Miss Carolyn Bullock, Bride-Elect, Feted By Three Hostesses

Honoring Miss Carolyn Bullock of Greensboro, whose engagement to Melville Pemberton Brown, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C., was announced recently, Mrs. Charles Meares, Mrs. James Douglas and Mrs. Mel Johnson entertained at a dessert bridge at Tarheelia Saturday.

Tarheelia, which is the home of Mrs. L. D. McDonald, was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and jonquils, with candles and flowers on the tables.

Upon arrival the honoree was given a corsage by the hostesses, who later presented her a gift of silver.

Swedish apple cake topped with ice cream molded in heart shape, and adorned with orange blossoms further carrying out the bridal motif, was served.

There were three tables of bridge and one of canasta. High scorer in bridge was Mrs. C. L. Worsham, and in canasta, Miss Lillian Bullock led. A bingo prize went to Miss Celene Rozier.

Guests were: Miss Carolyn Bullock, her mother, Mrs. Hubert Cameron, and sister, Miss Lillian Bullock; Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. C. L. Worsham and Mrs. C. D. May, Southern Pines; Mrs. David Rozier, Miss Celene Rozier and Mrs. Murphy Townsend, Lumberton; Miss Jennie Carter, Charlotte; Mrs. Eunice Hite and Miss Bessie Clemmer, Lancaster, S. C.

MISS EVA BERT KELLY

ANNOUNCEMENT of the engagement of Miss Eva Bert Kelly, daughter of John M. Kelly of Carthage, Route 3, and the late Mrs. Kelly, to Ivey Geddy Maness, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Eli C. Maness of Walstonburg, was made today by the father of the bride-elect. The wedding will take place on April 20 at 5:30 in the afternoon in Union Presbyterian Church near Carthage, with all friends invited to attend. The bride-elect is employed by the Ashboro City Schools. Mr. Maness is a teacher in the Frank-

SPRING FASHION SHOW AT CIVIC CLUB STAGED BY McLEAN'S WINS HIGH PRAISE

"As attractive as any New York models" were the words used by one enthusiastic viewer of the Spring Fashion Show staged Tuesday night by McLean Style Shop of Aberdeen at the Civic Club building here for the benefit of the Civic Club.

The weather did not smile on the event, but a good sized crowd attended despite that fact, and others were equally as enthusiastic as the person quoted above.

The clubroom was attractively decorated as a setting for the show, with magnolia foliage, crab-apple blossoms, pink and white camellias, and yellow daffodils in abundance. Outfits were modeled on the platform at one end of the long hall, then each model walked down a grass-covered aisle to give those present a close-up view of their outfits. A spotlight and floor lighting added to the effect. Mrs. Nancy McClellan served as commentator, and Mrs. L. D. McDonald provided a background of organ music.

Street wear, evening gowns, sports attire, and junior and pre-teen clothes and accessories were shown.

Serving as models were: Mrs. Linwood Moon, Mrs. J. D. Arey, Jr., Mrs. R. M. Bender, Mrs. Virginia Kimbrell, Miss Edna Maurer, and Susie Bridgers, all of Aberdeen; Mrs. Jack Hogan of Fort Bragg; and Mrs. Stanley Austin and Nancy Rawlinson of Southern Pines. Susie modeled clothes for juniors and Nancy was a pre-teen model.

The Club is grateful to all who patronized the show, especially in view of the inclement weather.

DISCUSS BENEFIT DINNER—Meeting at the Pinehurst Country Club this past Monday, Mrs. Michael Pishko (center) of Pinehurst, and Mrs. John Ostrum (right) of Southern Pines discuss arrangements with Mrs. Alwin L. Folley for the Moore County Hospital Benefit Dinner held each year at the Dunes Club. The sponsor, James Warman, manager of the Dunes Club, announced the date for Monday, March 11.

The Hospital Auxiliary benefits from the receipts of this event through the courtesy of the Dunes Club. Tickets and subscription stubs for the special prize of a portable TV set are on sale in Pinehurst by Mrs. Alfred Derouin, Mrs. L. C. Burwell, Jr., and Mrs. Michael Pishko. Mrs. Lawrence Johnson is handling the sale in Aberdeen, and in Southern Pines, Mrs. Robert Ewing, Mrs. Donald Kennedy, Mrs. D. W. Winkelman and Mrs. John Ostrum serve on the ticket committee.

Ticket holders for the dinner must make their own reservations by calling the Dunes Club.

