

FRIDAY, SATURDAY
Grand Opening of
New Gantt Gas
Building Slated

The public was reminded this week by William Gantt, head of the Gantt Propane Gas Company, that open house will be held at the company's new building on No. 1 highway between Southern Pines and Aberdeen, Friday and Saturday. The building is located on the east side of the highway at the Highway 15-501 intersection with No. 1.

In connection with the grand opening of the company's new offices and display room in the building, a gas range and a nine-burner gas tobacco curing outfit will be given away at 5 p. m. Saturday. Full details can be obtained at the new building Friday or Saturday.

New gas heating and other equipment will be displayed. The Gantt firm bought out the former Parker Gas Co. and now operates a metered propane gas service throughout this area.

District Doctors
Meet Next Week;
Sanford to Speak

Practically all physicians of this area will attend part or all of the two-day Fifth District Medical Society meeting to be held here at the Carolina Hotel Wednesday and Thursday of next week, with Governor Terry Sanford as banquet speaker.

The banquet will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., with Dr. James L. Richardson of Laurinburg, president of the Society presiding.

Scotland will be the host county for the meeting, and other counties included are Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Lee, Moore, Richmond and Robeson. Dr. Charles Phillips of Southern Pines is chairman on arrangements.

Registration starts at 12 noon on Wednesday, with that afternoon and Thursday morning given over to talks on medical subjects by four distinguished visiting doctors and also by Horace Cotton of Southern Pines, medical management expert and executive editor of the magazine Medical Economics, who will moderate a panel on "Life Estate Planning."

A golf tournament will be held Thursday afternoon. Special events have been planned for the ladies.

TOP GRADUATE—Capt. James E. Harrington, Jr., of Pinehurst (left) is congratulated by a staff officer of the Armored Officer Associate Career Course at Fort Knox, Ky., on his recent graduation there as top man in his class, winning him the designation of honor graduate. Capt. Harrington, who is commander of Moore County National Guard unit, Co. D, 2d Medium Tank Btn., 196th Armor, attended the course from late in April to early September. He is a son of Mrs. Berenice Harrington of Southern Pines and is a 1949 graduate of Virginia Military Institute. He is the assistant secretary of Pinehurst, Inc. During his absence Lt. Ralph Horner of Pinehurst served as acting National Guard company commander. In the photo, the officer is giving Captain Harrington an inscribed cigarette box, to mark the occasion. He was also given an inscribed plaque.

593 ATTEND FROM 2 STATES

80 Members Sandhills Kiwanis Club
74 Wives, Host to District Convention

Members of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club turned out 80-strong to host the 41st annual convention of the Carolinas District of Kiwanis International last week—a three-day event attended by 593 Kiwanians and their wives from North and South Carolina, concluding Friday.

Moore County registration also showed 74 wives of Sandhills Club members attending. (See separate story in today's Pilot on fashion show staged for the ladies.)

Neil McKay of Southern Pines president-elect of the Sandhills Club, was chairman of the convention committee that staged what other club members say was one of the finest District conventions they have ever attended. Dr. C. Robert VanderVoort is president of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club.

Other members of the club, which draws its membership from throughout Moore County, heading various convention activities included: Dr. E. M. Medlin, golf tournament; James E. Harrington, Jr., skeet shoot; William C. Sledge, local arrangements; Dr. W. Harrell Johnson, program and entertainment; Lawrence McN. Johnson, ladies' program; L. B. Creath, registration; J. E. Sandlin, registration; Lt. Col. Frank Smith, publicity; and John Ponzer and Luther Adams, convention secretaries.

Col. Marion S. Lewis of Charleston, S. C., who is head of the Department of Business Administration at The Citadel, was elected governor of the district. Abraham Lincoln Faulk of Dunn was elected lieutenant governor of the fourth division of which the Sandhills Club is a unit. There are 10 divisions in the two Carolinas.

Dr. Moore Speaks
A highlight of the convention was the Friday morning address on "Securing the Blessings of Liberty" by Dr. Ansley C. Moore, president of St. Andrews College at Laurinburg.

