

Sheriff McDonald To Review Work On House In Horseshoe

Sheriff C. J. McDonald, president of the Moore County Historical Association, will speak at a luncheon meeting of the North Carolina Society for the Preservation of Antiquities December 6 in Raleigh.

His subject will be historical facts about the late Governor Williams, one-time owner of the House in the Horseshoe. He will also bring the members up to date on the present restoration project of the historic house, in charge of the Historical Association.

Mrs. Charles T. Grier of Carthage, chairman of the committee in charge of furnishings for the house, said this week that not a great deal had been done towards the furnishing, although a few pieces had been acquired and were in the house.

A few other pieces are under consideration and will be purchased when funds are available, Mrs. Grier said.