PROGRAM FROM BEHIND IRON CURTAIN WILL FEATURE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

World Day of Prayer will be observed at the Southern Pines Methodist Church tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock with a program which comes from behind the Iron Curtain in Europe. Each year it comes from a different country. Women from the various churches will participate.

"Who shall separate us?" will be the theme of the observance, the purpose of which is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad.

This will be the 71st observance of World Day of Prayer, which began in 1887, and which is sponsored by United Church Women, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. On the first Friday in Lent, thousands of Christians in the United States and around the world will be united in a service of prayer and thanksgiving—prayer for a better world and thanksgiving for Christian unity.

Services begin on the Tonga Islands, west of the International Date Line, where Queen Salote leads her subjects in prayer. Throughout the day observances are held in 142 countries, closing with services on St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

The home mission part of this year's offering has been earmarked for a ministry among agricultural migrants, low-income farming communities, and Indian Americans; the foreign mission share will be used for education for Christian leadership, Christian literature for women and children, projects for village children, rehabilitation and village improvement, Christian broadcasting and promoting friendly relations with foreign students.

Churches in Southern Pines take turns in acting as hostess for the World Day of Prayer observance, and this will be the first such meeting to be held in the new Methodist Church. Women of all the churches are invited to attend.

Commissioners Get Another Request For Negro Agent

The need for a Negro farm agent in Moore County has grown rapidly in the past few years and has now reached the point where "some Negro farmers might not make it in the future if improved agricultural methods are not provided," the County commissioners were told Monday.

Carson Brower of Carthage, Negro farmer who has been a member of several delegations in recent years attempting to persuade the commissioners that a farm agent was needed, said that most Negro farmers in the county do not have enough "know-how" to produce more than one crop each year. The employment of an agent would, he pointed out, help to alleviate the problem, which could become a sore spot in the county's economy if left alone.

"If I ever did need the Lord before, I need Him now," Brower said, quoting an old Negro spiritual. "And that's the way we feel about a county agent. We need him now, and desperately."

Brower, accompanied to the meeting by four other Negroes, including J. J. Jeffries, district supervisor of the State's Extension Service, said the 20 per cent cut in tobacco allotments this year would be a serious economic blow to Negro farmers, mostly

ON VIEW MONDAY

Next Art Exhibition At Library To Feature Father-Daughter Work

A father-daughter exhibition will be the next offering of the Library Gallery committee.

Starting Monday, Emily Forrest, (Mrs. Maxwell Forrest) will show a few of her recent paintings and plans to exhibit with them some of the work of her father, the late James Cook McKell.

Mr. McKell, who was an illustrator, was a Philadelphian, but had visited the Sandhills several times. On one of these occasions, he painted a picture of the lake at Lakeview, which he gave to his daughter and which Mrs. Forrest hopes to include, space permitting, in next week's show.

A specialist in the illustration of "westerns", the Philadelphia artist worked almost entirely in oils. Following his death, at Easter-time last year, Mrs. Forrest brought down from Philadelphia a few of the canvasses not placed in storage with the major portion of her father's work. Among them are several which won prizes at the annual Philadelphia Sketch Club picnics, informal spring gatherings of that group of talented people.

Mrs. Forrest has exhibited in the Library Gallery several times. She works primarily in oils with portraiture her special field. Among her portraits of children are paintings of Julia and John McMillan, children of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. McMillan, and David and Betsy Lynch, Mrs. K. N. McColl's grandchildren, from Bennington, S. C.

Besides her own painting, Mrs. Forrest has taught art classes both here and at Ft. Bragg. Her own background training brought her a degree from the Pennsylvania School of Fine Arts, followed by several years as a fashion artist at Wanamaker's, before she turned entirely to creative painting.

She and her husband live at 545 Orchard Road. Mr. Forrest is at the head of Angus Mills, Inc., of Vass.

Girl Scout Week To Be Observed Here March 10-16

Girl Scout Week is being observed throughout the country next week. The Central Carolina Girl Scout Council, of which Moore County is a part, has planned several special programs for the observance.

This year is the 45th anniversary of the day in 1912 when Juliette Gordon Low called together a group of 12 girls in Savannah, Ga., who voted to set up the first girls' troop.

Principal emphasis for 1957 is "Girl Scouting is a Family Affair." Special efforts will be made during Girl Scout Week to demonstrate that scouting is an influence for good and to underscore the importance of supporters of the movement.

There are almost three million men, women and girls connected with the organization.
