

TO FORT STEWART, GA.

National Guard Leaving Saturday For Annual Two-Week Encampment

National Guardsmen of the Moore County tank company will leave early Saturday morning by motor convoy for two weeks of intensive field training at Fort Stewart, Georgia.

At the annual summer camp, the highlight of the training year for the local Guardsmen, the men of the unit will undergo training in firing their tank guns as well as the 50 caliber machine gun and "bazooka." A feature of the training period will be a "live firing" tank platoon problem. Preliminary training in tank gunnery has been conducted at the armory and during weekends at Fort Bragg since January.

The summer training will halt temporarily the current drive for additional members. Twenty-one new guardsmen will be attending their first summer camp next week, and six more new members will be on active duty for training at Fort Jackson, S. C., while the local company is away at camp.

Captain William J. Wilson, commanding officer of the Moore County unit, said this week that he was "very much pleased with the training and appearance of the company. I think we have the best group of non-commissioned officers we have ever had and our new recruits are showing a lot of interest in the unit and their training."

Wilson cited a number of the members of the unit for their participation in the annual Aberdeen "Farmer's Day" parade, and singled out for particular praise the unit's drill team, under the leadership of Sgt. Fred L. McKenzie, which provided a firing squad for the Memorial Day services at the Mount Hope cemetery in Southern Pines.

Several promotions were announced at the regular drill this week, including Sgt. Jack L. Barron of Southern Pines, promoted to sergeant first class, and James Baxter of West End, promoted to specialist second class.

Privates Jerry Sewell, Rex Venable and Burnice Thompson were promoted to private first class. The last three are the first local Guardsmen to complete the new six-months training program now available to Guard enlistees.

Psychology Bill Killed In Senate

After making its way successfully through the House, and receiving a favorable report from the Senate Health committee, the "anti-quack" bill met quick death Tuesday morning in the hands of a new Senate committee.

It had been unexpectedly tossed into the lap of the Judiciary committee and a public hearing set on very short notice.

This was the third public hearing which had been held in connection with the measure, which would set up a professional board to certify psychologists by education, training and degrees. It was aimed at the charlatan or poorly trained person practicing as a psychologist.

No criticism was offered as to the objectives of the bill, which appeared to meet the lethal blow because of differences among psychologists themselves as to the best way to achieve them. Five college professors said they felt they needed no certification, and suggested the bill be revised to cover only the clinical field. No amendments were offered, however, and the unfavorable report was voted mainly on the ground that a better bill might be devised.

Medical opposition was presented on the ground that the State Medical Practices Act would have "eventually" taken care of a recent bad situation in Southern Pines. The opposition

Ruth Muse, 4-H Club Leader In County, Resigns

Mrs. Ruth Current Muse, assistant home agent in Moore County for the past several years, has resigned effective July 1, the county Board of Commissioners were told Monday.

Recommended for her replacement is Mrs. Joe Currie of Southern Pines.

Mrs. Muse, who worked with 4-H Clubs in the county, gave personal reasons for her resignation.

The commissioners also learned Monday that the State may wait until July before replacing W. C. Scoggins on the Welfare Board. His term would have expired then, Mrs. Walter Cole, welfare superintendent, told them, and, though several names have been recommended to the State as replacements, no official action has been taken.

Other members of the board are Mrs. W. P. Davis of Southern Pines and E. H. Garrison of Carthage.

presentation was in charge of John H. Anderson, Jr., lobbyist for the North Carolina Medical Society.

Proponents were represented by Rep. H. Clifton Blue, introducer, with others, of the bill in the House; Dr. L. J. Borstelmann of Duke University, and on the staff of the Durham Child Guidance Clinic, official representative of the sponsoring North Carolina Psychological association; Dr. Kelly of the Duke University teaching staff, and Mrs. Valerie Nicholson of Southern Pines.
