The leading female role will be played by Mrs. Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines. She has had previous experience with the Pinehurst "Scandals" in song and dance numbers and in musicals in college.

Supporting roles are played by: Miss Gary Sutherland who majored in dramatics at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., where she worked on sets, lighting and scenery. She also worked back stage on "Light Up The Sky."

Mrs. C. E. Millsbaugh of Southern Pines. She will be remembered for her role as "Irene," the leading lady of "Light Up The Sky." She also appeared in plays in college.

Ed Willis of Southern Pines. Ed is an associate with Hayes-Howell & Associates, Architects. He appeared in the senior play at his high school in Lumberton. This is his first experience with a community theatre.

Miss Jane Wicker of Southern Pines. Jane is a Junior at Southern Pines High School where she is a member of the Masque Club. She also appeared in the Pinehurst Playhouse production of "Auntie Mame" in the role of Gloria Upson.

Miss Glenda Martin of Southern Pines. Glenda is a secretary with Barnum Realty & Insurance Company. Glenda is a graduate of the Dale Carnegie course. This is her first appearance with a community theatre.

SPHS Baseball Team Defeats Aberdeen High

At Memorial Field Tuesday afternoon, Aberdeen scored twice in the second on one hit and four bases on balls.

Joe Garzik scored three runs on one hit and four walks. He relieved Don Thompson and pitched shutout balls for the last five innings.

The Knights pushed four runs in the fifth inning without a hit. Two infield errors and three walks put the locals in the lead and they won.

Garzik was the winning pitcher for the Blue Knights.

The only hit of the game was a single by Aberdeen's Whitlock in the second inning. Southern Pines will play Greenwood here next Tuesday.

GOVERNOR

(Continued from page 1) the International Paper Co., who gave the principal address of the program; and a number of officials of the railroad, paper companies, chemical companies, state and federal agencies and others concerned with wood use or production.

The program opened earlier in the morning, after a special Seaboard train from Raleigh had brought more than 250 persons here for the various events, including many members of the General Assembly.

Eighth District Congressman A. Paul Kitchin of Wadesboro could not be present as scheduled to make the address of welcome. His place was taken by State Rep. H. Clifton Blue of Moore County, who arrived on the train with other members of the Assembly.

Acting as master of ceremonies and general organizer of the program was R. N. Hoskins, general forestry agent of the Seaboard, of Richmond, Va.

Members of the home economics class at Aberdeen High School prepared some 2,000 sandwiches which were served with coffee and soft drinks, courtesy of the Seaboard, to persons attending the demonstration. Future Farmers of America members of the same school served as guides to the demonstrations which included working models of various machines and equipment, including a sawmill, as well as demonstrations of a wide variety of actual equipment used in forestry practices and timber and pulpwood production and manufacturing.

The special train was greeted by the East Southern Pines High School band and majorettes when it arrived from Raleigh Wednesday morning.

SGT. SEAWELL

(Continued from page 1) worked for Robbins Mills at Aberdeen and then enlisted in the Army, serving three years with an anti-aircraft radar unit and attaining the rank of sergeant. Discharged in 1953, he operated a sandwich shop and pool room in Aberdeen for two years and then worked about 10 months with the Western Auto Associate store in Aberdeen before joining the Southern Pines police department.

Sgt. Seawell and his wife, the former Nancy Averitt of Aberdeen, live at 140 W. Rhode Island Ave. They have three children, Susan, 8; Earl Stanley, Jr., who will be four in July and Charles Samuel, seven months old.

Sgt. Seawell is a member of Bethesda Presbyterian Church, Aberdeen, and was active in the Jaycees when he lived at Aberdeen. He was treasurer of the organization before he moved to Southern Pines. He has done Boy Scout Committee work here and is a member of the Moore County Law Enforcement Officers Association on whose board of directors he served for two years.

for a majority of the race, building up a lead of 10 or 15 lengths and looking like a sure winner, but he tipped the timber and threw his rider at the 10th fence. Hunt Ball then took over, with Silver Breeze overtaking and passing Valley Hart to win second place, but unable to catch Hunt Ball on the final stretch. The time was a fast 5:01.0.

