Mrs. McCain Gives Recipe For Retirement: Slow Down Long Enough To Plan Europe Trip

"I just decided it was time for me to get back home and do what I wanted to do!"

So Mrs. Paul P. McCain (called "Sadie" just about everywhere), described one reason for resigning her position as Dean of Women at Flora Macdonald College as announced last week.

But she was quick to add a qualifying sentence: "I loved it—don't make any mistake about that! I loved the girls and I loved the people I worked with. Being with the college was fine experience. Just the same, it will be good to slow down, at least for a bit."

But it soon became evident that by "slow down," Sadie didn't mean what most people mean. Or by "staying at home",

In the very next sentence she was telling about the trip she planned for this summer. It is to start in July and will include the Scandinavian countries and the English lake district. . . and anything else in England and Scotland that she can squeeze into her itinerary.

"And then, home? And where will that be?"

Home will still be here; and that's good news, for at one time she had thought of selling her home on Ridge Street. But also she plans to take a room in Wilson where two of her children will soon be settled.

"I always said," she said, "that if just two of my children got in one place, I'd come too."

These two are Dr. John McCain and Dr. Irene, Mrs. Dan McFarland. The former has already been practicing in Wilson for some time and the McFarlands and their two boys will move soon to join them, Dr. Dan to head the history department to Atlantic Christian College, and Dr. Irene doubtless to give her medical brother a little competition.

And then, of course, there is the thought of her youngest daughter, Jane Todd, and her husband, the Rev. Sam Reagan, in far-off Japan. It's a fair guess that Sadie has already got some Japanese time tables tucked away somewhere ready for use within the next few years. "I HAVE to go to see Jane Todd and the babies," she says. (But not to see Japan, Sadie?)

Before Mrs. McCain left the college, it was announced that the students had asked, and been granted, the privilege of naming the second floor West hall "McCain Hall" in honor of their beloved dean.

Among the gifts presented to her on her departure was a set of airplane luggage marked with a Scottish motif, the gift of the student body. From the alumnae came a silver tray inscribed to Mrs. McCain. The presentation speech, made by Miss Mary Archie Brown, head of the student body, is printed below.

"I have come on behalf of the F. M. C. Alumnae Association to pay tribute to one of the best known and best loved women in our state and certainly the best known and best loved person at F. M. C., Mrs. Paul P. McCain.

"It is impossible to list the great realm of activities in which Mrs. McCain has been a part, giving devotion, leadership and timeless service. Before coming to F. M. C. as Dean of Women in 1950, she was an outstanding figure in state education, state governmental affairs, religious activities, state medical activities, and social activities. When she came to Flora Macdonald the enormity of her giving of self was crowned with the greatest of all tasks—that of shaping the lives of young women here. She has worked with life itself.

"In the past seven years, Mrs. McCain has given more to the forming of the destinies of every girl here than any other person in this college.

"While I was talking with one of our faculty members the other day it was said that the sole guiding force in Mrs. McCain's life could be said in one word, Love. To me, this is the key to her life. She loves life, she knows the value of it, and lives every moment of it to the fullest, revealing always the Spirit of Our Lord. Mrs. McCain, in her twenty-four hour schedule here, has not only given understanding, patience, love, help, kindness, and guidance to each girl, but she has given her very self to the making of Christian Womanhood.

"We F. M. C. girls have gone forth from this college stamped with something words cannot express. It dwells in the quietness of our inner selves, yet it is reflected in all that we do or say. This something can only be expressed in the life of Mrs. McCain, our Mother always. Mrs.

McCain, this gift is just a small expression of our love and thanks."
