JR. WOMAN'S CLUB HAS AS SPEAKER TRAINING DIRECTOR AT BUTNER SCHOOL

Hal K. Goode, director of the training program at Butner Training School, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Southern Pines, held Tuesday evening at the Church of Wide Fellowship.

The speaker explained that the State of North Carolina now operates five separate institutions at Butner, since purchasing this former army camp. They are: a mental hospital, a blind rehabilitation center, Umstead Training School, which is under the direction of the Prison Department, an alcoholic rehabilitation center, and the newest addition, Butner Training School for mentally retarded boys and girls, with which he is connected.

There are at present 492 children at Butner School, he said, but with the completion of four buildings now under construction there will be accommodations for some 1,200.

Children of the State are eligible who are six years of age or older and whose IQ is less than 70. They are divided into three groups: for custodial care, those who are trainable and those who are educable, the speaker explained. There is a full time chaplain at the school.

State funds provide the necessities, but extras, such as toys and pictures for the rooms must come from other sources.

Members of the club brought gifts to the meeting to send to the children by Mr. Goode. Junior clubs throughout the State have the Butner Training School and the Caswell Training School as special projects. Garments for the Clothing Closet project in Moore County were also taken to the meeting.

Mrs. Bill Graham, Jr., chairman of the club's Caswell-Butner Committee, introduced the speaker.

During the business session plans for the annual Christmas party were discussed, also for a bazaar and bake sale to be held on Friday, December 12.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Raymond Griffin, Mrs. Carl Wallace, Mrs. Roger Gibbs and Mrs. Bill Graham, Jr.

Mrs. Harlow Pearson Named Director Moore Memorial Hospital Volunteers

Mrs. Harlow Pearson of Southern Pines has been appointed Director of Volunteers of Moore Memorial Hospital in Pinehurst, according to an announcement made at last week's fall meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The appointment was made through the combined efforts of the hospital administrator and the Auxiliary, who felt that the urgent need for some one to act as official liaison between the hospital and the volunteers. Mrs. Pearson will be on the regular professional staff of the hospital.

Hospital officials hope that under her leadership an orientation program for new volunteers will be possible, and also training for any others who may wish to help in various ways.

Volunteer service is a well established necessity in the daily operations of Moore Memorial. The program provides opportunities for the performance of tasks vital to the welfare and happiness of the patients. It was first initiated in 1952, during the presidency of the late Miss Laura Kelsey, who felt that the auxiliary should serve as well as give, and since that time many volunteers in cherry-red smocks have been seen daily performing duties previously done by the staff.

A delicious buffet supper was enjoyed by members and guests. There was a large birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Garty and decorated in blue and gold, the VFW colors.

Commander Ernest Klabbatz of the Post and several new and prospective members were special guests.
