S., Canadian, Alaska and Hawaiian communities would pay tribute to the press in a similar manner. He said the international observance was designed to draw public attention to the importance of maintaining freedom of the press.

This year's slogan for National Newspaper Week is "Your Newspaper—Freedom's Key to Better Living." The week, which began in 1939, is sponsored by Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., Reed C. Culp, International President of Kiwanis, who called for this year's observance of National Newspaper Week by the more than 250,000 members of his service organization, described a continuation of freedom of the press as vital to the democratic governments of the United States and Canada.

Burning Permits To Be Required After Monday

Travis Wicker, Moore County Forest Ranger, announced this week that the brush burning permit season for Moore County and North Carolina begins October 1 and will continue until June 1.

Any person caught starting a fire without a proper permit is liable for a fine of not more than $50 or 30 days in jail, Wicker said.

Burning permits may be obtained from the following:

Wicker, Hillcrest; Floyd Wilcox, Carthage; Clyde Auman, West End; county agent's office, Carthage; Keith's Hardware, Vass; McKeithan's Store, Cameron; Ritter Hardware, Robbins; Eagle Springs fire tower, Eagle Springs; Carthage fire tower, Carthage; and Lane Kirk, Roseland.
