

Wildlife Club Members Urged Go to Convention

Dr. George Heinitch, president of the Moore County Wildlife Club, is urging all members to attend the Seventeenth Annual Convention of the N. C. Wildlife Federation, Inc. (affiliated with the National Wildlife Federation) being held November 2-4, at the O'Henry Hotel in Greensboro. The president of the National Wildlife Federation, Dr. Paul Herbert, of East Lansing, Mich., will deliver an address November 3 at 1. A highlight of the convention, will be the First Annual Conservation Awards Banquet, to be held at 7 November 3. Gov. Terry Sanford will present the State Awards.

The officers of the State Federation are: president, Dr. George Heinitch; vice-president Norman Perry; Central vice-president, R. W. McNairy; Western vice-president, Phil H. Bracewell; secretary, Chester W. Arnold, and treasurer, Turner W. Battle.

The Guilford County Wildlife Club and the Sportsman's Wildlife Club, both of Greensboro, are co-hosts for this convention. Albert S. Tufts, chairman of the club's homesite committee, called a meeting this week, with his project chairmen, to formulate plans for proposed construction. The deed for the land acquired has been recorded, and Mr. Tufts says he hopes to get the work done without delay.

The chairmen of the various sub-committees are as follows: D. D. S. Cameron, finance; Ralph T. Mills, sanitation and water; Felix Baker, lake; and Howard N. Butler, club house.

DEFEATS DR. MERCER, 1-UP

Bell Wins North & South Seniors

Robert Bell of Worthington, Ohio, won the 10th annual North and South Seniors golf championship at Pinehurst Saturday with a string of pars on the back nine good enough for a 1-up finals victory.

Bell's opponent, Dr. John C. Mercer of Fitchburg, Mass., ran into trouble with traps and bunkers and blew a two-up advantage he held at the turn.

Dr. Mercer could have squared the match on the crucial 17th hole but his 30-foot putt stopped on the lip of the cup.

Bell, who reached the finals by winning a 22-hole sudden death match with James H. Ackerman Friday, started poorly, but recovered when the back nine pressure was on. Ackerman is from Princeton, N. J.

Dr. Mercer gained his finals berth by a 2 and 1 victory over J. Walcott Brown of Seagirt, N. J., in Friday's semifinals. Brown is the 1958 North and South Seniors title holder.

Consolation Finals

In the championship flight consolation finals, Allen R. Rankin of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Bradford F. Oxnard of Providence, R. I., 3 and 2; while Richard H. Guelich, Jr. of Buffalo, N. Y. was winner of the President's Flight on Number Two, trouncing John W. McGuire of Martinsville, Ind., 6 and 5; with James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill. defeating Grant J. Campbell of Timonium, Md., 2 and 1, to take the consolation.

Over 300 golfers aged 55 and over played in the tournament which continued throughout last week.

THEATRE SUNRISE

Thrilling underwater action highlights Edward L. Alpersen's dramatic new presentation, "September Storm," on view at the Sunrise Theatre today (Thursday) and Friday at the Sunrise Theatre.

Shot in DeLuxe Color and Cinemascope, the adventure-romance stars Joanne Dru, Mark Stevens, Robert Strauss and Asher Dann.

Director Byron Haskin and his cast, spent more than three months on Majorca to film "September Storm" in authentic locales.

Shot on the spectacular resort island in the Mediterranean "September Storm" is the story of three international adventurers and a beautiful American girl who join forces to recover millions in Spanish gold from a sunken treasure ship.

A climactic feature of the story is a raging storm off the coast of Spain in which the treasure-hunters and their ship are almost lost. Sharks and the deadly Portuguese Man o' War threaten the skindivers at the very moment when a fortune is almost in their hands.

If North Carolina producers grew enough to supply the state's meat packing plants for 100 per cent production, it would add each year $19,507,000 to cattle income and $20,599,100 to hog income.

MOORE COUNTY RECORDER'S COURT

Second Attempt Made by Judge to Solve Problem of Strife-Torn Home

Another solution was attempted Monday by Judge J. Vance Rowe in Moore County Recorder's Court, in the problem of Junior Jordan, 18-year-old Robbins youth who was in court for the second successive week, charged with assault and battery on his mother.

Ordered last week by the judge to a term of 18 months in the Eastern Carolina Training School for Boys, a state institution, Jordan was taken to the school but could not be accepted there, because he had previously served two terms in prison camp, both as result of offenses involving his strife-torn home life. He returned to Moore County and the second charge of assault and battery was brought by his mother later last week.

In Monday's trial, Judge Rowe sentenced the youth to six months in the Moore County jail, assigned to work on the highways, the sentence suspended on these conditions:

That he arrange within 48 hours to live at the home of an uncle in Greensboro.

That he obtain some kind of work within the next six weeks.

That he be of good behavior and not violate the law within the next 12 months.

That he send word to the court on or before the second Monday in December that he has a job.