With a phrase from the preamble of the Constitution as a take-off point, he urged frequent perusal of this document along with the Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, for those "who find themselves frustrated by Khrushchev, Castro and Mao."

He advised that people hark back to the period 1781-87 of our nation's history, "when, out of sweat and struggle, the clashing of minds and ideas, our forefathers hammered out the most fantastic system of checks and balances for the protection of the individual and the securing of liberty forever."

This "fantastic system" proved to have a most remarkable strength, reminded Dr. Moore, resistant to autocracy and tyranny in all forms, a government so good "it must be shared—we must open our doors to more and more."

To keep it firm, with liberty secured, "we must remember that government is something to live under, not on," added Dr. Moore, asking the question, "Are we strong enough, self-controlled enough, with sufficient mastery of our own desires, to make it worth having?"

Campaign to Aid Blind, Other Projects Continues

The annual White Cane Sale of the Southern Pines Lions Club—for benefit of aid to the blind and sight conservation—is scheduled to be completed by the end of the week, Jack Bowman, chairman of the campaign for the club, said today.

Personal solicitations are being made by club members in various sections of the town. Appeal letters have been sent to professional men and all businesses will be contacted, Mr. Bowman said.

The chairman praised the work of eight Girl Scouts who collected $156 in the business section Saturday between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Anyone who is not reached by a solicitor may contribute by sending a check made to the Southern Pines Lions Club White Cane Sale, to J. L. Bowman, 305 Hill Road.

Local Lions are joining with thousands of others over the state in sponsoring the aid to the blind and sight conservation program. Through the North Carolina Association for the Blind, a Lions project, funds for the North Carolina Eye Bank for Restoring Sight, Inc. will be available for the first time this year from the White Cane Sales. Many services for the blind and for persons needing eye treatment or correction, are provided by proceeds of the White Cane Sales, including persons aided locally in the area where the money is given.

Students to Get Certificates For Test Achievement

Certificates for outstanding performances on the National Educational Development tests will be presented to 11 Southern Pines High School students at a school assembly Wednesday, Principal Glenn L. Cox has announced.

The tests were given in March of this year to more than 366,000 9th and 10th grade classes over the nation, as prepared by Science Research Associates. Certificates are being given to students scoring in the top quarter of each state's participants. They covered English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences and word usage.

The results help students plan careers and help teachers provide guidance, Mr. Cox said.

Certificate winners are: 9th grade—Julia A. McMillan, Phillip L. McRee, Terry M. Smithson, Roberta J. Austin, Patricia Baldwin, Ellen E. Donovan, Kathy M. Dougherty and Lin B. Dunn; 10th grade—Ralph C. Hendren, Joseph S. Hiatt and Fraser K. O'Neil.

Vale Estate Sold
To Ohio Couple;
Vales Plan Build

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Vale, Jr. have sold their Youngs Road estate to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Morton of Kirtland, Ohio, near Cleveland, it was announced this week by George H. Leonard, Jr., of Resort Realty and Insurance Co., agents for the transaction.

The property consists of about 120 acres on which are located a large residence and nearby lake; a guest house converted from former stables; a farm with tenant house; and the greenhouses in which Mr. Vale pursued his hobby of raising an assortment of carnations which are displayed annually here. The purchase price, though not revealed by the agent, is reportedly in excess of $100,000.

Mr. Morton is an executive of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. Mr. Leonard said that Mr. Morton's plans for development and use of the property will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Vale and their four children are moving to the house at the corner of Maples Road and Crosscut Lane, which they have leased for a year from Chester J. Terrill, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C., formerly of Southern Pines. The Vales are acquiring land and expect to build in an area closer to Southern Pines than was the Youngs Road property.

SOFT WHEAT

North Carolina produces soft red winter wheat, which does not add to the national wheat surplus, according to George Spain, extension small grain specialist at N. C. State College. The carryover of soft red winter wheat as of June 30, 1961, was 12 million bushels. "This is about what the nation needs for a good working stock," says Spain. Wheats produced in the west account for the nation's huge wheat surpluses.

From 1865 to 1900, North Carolina's bright tobacco averaged 10 cents a pound. During the same time, the old-fashioned dark, fire-cured Virginia tobacco averaged six cents a pound.
