

KENNETH CREECH, quarterbacking for the Blue Knights, follows Charles Watkins for what turned out to be a big gain for the locals as they whipped Aberdeen week before last. Creech, rated as probably one of the top backs in the six-man conference, has been prominently mentioned for all-state honors. (Emerson Humphrey photo)

INDUSTRY

(Continued from page 1)

ferent." The committee was also instructed to draw up a list of firms which may be prospective seekers of new locations.

Mr. Smyth, who helped locate the Cornell Dubilier Company in Sanford, said it had been his experience that personal correspondence with heads of various companies produced the best results.

"In the Sandhills, where many prominent men in industry have retired and located their homes, we have dozens of leads as to the individual approach," he pointed out. "Many of these men would, I am sure, be delighted to give us their assistance in obtaining new industry for the county."

The committee discussed the possibility that, within the next few months, Piedmont Airlines may curtail part of its service at the Southern Pines-Pinehurst Airport because of runway difficulties. The airport, now one of the smallest in the county that has regularly scheduled air service has no paved runways.

Under a new arrangement, Piedmont is expected to obtain a number of turbo-prop planes next year and replace the present C-47s they now use. Such planes, it is believed, will not be able to land at the airport here.

The committee will invite members of the County Board of Commissioners to sit in on the next meeting, primarily to get their feelings on obtaining new industry, but the airport problem will undoubtedly be discussed.

Ostrom directed each of the community representatives to select one good industrial site in his locality and either have a map or an aerial photograph made of it for inclusion in the brochure.

Burroughs said it would take about two weeks, maybe longer, to process the material for the brochure to its best advantage. Publication of the brochure has been guaranteed by a still unnamed "angel" of Moore County. It is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $1,500 to $2,000.

Attending the meeting were, in addition to Ostrom, Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., Joe Montesanti, Jr., Jack Younts, John Ponzer, Graves Vann, Robert L. Ewing and Mr. Smyth, all of Southern Pines; Steed, of Robbins; E. H. Mills of Pinebluff; A. L. Barnes of Carthage; Paul Von Canon of West End; W. H. Burroughs and Albert Tufts, Pinehurst; Ralph Leach and W. L. Batchelor of

Lt. Col. Harp Is Reported Better After Air Crash

Lt. Col. Harrison M. Harp, a former staff member of the Air Ground Operations School here, has been reported somewhat improved from severe injuries he received in the crash of a plane he was piloting in Germany early in September.

The news was made available here this week.

Col. Harp, who was a squadron commander when the school opened, left here in 1954.

The airplane crash was caused by a faulty engine. There were 11 men on board when the crash occurred but none were killed.

Town Officials Attend Municipal Meet In Asheville

An 11-point legislative program, proposed by the Legislative Committee of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, was adopted at the 47th annual convention of the league in Asheville earlier this week.

Mayor Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines is chairman of the legislative committee.

In addition to Gilmore, others attending the convention from Southern Pines included city manager Tom Cunningham, Louis Scheipers, town clerk, and Sam Richardson and T. T. Morse, councilmen.

Cunningham led a discussion group for city managers.

Gilmore was named third vice-president of the League for the coming year.

North Carolina farmers have until November 30, 1956 to enter into Conservation Reserve contracts under the Soil Bank program for this year.

Extension nutrition specialists at North Carolina State College say homemakers shouldn't leave chopped steed in the refrigerator more than two days at the most, unless it is frozen hard, because it will dry out and lose its flavor.

Aberdeen: A. G. Edwards of Vass; and Hubert Nickens of Cameron.

Countywide Eisenhower Rally

MONDAY, OCTOBER 29

AT 8 P. M.

SOUTHERN PINES SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Campaign Issues to be Discussed by Prominent

National and State Supporters of

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

For President

Democrats as Well as Republicans Cordially Invited

MOORE COUNTY CITIZENS FOR EISENHOWER

Old Gold

Straight BOURBON Whiskey

$2.10 PINT

$3.35 4/5 QUART

TYRONE DISTILLING COMPANY LAWRENCEBURG, KENTUCKY