Ladies' Night

The Methodist Men's Club observed Ladies' Night last Thursday by entertaining at a dinner meeting at the Dutch Farm Inn. A delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served by candlelight in a Christmas setting.

The Rev. Fant Steele gave the invocation, and C. L. Tyson welcomed the ladies. Mrs. G. E. Griffin responded. A. G. Edwards, Jr., program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, L. L. Woolley of Southern Pines, who kept the group highly entertained for some time with a round of jokes, followed by an inspiring message in serious vein.

Attending the dinner were H. A. Borst, president of the Methodist Men's Club, and Mrs. Borst, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Edwards, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Horace Mullinix, Mr. and Mrs. Roby Futrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tyson and Mrs. S. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Griffin, Rev. and Mrs. Fant Steele, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Caddell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lassiter, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. McMillan, Mrs. W. L. Frye, W.

H. Frye, George Morgan, Henry Borst, and H. P. Davis, of the Vass Methodist Church, and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Woolley of Southern Pines.

Christmas Pageant

"The Holy Nativity," a Christmas pageant, will be presented by members of the Vass Methodist Youth Fellowship, assisted by several others, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, December 22. A brief worship service will precede the pageant, with special music by a group of children. The public is invited to attend.

Joy Gift Service

The annual Joy Gift Christmas program will be given at Cypress Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. on Christmas Eve.

Music Recital

Mrs. Herbert McInnis presented her piano pupils in a recital at the school Sunday afternoon, with parents and special guests in attendance. After the program punch and cookies were served.

Service Well Attended

A crowd which practically filled the Vass Presbyterian Church attended the Christmas pageant, "Christmas Angels," presented last Sunday night. The Rev. A. C. Trivette presided during the opening exercises, during which he explained the annual Joy Gift, for retired ministers and their widows, and an offering was made.

The pageant, presented in an attractive setting, featured Christmas angels, the manger scene, shepherds, Wise Men, carolers, choir, and a number of children. David Crockett was the reader, and the production, which was very impressive and carried a real Christmas message, was directed by Mrs. W. E. Gladstone.

There will be no service at the Presbyterian Church the fourth Sunday night, the pastor announced.

Woman's Club

Fifteen members of the Vass Woman's Club went to Sanford last Friday evening to see the Christmas decorations and arrangements at Frank's flower shop. They were delighted with what they saw, and gained many ideas which they planned to put into practice.

The group returned to the home of Mrs. Henry Klingenschmidt for the business and social program. The president, Mrs. Charles Ray Pope presided, and plans were made for spreading

Christmas cheer and for serving dinner for the Angus Mills' annual Christmas party, to be held December 20 at the Vass community house.

Mrs. P. A. Wilson, chairman of the Garden Department, was thanked for making arrangements for the trip to Sanford, which took the place of the regular program.

The hostesses, Mrs. Klingenschmidt and Mrs. S. R. Smith, served coconut cake and coffee. Favors were corsages made of greenery and peppermints, on lace paper and foil foundations.

Those visiting Frank's were Mrs. C. R. Pope, Mrs. A. D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Jack Morgan, Mrs. R. G. Rosser, Mrs. Charlie Gschwind, Mrs. Howard Gschwind, Mrs. N. N. McLean, Mrs. C. L. Tyson, Mrs. A. V. Autry, Mrs. Charles Cameron, Mrs. C. P. McMillan, Mrs. P. A. Wilson, Mrs. W. H. Keith, Mrs. A. G. Edwards, Jr., and Mrs. S. R. Smith.

Attend Funeral

Mrs. I. W. Key's brother-in-law, Luther Morgan of China Grove, died Tuesday. Going from Vass to attend the funeral Wednesday were Mrs. Key, Mr. and Mrs. James Key, and Mrs. Herbert Caddell.

Circles Meet

The Jane McGill Circle of the Presbyterian Church met last week with its chairman, Mrs. Ben H. Wood, who presided over the business session. Plans for spreading Christmas cheer were made. Mrs. C. C. Crockett presented a Christmas program and Mrs. P. A. Wilson led the Bible study. A salad course and Christmas cookies were served.

Circle 1 met Monday night at the home of Mrs. M. M. Chappell with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Jessup of Sanford, as hostess. Mrs. Kenneth Hinsley was in charge of the program and Mrs. Jessup led the Bible study. Plans were made for helping a family at Christmas.

Family Supper

A family Christmas supper will be held at the Vass Baptist Church at 6:30 Monday evening, to be followed by the singing of carols, and a Christmas tree.

A Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hudson are the parents of a third daughter, born at Lee County Hospital Monday, December 16, weighing seven pounds, 15 ounces. Their other children are Connie Sue and Marsha Kaye.