The card also featured the Yackin Cup, a mile and a half over hurdles, and the Stoneybrook Open Hurdle Race, about a mile and three-quarters, also over hurdles.

Romeo, owned by Mrs. Mary A. Rumsey of Unionville, Pa., won the Stoneybrook, beating out James P. Selvage's Grotto Prince, an Irish import who had won six straight races abroad. Romeo was the winner of last fall's $50,000 Temple Gwathmey handicap at Belmont Park. Bob McDonald rode him, Saturday while Tommy Walsh was Grotto Prince's rider.

In third and fourth spots were Mrs. Lawrence W. Knapp, Jr.'s Brannagh, ridden by Pat Graham, and Guilford Dudley's Rotal, with A. Dufton riding. There were only four entries.

Only three of the six starters finished the Yackin, won by Mrs. Knapp's Fiery Fox, with A. Galvin riding. George-Ma-Boy threw his rider at the first hurdle, Midnight Snack tossed his at the third, Glad Drums went down next, and Random Sample fell at the last jump.

With four down in a six-horse race—first on the program to start the meeting off with thrills aplenty for the spectators—Glad Drums' rider, K. Nesky, was able to remount after his fall and finish third. The horse is owned by Mrs. M. G. Walsh of Southern Pines.

Richard D. Webb's Iota, ridden by N. Funk, placed second. None of the other thrown riders were able to remount.

In all the day's spills, there were no serious injuries to horses or riders.

Tommy Walsh brought Mrs. Knapp's Nautilus, trained by M. G. (Mickey) Walsh, owner of the Stoneybrook course, in first in The Silver Run, a seven-furlong flat race on the turf, which, even with three entries scratched, saw 11 horses running, one of which, Lillamme, lost its rider.

Two Lloyd P. Tate horses placed in this race, Watauga, coming in second, and Come About, fourth. Mrs. Nancy Sweet-Escott's Legitimate, was third.

In the Appalachian, a mile and a half over hurdles, the Arbywood Stables' Rhythm Master ridden by Tommy Walsh, overtook the leading Hurst Park, a Guilford Dudley, Jr., horse; ridden by A. Dufton, to take first money. Coming in third in the three-horse contest was Mrs. Walsh's Billy Saxet, with P. Graham riding.

In the unsanctioned second race, a two-year-old trial on the flat, Lloyd P. Tate rode his Sherry R. to victory, followed by James H. Stone riding his Payola, Tommy Walsh riding an unnamed horse of Charles W. Stitzer who is president of the Stoneybrook Hunt Racing Association; and another Stone horse, Seurat, in fourth place.

In the Children's race, run 45 minutes before the regular program, Mike Adams, at nine years old the youngest rider in the event (riders had to be under 15) brought his Smokey in first.

Second was Susan Webber on her Crest of Arms, followed in third place by Susan Huntley riding her Fine, the horse that won the children's race for her last year.

Mule Race

In a mule race in which, according to the printed race program, Gov. Terry Sanford was scheduled to ride, Roy Wilder, Jr., assistant to Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles, director of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development, rode in place of the Governor who did not attend the race meeting.

Other competitors in the novelty event were Mr. Bowles; Col. Henry J. Mueller of Fort Bragg, who attended the race meeting as a substitute for the scheduled Major Gen. Dwight E. Beach, commander of the 82nd Airborne Division who was unable to attend because of a military commitment; and Ray Reeve, sports director of WRAL-TV television station at Raleigh.

Col. Mueller was the winner, followed by Mr. Reeves and Mr. Bowles. Mr. Wilder lost his seat on his mule early in the race—a little over one furlong on the flat—and walked in. Though he complained of no injuries at the time, subsequent examination showed pulled ligaments in his chest and side and he had to receive medical treatment.

Brazil, the largest wheat importer in Latin America, imports from 50 to 70 million bushels annually—mainly from Argentina and the U. S.

RACES

But Grey Baby, trained as a flat race performer who was taking his first start over timber, went out at the first jump. Glendower had it all his way
