

Mrs. Stevens, 78, Dies; Rites Held Here Wednesday

Mrs. Mabel Brown Stevens, 78, wife of A. L. Stevens, died suddenly Sunday at her home. Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Powell Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Robert Mooney, pastor of the Southern Pines Methodist Church. Burial was in Mt. Hope Cemetery. A native of Ontario, Canada, she moved here with her husband in 1948 from New York State. Together, they owned and operated the Arlington Apartments on N. May St. Surviving are her husband, and one sister, Mrs. Wallace MacMillan of Carthage, N. Y.

THEY SING FOR FUN— With the opening concert of the Sandhills Music Association series to take place Sunday, attention is turning to music in this area and no more enthusiastic musical group can be found than the local Junior High School singers, some of whom are pictured here with their director, Mrs. Sara Hodgkins. They turn out to sing on their own time, 8 to 8:30 a.m., before school opens. The Junior High program for seventh and eighth students who volunteer for it is only one phase of an expanded and varied music program at East Southern Pines School which now has its own music room in which the group here is pictured. Student accompanists for the group are Katy and Gerry Gilmore, Marie Mangum, Livera Dyer, Jane McGoogan and Linn Daugherty. Because the size of the music room restricted camera range, others who sing with the Junior High Glee Club could not be pictured with this group. The attention and enthusiasm of the singers are apparent as Mrs. Hodgkins leads them in a lively song. (Pilot photo)

Jaycees Back State Ports Bond Issue, Take on Christmas Lighting Work Here

Meeting Tuesday night, the Southern Pines Jaycees passed a resolution supporting the State Ports bond issue which is one of the 10 issues on which Tar Heels will vote November 7.

Joining other Jaycee chapters over the state, the local young men noted in the resolution that the State Ports at Wilmington and Morehead City "cause monthly revenue in excess of one million dollars to be dumped into the economy of North Carolina" and that "this figure should almost double with the planned expansion of the two port facilities."

Shipping costs saved by North Carolina industries, because of the port facilities, mean savings for the consumer and more employment for Tar Heels, the resolution pointed out. Expected profits from port operations will pay about nine-tenths of the $13 1/2 million bond issue, the resolution stated. Revenues from the ports should thereafter pay for the expansion, it was stated.

Carousel Outlook Bright The Jaycees heard glowing reports on outlook for the Golf Carousel which they will sponsor here November 16-20. Largest participation in the event's history is expected. To Benefit Boys' Home A Jaycee project to begin soon is sale of household fire extinguishers, with proceeds going toward construction of a "cottage" costing $65,000 to house a number of boys at the Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw, a private institution. Jaycees over the state are contributing to the project, and have raised about $30,000 to date.

Christmas Lights The Jaycees agreed to take on decorating the business section with Christmas lights. They hope gradually to acquire additional permanent lighting equipment, to increase the effectiveness of Christmas lighting here.

SANFORD TO SPEAK

Governor Terry Sanford will be the speaker for the second annual observance of Founders' Day at Methodist College, Fayetteville, November 1. The program is scheduled for 11:30 a. m. in the Student Union lounge on the college campus.

As this second Founders' Day is observed, the college will have 314 students, an administrative and teaching staff of 21, and 21 service personnel.

WORK IN COUNTY REVIEWED

Moore Chapter of Easter Seal Group To Be Represented at State Meeting

Three officers of the Moore County chapter of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults are planning to attend the annual convention of the society in Winston-Salem November 2-4. The organization is frequently called the "Easter Seal Society" because of its annual Easter Seal drive.

They are Mrs. William Wood of Pinebluff, president; George Hodgkins of Southern Pines, treasurer and Easter Seal campaign chairman; and Mrs. Graham Culbreth of Southern Pines, vice president and service chairman.

Both Mr. Hodgkins and Mrs. Culbreth are members of the board of directors of the State Society and Mrs. Culbreth is also a member of the State Camp Development Committee which is planning construction of a permanent facility for treatment of handicapped children, near Southern Pines.

Election of officers and board of directors of the Moore County chapter was announced last week. Other members of the board of directors will be appointed, it has been announced, to represent each section of Moore County in working on development of the "camp" facility which will be located just north of Southern Pines, off the road to Carthage.

Construction work has begun on expansion of a small lake there. The buildings are designed by E. J. Austin, local architect.

The Moore County chapter has announced the appointment of Mrs. Don Traylor as corresponding secretary, in anticipation of added correspondence in connection with the camp program.

The treasurer's report at the last meeting of the Moore County chapter revealed that in the year ending August 31, the chapter had expended in this county $2,434.96 for such purposes as an x-ray program for the medically indigent; wheel chairs for crippled persons; scholarships for children of this county to attend the summer camp sponsored by the State Society; and an educational program.

The Moore chapter provided a scholarship that made possible special training of Mrs. Barbara Blake in speech therapy. Mrs. Blake is now at work in this field in the schools of the Moore County system.

Officers of the Moore chapter stressed that any handicapped person who needs help can apply to the chapter. It is not necessary that a person be indigent or receiving welfare aid to obtain assistance from the chapter, it was stated.

Southern Pines High School News

By DICKY HOSKINS

Pep Rally The Homecoming festivities started last week with a pep rally in the playground of the elementary school. A bonfire was started with junk and rubbish collected around town. After the fire was started, a dummy of a Rohan player was thrown in, while the high school stood on the side lines and cheered. Then the band played and everyone followed for a parade downtown. At the street corners the cheerleaders stopped the parade and led the group in cheers. The band led the way back up to the school where the students dispersed and headed out to spread spirit for the game.

Homecoming Queen

The candidates for homecoming queens for this year were Delinda Michaels and Jane Gehweiler from the Freshman class; Terry Smithson and Nancy Rowe, Sophomore class; Clara Harper and Patsy Michaels, Junior class; Rosie Chandler and Joan Grover, Senior class.

The coveted honor was presented to Joan Grover. Joan is a member of the Beta Club and is the chief cheerleader for the '61 and '62 athletic season.

After the game, a dance was held in the activity and student lounge in the high school. All were invited. Records were played and Cokes were served for refreshment.

Band Election

Elections were held by the band last Tuesday. Marvin Cornell was elected the president of the band for the following year. Marvin has been in the band several years and plays the trombone. For the office of vice-president, Jerry Bradley was chosen. Jerry is a varsity football player and is accomplished as a tenor-sax player.

Connie McKay was elected to fill the office of secretary and treasurer. Connie plays the trumpet well and, after living in Southern Pines a few months, holds a first seat. Jim Ritchie, who recently moved here from Alaska, was elected the librarian. It is his job to file and to keep music in its proper order. Jim also holds a first trumpet position.