Charged jointly with Jordan in last week's trial for affray and assault and battery on his mother was his sister, Junedelight, 16, who was sent by Judge Rowe to the State Home and Industrial School for Girls at Samar-cand for a term to be determined by school authorities. She was taken there and was accepted and had no part in this week's case.

Other Cases
Other cases heard by Judge Rowe Monday:

James Crawford Stewart, Vass, drunken driving, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 fine and costs, driver's license to be revoked for 12 months; Clyde Criscoe, Route 2; Seagrove, failure to comply with a judgment of the court, three months on the roads, with recommendation that defendant be examined by a state or prison medical officer and do such work as advised by the doctor, sentence suspended on payment of $25 fine and costs and payment of $65 per month for the use and benefit of his son, Bradley Criscoe, 15, until further order of the court, appeal to Superior Court entered, bond set at $500; Clyde R. Monroe, Route 1, Fayetteville, speeding 80 in 55 zone, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $75 fine and costs, to surrender operator's license to be mailed to the Motor Vehicles Department for revocation; Minor Turner Steele, careless and reckless driving, not pros with leave on recommendation of arresting officer (in Army, can't be found).

Forfeitures Cancelled
The records on 11 bond forfeitures in cases dating from 1951 to 1956, and for bonds ranging in amount from $35 to $75, were stricken from the clerk of court's records, on recommendation of the auditor of the county's accounts. Judge Rowe's entry on the matter read:

"The auditor advises the court that in these cases the record indicated that bonds were required but the only record of the bonds is their forfeiture. The auditor thinks that no cash bond in any of the cases was actually made and he recommends that the cases be cancelled and retired from the docket."
"Therefore it is ordered that in these cases, the forfeiture be stricken out, it appearing to the satisfaction of the court that, from the statements of the auditor, no cash bond in any of them was actually deposited."

The boy was sent to Eastern Carolina Training School for Boys for 18 months and the girl was sent to the State Home and Industrial School for Girls at Samar-cand "for such period of time as the authorities of said school deem adequate and sufficient to train her in some useful work." She is to remain at the school until discharged by the authorities there.

Liquor Cases

Nannie Lou Marley, Hurley De Graffenried, Ernest Johnson and Mae Johnson, of Carthage, were each charged with possession of illicit whiskey. Cases against all defendants except Nannie Lou Marley were not pressed on recommendation of the arresting officer and the solicitor, and Nannie Lou Marley was given 30 days in jail suspended for 12 months on payment of $25 fine and costs and on condition that she not violate the prohibition law during that time.

Given 3 Choices

Ted Gardner, 56-year-old resident of Route 2, Robbins, was given the unusual privilege of taking his choice of three judgements handed down by Judge Rowe—but he rejected them all and appealed his conviction on a non-support charge to Superior Court. Bond was fixed at $350.

Gardner pleaded not guilty to failure to provide adequate support for two minor children, ages 16 and 5, but was found guilty. He then was given his choice of these three judgements:

1. Six months on the roads.
2. Pay the costs and return to his family and live with and support his wife and children to the best of his ability.

3. Pay the costs and also $25 in cash Monday, for benefit of his family, and pay $25 per week for his family until further order of the court.

The judge noted that if the defendant chose No. 2 or No. 3, his six months sentence would be suspended for two years and would go into effect only if he failed to comply with the judgment.

Other Cases
Other cases heard at Carthage

Monday:

Robert Lee Austin, Norfolk, Va., careless and reckless driving, accident, judgment, continued on payment of $25 and costs and pay damage to truck which his car hit; Ivey Lee Beane, Robbins, assault with deadly weapon on wife, six months on roads, suspended, on request of his wife, for two years on payment of $25 fine and costs and on condition of good behavior toward his wife and that he refrain from assaulting her, same defendant also charged with resisting arrest, four months on the roads, suspended for three years on payment of $50 fine and costs and on condition he not interfere with any police officer while in performance of duty, not resist arrest and otherwise be of good behavior; Andrew Marsh, Route 3, Carthage, drunken driving, 60 days on roads, suspended on payment of $100 fine and costs, operator's license to be revoked for 12 months.

Latta Smith, Raleigh, failure to provide adequate support for three minor children, disturbing peace, four months on roads, suspended on payment of $25 fine and costs and on payment of $25 per week to the clerk of court, beginning this week, for support of his three children, until April 1, 1962, and then to pay $30 per week until further order of the court; Oscar McGill Dunlay, Pinehurst, assault with intent to commit rape, probable cause found, defendant bound to Superior Court for trial, bond set at $750; Don L. Spencer, A. C. Spencer and John Spencer, assault with deadly weapon, A. C. and John found not guilty, Don L., 60 days on roads, suspended on payment of $25 and costs. Paul Gates Thompson, Star Route, Carthage, speeding 60 in 30 zone, $30 to include the costs.
