

Dr. Grier Named Boy Scout Leader

Dr. John C. Grier, Jr., of Pinehurst, was elected chairman of the Moore District, Boy Scouts of America, at a meeting held here last week at the Church of Wide Fellowship.

Also elected were Dr. Clifford P. McLean and Gen. Pearson Menoher, vice-chairman, both of Southern Pines, and Fred Chappell, also of Southern Pines, district commissioner.

The annual meeting of scouts and their leaders in this district will be held Thursday, November 15, at the Carthage high school cafeteria, it was announced at the meeting here.

Tickets for the banquet, which will begin at 7 p. m., are on sale by scout committees.

Carousel Entries Moving Along With 122 Now Entered

Entries in the annual Golf Carousel are now 122, according to Joe Carter and Johnnie Hall, co-chairmen of the event which is being held November 8-11.

They said that many more had been indicated with the final list close to 200, largest in the tournament's three-year history.

About 40 professionals are expected to take part in the pro-am tournament, scheduled for November 8, according to Dugan Aycock, chairman of the state Professional Golfers' Association. Julius Boros, pro at Mid-Pines, Ernie Boros, Leo Walper and Roy Grinnell are definite entries. Word has been received that Mike Souchak and Jim Ferree may play also.

Tourney officials urged local residents to get their entries in early. Pairings must be made early next week, they pointed out, and no entries would be accepted from local golfers beyond Wednesday of next week.

"Your score, whatever it is, however high it may be, is not too important in this tournament," Jaycees on the tournament committee have pointed out. "We just want golfers to play and enjoy themselves."

By far the largest number of entries to date have come from out-of-town contestants.

However, Little said about 10 days ago in Los Angeles that Textron, Inc., "will have earnings of around $10 million in 1956," adding that the company was losing about $5 million on its textile operation in the current year.

He said that textiles had been "terrible" this year.

"But," he continued, "by disposing of high-cost mills and limiting textile operations to nine plants, the company (Textron) hopes to make $4 million to $5 million on textiles."

He did not say which nine mills would be retained.

Nine Left

W. H. Burroughs, controller of Amerotron, said this morning, however, that a resolution introduced and made a part of Textron's action in California called for the retention of one woolen plant (in Barnwell, S. C.), three plants in North Carolina (Robbins, Red Springs, and Charlotte), and the remainder in Georgia, making a total of nine.

All the plants are for the manufacture of greige goods with the exception of the Barnwell operation.

Burroughs said that three plants in New England are being closed out at present and operations there should be completed by the end of the year.

Aberdeen Plant

There has been a great interest in the Aberdeen plant from prospective buyers, he said. A number of companies have had representatives there, although no names were mentioned. Burroughs said that in some cases brokers represented the companies

Rotary Honors Retiring Post Office Worker

Alfred Grover, longtime member of the Southern Pines post office who retired this week, was recognized by the Southern Pines Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting Friday.

Garland Pierce, Rotary member, had Mr. Grover as his guest and presented him with a citation of recognition "for his many years of devoted duty." The citation was from Arthur Summerfield, United States Postmaster-General.

Also on the program was Dr. W. C. Timmons, pastor of the Church of Wide Fellowship here, who briefly explained the religious history of Halloween. He said that All-Saints Day was November 1, celebrated in tribute to the many saints who had stood up through the years for their religious beliefs.

Halloween, he pointed out, actually means "hallowed evening," and is a religious celebration.

Woody Fussell of Bladenboro and David Gillis of Mt. Olive were guests.

Sale At Macks To Mark Completion Remodeling Work

Macks 5, 10 & 25c store in Southern Pines has just completed a remodeling program and in celebration of this is holding a Remodeling Sale this Friday and Saturday, November 2-3.

The changes not only add to the attractiveness of the store, but provide space for carrying a more complete line of merchandise and displaying it in such a way as to make shopping easier and more pleasant for customers.

Back-to-back counters have been installed, with shelves above and concealed storage beneath, and Chrysler Airtemp air conditioning designed to provide year-round comfort is now in use.

The management appreciates the patience and tolerance shown by customers during the period of renovation and invites them to come in and browse around in the new Macks.

Historical Assn. Wins Award For Book Publication

An award "for its outstanding contributions to the field of state and local history" was presented to the Moore County Historical Association recently by the American Association of State and Local History.

Announcement of the award was made here this week.

The association's honor to the local group was made in the "regional" category for its sponsorship of the publication of a county history covering the 100 years between 1747 and 1847. Dr. Blackwell P. Robinson, professor of history at High Point College, wrote the book after sifting through hundreds of old family records and notes and files at various county offices.

and that even Amerotron officials did not know who was interested. The sale of the plant is being handled through Textron's industrial section.

Dr. Pishko Elected To Medical Group

Dr. Michael T. Pishko, member of the staff of the Moore County Hospital, received word last week of his election to the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

While a member of the hospital's surgical staff and a "Board" man, Dr. Pishko has concentrated more and more on obstetrics and gynecology during recent years. He has taken special training in various aspects of these fields, spending several months at the medical centers of Johns Hopkins, Massachusetts General, and Duke during recent summers.

Dr. Pishko became a member of the Moore County staff in 1937 as assistant to Dr. Clement C. Monroe, joining the full surgical staff a few years later. He resides in Pinehurst and is a member of the Pinehurst Surgical Clinic, soon to move from offices in the hospital to a clinic building now under construction nearby.

MR. ALLEN

In both instances the bequests are to be known as the "Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Allen Fund."

Mr. Allen also bequeathed to Dr. Robert M. McMillan of Southern Pines a sum of $5,000.

His nephew, Bertram S. Allen of Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. Allen were executors of the will.

Al Grant To Speak At Annual Chamber Of Commerce Meet

Al Grant, chief of the Industrial Development division of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development, will be principal speaker at the annual Southern Pines Chamber of Commerce banquet, Earl Hubbard, chairman of the banquet committee, said this morning.

The banquet will be held November 28 at the Hollywood Hotel.

Grant, who is a former official of Amerotron Corporation, has visited Southern Pines several times in the past few weeks to discuss with local people the possibilities of obtaining new industry for the area.

He has been instrumental in developing the state's program of luring "science" type industry and has earned a considerable reputation for helping the state move forward in its industrial development.

Hubbard said that complete plans for the banquet have not been worked out yet, but would be in the near future. He urged all businessmen and others who are members of the Chamber to make arrangements to attend the
