East Defeats West In First State All-Star Girls' Basketball Game

The East team, with four players from Moore County, defeated the West, 99-79, before some 1,700 spectators in the first annual State All-Star girls basketball tournament in the Robbins gym Saturday night.

Thirty of North Carolina's outstanding girl basketball players, with 15 on each squad, participated in the game. Every section of the state was represented in the game.

Representatives from this county were Betty Lou McFarland, Aberdeen, Patti Hobbs, Southern Pines, Frances Kirby, Carthage, and Shirley Britt, Robbins.

In pre-game ceremonies W. D. Carmichael, Jr., of the University of North Carolina, presented plaques to each of the players and coaches on behalf of Governor Luther Hodges.

Forward Catherine Bolton of Rich Square and Betty Lou McFarland of Aberdeen were high scorers for the East team: Miss Bolton pumped in 28 points to lead both squads, and Miss McFarland had 22. For the West, which trailed at halftime 53-42, Betty Bowles of Iredell (County) Central, with 15 points, Shirley Gilbert of Lincolnton, with 16, and Faye Garrison of Stanley with 16 were top scorers.

After the score had been tied four times in the first quarter the East All-Stars began pulling steadily away midway the second quarter. The last deadlock was 32-32. In the third period the West outscored the East by one point, but in the final period, the East scored 25; the West only 15.

The game was considered a tremendous success. Robbins' churches and civic clubs played the role of perfect host, serving the girls meals during their stay. All players were quartered in private homes. The girls were also escorted on tours and feted at several parties.

Howard Matthews To Head County's Poultry Growers

Howard Matthews, poultry grower of Route 3, Carthage, was elected president of the Moore County Poultry Association at an organizational meeting of the group Friday night in Carthage.

Matthews, along with other members of the organization, will work closely with the Central Carolina Poultry Association on problems of the poultry industry.

Other officers elected were Carson Jenkins, Jackson Springs, vice-president, and Clinton P. Campbell, Carthage, secretary-treasurer.

The annual count of livestock on farms January 1 showed fewer cattle, hogs and sheep than at the beginning of 1956.

Using a mulch in the home garden will do at least five good things: conserve moisture, control weeds and grass, protect roots, prevent water run-off, and keep vegetables cleaner.
