STUDENTS CONDUCT PROJECT

Public Asked Opinion About Fallout Shelters

To help Southern Pines High School students get a wider sampling of public opinion and information on fallout shelters and other Civil Defense matters, The Pilot is reprinting below a list of questions distributed by a group of students to about 400 persons.

A summary of more than 300 replies already received was given in last week's Pilot by Dick Hoskins, president of the High School Student Council and The Pilot's high school news correspondent.

Hoskins and other students working on the project ask that Pilot readers clip the questionnaire and answer any or all of the questions in the spaces provided (using a separate piece of paper if more space is needed for answers) and return the questionnaires to Hoskins in care of Southern Pines High School.

The project was undertaken by the students to rouse interest in Civil Defense, both among students and by the general public, and to find out what opinion in Southern Pines is on fallout shelters and other Civil Defense topics that are being discussed, often in a controversial manner, over the nation.

Here are the questions:

1. Would you as an individual contribute to the building of a community fallout shelter? Why or Why not? Would you contribute money as well as time to the building of a shelter?

2. Would you take part in a fund-raising drive for a fallout shelter? Why or why not?

3. Do you think small children should be told of the dangers of radiation and fallout? Why or why not?

4. What are the Civil Defense Radio frequencies?

5. In what way would the town warn the people in the event of an air raid?

6. If you had a fallout shelter which had room for only yourself and your family and you saw a neighbor standing outside during a period of fallout contamination, would you let him in even if it meant endangering the lives of others in the shelter? Why or why not?

7. Has your family made provisions for a nuclear attack? Why or why not?

8. Do you think that the schools should promote education in fallout, radiation, and shelter protection? Why or why not?

9. Please give suggestions for further education in the areas of radiation, fallout, and shelters.

10. If you were told that the city of Greensboro or Charlotte was bombed and you were sitting in a local drug store with some friends, try to describe what your actions would be and why.

ATTENTION, BOAT OWNERS!

Motorboating Laws Designed to Make Use of Boats Safer, More Orderly

Before you take your boat out for a spin on North Carolina waters, be sure that everything aboard, including the certificate of registration, is in proper legal order.

Ben Geene, wildlife protector in Moore County, warned that all Tarheel boatowners should keep abreast of state and federal boating laws.

Greene said that carbon tetrachloride fire extinguishers and others of the toxic vaporizing-liquid type such as chlorobromomethane are no longer approved equipment as of January 1, 1962. The U. S. Coast Guard withdrew approval of this equipment effective December 6, 1958, but allowed use of these extinguishers until January 1 of this year in order that boatmen could replace them with approved foam, carbon dioxide or dry chemical types.

Greene also reminded boatowners that only Coast Guard approved lifesaving devices would be considered as legal equipment. Lifesaving equipment that cannot be Coast Guard approved will not satisfy legal requirements, and will be dealt with accordingly.

"For their own safety," Greene said, "boaters must obtain approved lifesaving devices, and citations will be issued for using improper lifesaving equipment."

"State and federal laws are explicit about 'boat numbers,'" Greene added, "and citations will be issued to operators of improperly numbered boats. The number assigned to the boat and no other shall be painted on or attached to the bow and must be distinctly visible and clearly legible. The letters and numerals must be of plain block design, not less than three inches high, and of a color which will distinctly contrast with the background. White letters and numbers bordered in black don't qualify when used on a light colored background. If these bordered letters and numbers are used on dark backgrounds, the light-colored, visible portion must be at least three inches high.

"Also, between the prefix, the numerals and the suffix the law requires a hyphen or a space equal to a letter or numeral other than 1 or I," added Greene.

"Enforcement officers will be watching for compliance with all these requirements which make motorboating safer, more pleasant and more orderly," he said.

A number of pulp and paper companies in the South have launched programs to develop improved strains of trees for the future. Among the qualities which these better trees will have are greater immunity to disease and insect attack, ability to grow faster to useable size, and a greater yield of wood fiber per cubic foot.
