North Carolina Motor Carriers To Hold Annual Meeting At Pinehurst

Some 500 executives of North Carolina's far-flung trucking industry and their guests will converge on Pinehurst Sunday, to open the 27th anniversary convention of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association. Headquarters for the convention, which will run through Wednesday morning, is The Carolina.

Nationally acclaimed speakers and a full schedule of social and athletic events are expected to provide delegates with the "best convention yet," according to Emory Morris, of Charlotte, general convention chairman. Traditionally the convention opens on Sunday afternoon thus permitting the golf enthusiasts to get in a few practice rounds prior to the opening of the convention tournaments.

Following the custom of recent NCMCA conventions, the allied industry—composed of purveyors and companies who supply the trucking industry with its trucks, tractors, trailers, tires, fuel, and thousands of other items—will again furnish all of the entertainment for the meeting.

The four-day program as announced by Chairman Morris, will open Sunday with registration from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Keynoting the opening session will be L. S. (Pete) Harris, formerly motor vehicle commissioner for North Carolina, who will speak on "Reciprocity at the Crossroads."

Karl M. Richards, manager of the motor truck division of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Detroit, Mich., will be the featured speaker at the Tuesday morning session. Mr. Richards is expected to discuss matters dealing with truck equipment. New officers will be elected Tuesday.

The Vass Volunteer Fire Department at Vass, whose members are working to raise funds for the purchase of an additional truck, are sponsoring what is termed a "free circus" on the streets of Vass next Monday afternoon and night, October 8.

The post office block will be the site of the free part of the circus which will include aerial stunts high above the street, and animal performances. Rides on the elephant will be a special attraction for children.
