

Scout Activities Are Discussed At Annual Dinner

Moore Scout District officials and associates held their annual Recognition Dinner Thursday evening at the Carthage high school, served by the senior class in cafeteria style, with a large number in attendance.

Dr. Bruce Warlick of Southern Pines and Rev. M. C. Henderson of the Carthage Methodist Church opened the full-evening proceedings. Dr. Warlick served as master of ceremonies, and Earl Hubbard of Southern Pines introduced the invited guests.

Dr. Henry Jordan of Cedar Falls, State Senator from this district, was guest speaker at the dinner. He pointed to the accomplishments of scouting in training today's youth to seek security through foundations built of character rather than worldly possessions. He was introduced by E. O. Brodgen of Southern Pines.

James Birch, of Raleigh, vice president of Oconeechee Council, conducted the installation of officers for 1957. They included Dr. John C. Grier, Jr., district chairman; Dr. C. C. McLean, vice-chairman; Gen. Pearson Menoher, vice chairman; and Fred Chappell, commissioner. Several committeemen were also installed. Birch also presented to Gen. Menoher, the retiring chairman of this district, a special gift of appreciation for his varied service to scout work.

Dr. Grier made recognition of outstanding scouters, including David Drexler, Southern Pines, district committeeman; Paul Ward, Southern Pines, commissioner's staff member; C. C. Thompson, Pinebluff, scoutmaster; Mrs. Campbell, Carthage, den mother; Odes Spurlin, Pinebluff, scoutmaster; and W. F. Boing, Carthage, explorer advisor.

Tom Burgess, field director for Oconeechee Council also spoke and presented a special illustrated talk on the heritage of scouts and scouting organizations, with which the annual event was concluded.

Moore Farmers Told How To Qualify For Benefits Of Social Security

Many farmers in Moore County are surprised to learn that they are not immediately eligible to draw social security benefits.

Frank P. Kersey, field representative of the Fayetteville district office illustrates this with the following case.

As this specific farmer from Moore County stepped into the social security office recently, his first words were, "I'm ready to start drawing my social security." He went on to say that he had heard about farmers participating in social security since last year. He followed by saying that since he came to get his money at once, it took the social security people quite a while to convince him he was a little too early.

A self-employed farmer already 65 may begin drawing benefits when he has made and sold his crop in 1955 and 1956 and filed the necessary tax reports for those years. No self-employment tax return is necessary and no social security credit is earned for any year in which he had less than $400 net profit.

A farmer, like any other person, must have credit in the social security records for a certain amount of time in order to qualify for benefits. That is why the farmer in this case could not draw his benefits right away. He had not had any previous work that was covered by social security. The length of time a person must have depends upon his age. The farmer was advised to return and file for social security benefits after he had made his tax report for 1956.

Monthly benefits to the male farmer will vary from a minimum of $30.50 per month. The amount will depend upon his earnings record.

The same rules apply to those farm operators who are women except that they may receive social security benefits upon attaining age 62. If she chooses to file for benefits between age 62 and 65, the amount she receives will be reduced slightly. The reduction is based upon the number of months she is eligible for benefit payment prior to the month of her 65th birthday.

All farmers who are 65 years old should inquire at the social security office concerning benefits after the 1956 crop has been sold. The District Office that services

Moore County is located at 605 German St., Fayetteville. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except legal holidays.

Nearly 10 per cent of the total U. S. labor force is engaged in the job of getting food from the farmer to the consumer. The task provides direct employment for about five million workers, and the bill in 1955 from the time food products left the farm until they were sold at retail was $32 billion, say marketing specialists with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
