

E. Humphrey Wins Photo Prize In CPPA Contest

A photo by Emerson Humphrey, local professional photographer, has won third place and a $20 prize in the Grandfather Mountain Division of the Grandfather Mountain Camera Clinic, held last September.

The award was announced last week at a meeting of the Carolinas Press Photographers Association in Charleston, S. C. The association sponsored the clinic at Grandfather Mountain in western North Carolina last year.

Mr. Humphrey's winning photograph shows Miss Marcie Hampton, the Association's "Photo Queen" leaping gracefully through the air against a background of twin mountain peaks, in such a manner that it appears she is jumping from one mountain to the other.

"Happy Enough to Fly" was the caption used on it when it appeared in state papers.

Mr. Humphrey is a former vice-president of the CPPA and

Sister Of Local Man Dies In Sleep

Mrs. Clyde Cameron Nicholson, 65, a native of Moore County and sister of D. B. Cameron of Southern Pines, died in her sleep early Sunday morning in Sanford, where she had lived for many years.

She was the daughter of the late John Buie and Barbara Ann Cameron of this county. Survivors, in addition to her brother, include a daughter, four sons, two sisters, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services and burial were held Tuesday in Sanford.

has won several prizes in contests sponsored by the group in former years. He was one of five judges from among the photographers who chose Miss Hampton as their "Photo Queen."

About 50 photographers from North and South Carolina competed in the Grandfather Mountain contest. Mr. Humphrey frankly admits he used some trick techniques in getting his prize-winning picture.

Amateur Show Planned By Pinehurst Group

"The Scandals of the Sandhills" is coming to town.

That's the name of the Follies show to be presented by local amateur talent on March 20, 21 and 22 for the benefit of the Pinehurst Recreation Association and its project to complete its athletic field and playgrounds there.

At a meeting of the committee in charge, held Wednesday afternoon in the Pinehurst Country Club, presided over by the Rev. Dr. A. W. Craig and James C. Gilbert, co-chairmen, reports were heard from all sub-committees on their progress; from Mrs. Michael T. Pishko and Mrs. Daniel Delany on ticket sales; Mrs. L. C. Durwell, Jr., on talent, and from Co-chairmen Mrs. Henson Maples and Mrs. Leslie Gilliland on costuming.

Brooks Russell, of New York City, representing the Jerome H. Cargill Producing Agency, will stage the production, which will go into rehearsal March 1.

The "Scandals" will run the three nights on the stage of the Pinehurst School Auditorium, called by Mr. Russell "as fine a theatre as we see in staging productions of this type throughout the country."

C. B. Deane Enters Private Practice Of Law In Capital

Former Congressman C. B. Deane, defeated in his bid for re-nomination from the 8th District, has entered into private law practices in Washington, joining a firm headed by Oscar L. Chapman, who served as Secretary of the Interior under President Truman.

Deane said he would continue to maintain his old office in Rockingham, where he dealt primarily in real estate and insurance, but would devote most of his time to his Washington practice.

The firm represents industrial clients scattered across the nation, as well as handling legislative and federal bureau practice.

Deane represented the 8th district for 10 years in the House of Representatives until he was defeated in last year's primary by A. Paul Kitchin of Wadesboro.

During his tenure Deane gained wide legislative experience, especially in fiscal affairs. He served for several years on the House Banking and Currency Committee and during his last two years in Congress was a member of the important Appropriations Committee.
