Signs of Spring

A quick trip to the Pinehurst Country Club Saturday, where rows of sleek cars lined the parking area and all the available greensward teemed with golfing humanity, convinced us that spring is here, or at least, on the way.

Tennis courts at the club were busy too, and at the Race Track nearby where trotters and pacers are daily groomed for the Grand Circuit, came the sound of "steed threatening steed in high and boastful neigh," seeming to indicate a general springlike quickening of activity there.

"Every Man"

Of all anecdotes on Lincoln, which must run into the thousands, our favorite is still the story of Honest Abe's remarks to a cabinet member who was suggesting someone to be President for appointment to his cabinet. "I don't like the man's face," was Lincoln's excuse for refusing the appointment.

"But Mr. President," said the petitioner, "the man isn't responsible for his face!"

"Every man over 40," said Lincoln, "is responsible for his face."

Progress
Last week's mail brought us a mighty unusual present—a rusty nail. But all in the name of progress.

The square-tipped, hand-forged piece of ironmongery was enclosed in a letter from the manager of the Crestmont Inn, a summer hotel which sits firmly atop "Hurricane Hill" in Eagles Mere, Pa. and commands a striking view of the Lake of the Eagles and of 12 counties (count them—12) including and adjacent to Sullivan.

The nail, said Manager Tingle Dickerson, was one of the originals used in the hotel's construction 61 years ago (they really built them to stay in those days, and one of 200 that had to come out during installation of an elevator, latest in pushbutton, self-operating models.

We are treating the nail with caution, being sure it doesn't get underfoot where youngsters may step on it, and are greatly pleased to have this imaginative reminder of happy vacations in an "elevator-less Crestmont."

The Playhouse producer has worked with ANTA and has signed top personalities of stage and television to appear here. ### PINEHURST SCHOOL NEWS

by Gene Maples and John Barry

Telephone Controversy
In an earlier issue, we discussed the possibility of the Student Council's installing a phone in the student lounge. A statement from Student Council Advisor Hobart Williams contended that the phone bill would be too high to be underwritten by any school organization and that there were several drawbacks already being experienced by other local schools. So unless something good comes up, guess we'll have to do without our "talkie" for awhile.

Play Is Cast
The Dramatics Club has finished casting the play that we hope to put on sometime in March. Rehearsals began Monday, with set designing to begin soon. The play—"The Great Western Melodrama"—should be a real tear-jerker.

The Senior Play has also been chosen, though it is still under wraps, and should be cast soon. More on this later (and perhaps a sneak preview).

"Slave Day"
The Senior Class sponsored a fun-packed "Slave Day" Tuesday. This is the day that all seniors are put on the auction block and go to the highest bidder. Our duties—to obey our owners' every command, within reason. In the halls, seniors could be seen carrying books and rolling chalk with our noses. The sound of the auctioneer's gavel has meant fun for the underclassmen for two consecutive years; it has also meant money for the seniors, who use

Teen Club
The Sandhill Teen Club is planning a big Valentine dance February 24.

At the next meeting, if attendance warrants, officers will be elected to serve until school closes.

There will be dance contests at each meeting and winners will be chosen to compete in a championship, to be held at the May meeting.

The Valentine dance will be held at the Pinehurst Legion Hut from 7-11 p.m. Dress will be informal and refreshments will be provided. So let's everyone go, stag or drag, and support this great new idea.

We have big things planned, and with full teen attendance and community support, we could have much more influence than we now have.

Basketball Results
The Trojans of Farm Life played host to the Pinehurst Rebels Friday. After two overtimes and the resulting sudden death period the Farm Life girls moved ahead by the required two points to end the girls' game 44-42. In girls' basketball, after two overtimes, there is a sudden death period: To end this, one team must go ahead by two points, a one point margin does not win. Blue of Farm Life was fouled by Linda Hinson and made both her foul shots to end the game.

With this defeat, the Pinehurst girls now have a 12-1 record to maintain their undisputed first class rating in Conference standing.

High scorers, Pinehurst: Andy Cameron, 21 points; Patsy Hunt 17; Linda Hinson, 4. Farm Life: Whitaker, 7 Cook, 6.

The Pinehurst boys went on the rampage Friday, coasting past Farm Life 92-26. High scorers, 'Rebels: Norton and Lewis, 26 points each; Hardy, 15; Oldham, 12. Trojans: Baily, 7; Hall, 6; Briggs, 5.

The Pinehurst girls defeated Carthage Tuesday 61-46. High scorers: Judy Cameron, 43 points; Linda Hinson, 9; Patsy Hunt, 5; Brenda Sheffield, 4. For Carthage: Myrich, 19, Stutts, 14; Paula Myrich, 13.

Carthage boys scored a 53-47 victory over the Rebels. High scorers: Butch Hardy, 21; Bobby Norton, 11. For Carthage: John Frye, 20; Robert Hendricks, 12; Steve Paschal, 10.

Mrs. Mulford Horr has purchased Halfway House and its adjacent Drydock Cottage, from the Estate of John Warren Watson. The sale was announced this week by Biddle and Company and the Col. George P. Hawes Agency. Mrs. Horr has leased and occupied Halfway House during the winter, spring and fall seasons, since 1952.

Drydock Cottage was occupied by the Watsons of Wayne, Pa., on their visits here. The two cars owned by the late Mr. Watson and stored in the Drydocks garage, a Chrysler sport car and a Lincoln, both models of the 1930's which register only about 1,000 miles of driving each, have been given by Mrs. Watson to the Ford Museum at Dearborn, Mich.

The sale will be held in the Community House next door to the Pinehurst Fire Station, and persons having articles of clothing, household furnishings, furniture, etc. are asked to leave these articles there on February 27 so the pricing committee can price them. If this is impossible, rummage can be left at the Woman's Exchange in Marshall Park, or will be picked up on telephoned request to CY4-5962.

Mrs. S. Donald Sherrerd will be in charge of the food sale, to be held in connection with the rummage sale.

Proceeds from both rummage and food sales will be used by the Exchange to assist in operating expenses of this non-profit organization.

For the benefit of the summer recreation program, the Community Recreation Association is sponsoring a county-wide talent show March 23 in the school auditorium here.

Any person or group wishing to display their talent, whether it be singing, dancing, musical instrument or comedy, is invited to participate and compete for the valuable prizes which are offered. Among the prizes already secured are a vacation and personal appearance on WSOC TV in Charlotte.

Everyone interested is asked to contact Mrs. A. N. Derouin before March 1.

Teammates in Foursome Win Silver Foils Event

A Holly Inn guest, Mr. Jackson is a member of the Indianwood Country Club. Playing with him were Robert Multhater of Detroit and Robert Massas of Troy, Mich.

Fifth ace of the season was registered last Thursday afternoon by a Carolina guest, Thomas S. Kite of Arlington, Va. A mem-

LOOKING BANDBOX FRESH—is golfer Paul Rawden after making the rounds of all five courses at the Pinehurst Country Club in one day. The 42-year old New Haven man, a member, and former champion, of the Yale Golf Club, teeing off at 9:30 last Thursday, scored 80 on Number Four Course; 81 on Number Five and 77 on Number Three. He went on, after a sandwich break at the clubhouse, completing rounds of 75 on Number One and 81 on Number Two (from back tees), to finish at 6:15. He shows his cards, recording scores for the 90 holes, including 43 pars and seven birdies, to incredulous Club Manager Peter Tufts. Caddy Jimmy Steed, who has caddied for Sam Snead among other famous golf stars, seems to have "had it" after his 18 miles of bag-toting for the marathon player. Rawden and his wife are making their annual visit at the Holly Inn.
