

WEST END NEWS

Dress Revue
On Thursday night, April 11, the second year Home Economics class presented their annual spring dress revue to the West End Woman's Club.

The grand prize was won by Edna Monroe, who modeled a flattering black and white princess line dress with the center front and center back panels extending over the shoulders to form a wide collar.

Second prize was awarded Carolyn Williams, who wore a navy sheath basic dress with lined polka dot cape and cummerbund. Sarah Black captured third place in an aqua empire-waisted, flare-skirted dress trimmed with a bias band and bow at the seam joining the waist and skirt.

Mrs. M. C. McDonald, Jr., was in charge of the program and presented the prizes to the girls in behalf of the club. Mrs. Ruth Klingenschmidt and Mrs. Betty Morgan served as judges.

Those participating were Cassie Gibson, Mary Frances Freeman, Lou Ellen Hill, Sarah Joyce, Dorothy Furr, Sherrie Upole, Carolyn Williams, Sarah Black, Sarah Pusser, Joyce Martin, Edna Monroe, Jean Hill, Carolyn Thomas, Vicki Hicks, Gerolene Thomas, Lois Godfrey, and Carol Blake.

This fashion show was the highlight of the club year, with Mrs. Ruth T. Brooks, the popular home economics teacher, in charge.

On Friday morning at 9 o'clock the dress revue was held during chapel exercises. At this time Hilda Richardson and Hilda Chisholm were responsible for the decorations. The dress revue has become one of the highlights of the school year.

The Girl Scouts were also guests of the Woman's Club, and the intermediate troop with their leader, Mrs. A. J. Hanner, conducted the flag ceremony.

The Senior Scouts with their leader, Mrs. Floyd Upole, presented a skit on "Litterbug." The girls are working on their five-point service program.

The club members, girls and their mothers enjoyed a social hour in the Home Economics department following the meeting, with Miss Alberta Monroe, Mrs. E. R. Outland and Mrs. Harold Markham as hostesses.

WCS Meets
The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Montgomery-

Moore Subdistrict met at the Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. R. A. Fitzgerald of Candor presiding. The group was welcomed by the local president, Miss Lucile Eifort, and Mrs. H. B. Miller of Troy gave the response.

Special music, "I Know Him," was given by Mrs. Pearce Layfield, Miss Blanche Monroe and Mrs. Paul VonCanon, with Miss Dorothy Leigh VonCanon accompanying at the organ. A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. L. C. Larkin, district secretary of Spiritual Life. Mrs. H. R. Odum, president of the Fayetteville district, recognized all district officers and heard reports from WSCS presidents of the various churches.

An address was given by Mrs. Pierce Johnson, president of the Conference WSCS.

The local organization served supper to the group in the youth building with Mrs. Fred Monroe as chairman.

Junior-Senior Banquet
On Friday evening the Junior Class of the high school honored the Senior Class at a banquet in the school cafeteria. A program, "The Rock and Roll Revue," was presented by the juniors, with the cafeteria transformed into a night club. Highlighting the evening fun was the presentation of significant gifts to each member of the Senior Class.

Eugene Blake, president of the Junior Class, welcomed the guests, and Joe Eifort, Senior Class president, responded. Clifton Munn gave the invocation.

In addition to the seniors, other guests included Supt. and Mrs. H. Lee Thomas of Carthage, the high school faculty, the school board and grade parents. A supper of roast turkey with all the trimmings was served by member of the Methodist Church. Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed at the Legion hut.

Sandspur Club
The Sandspur Club of West End had its annual guest night April 11 at the West End Legion hut. The social committee serving as hostesses included Mrs. Lee Sutherland, chairman, Mrs. Everett Cole and Mrs. North Lewis.

A covered dish supper was enjoyed by the members, who had their husbands as guests. Eighteen other guests who represented the other clubs and churches in the community were there.

Frank Yandell, Boy Scout executive for Moore County, from Southern Pines, spoke to the group on Community Recreation.

A discussion followed and the club will make a survey concerning interest in community recreation.
