Pinehurst Resident Enters Suit For $10,000 Damages After Check Arrest

A Fayetteville justice of the peace named as defendant in a civil suit, also a Fayetteville concern not previously named in the case, have both filed demurrers and motions to dismiss in one of the most unusual actions ever instituted at Carthage.

In the $10,000 damage suit recently filed in Moore County Superior Court, a Pinehurst woman, Mrs. Marjorie P. Gilbert, as plaintiff, accuses Neal W. Reichle as agent of Fleishman's Big Store, and Roy C. Warren, individual, both of Fayetteville, of using a criminal process to enforce a civil obligation, namely, to collect a debt.

She alleges that Reichle had a warrant issued by Warren, a justice of the peace, as agent, causing her arrest for worthless check, which she denies was worthless at the time the warrant was issued and served; and that instructions from Warren to the Sheriff of Moore County, which were followed by his deputy, J. A. Lawrence, were to arrest and "hold her in custody" until the $15 check and costs were paid.

The plaintiff states that she was arrested at her place of employment, suffering great humiliation and embarrassment and held in custody until she could get up the money, in abrogation of her rights.

She alleges her belief that this was done to embarrass and humiliate her and coerce her into payment of an indebtedness, while the "ulterior motive" was collection of a bill for goods bought at Fleishman's Big Store, a civil matter.

While the check had been returned marked "insufficient funds," plaintiff denies it was a bad check and alleges that it would have been paid had it been presented to the Carolina Bank at Pinehurst, on which it was drawn. She states that she has had an account at Fleishman's Big Store for 14 years and has bought merchandise there totalling some $2,000, paying most of the bills by check.

Defendant Warren, demurring and moving to dismiss, claims that no cause of action against him has been stated and that in drawing the warrant for Reichle he was acting in his official capacity as justice of the peace and is not liable to civil suit for errors he might have committed, though he denies there were any such errors.

The Morris Co., Inc. of Fayetteville, stating it is the owner of Fleishman's Big Store, also demurred and moved to dismiss, on the grounds that the court in this action had not properly acquired jurisdiction, that Fleishman's Big Store is no legal entity under that name, that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action nor any to show any connecting relationship or agency between or among the parties named.

W. Lamont Erown of Southern Pines is attorney for Mrs. Gilbert, who is the wife of James P. Gilbert, representative of a lawbook firm. The Fayetteville firm of Hair & Ruppe is acting for defendant Warren, and Stacy P. Weaver, Jr., of Fayetteville for the Morris Co., Inc.

Southern Pines Recorder's Court

Several jail and road sentences were meted out for traffic and other offenses in last Wednesday's session of Southern Pines Recorder's court and some of the judgments were appealed to Superior Court.

Judge W. Harry Fullenwider has been giving jail sentences and offering defendants an option of walking a certain distance in lieu of paying a fine, in an attempt to bring home to both defendants and the public the seriousness of traffic and other law violations. Several such judgments were handed down last week.

The following cases were tried: Franklin E. Goode, Route 1, West End, no valid operator's permit, $25 and costs; Jesse Wallace, Jr., public drunk, pay costs and spend the hours from 6:30 p. m. to 6:30 a. m. in jail, for 15 days, with provision that if defendant comes to the jail any day with alcohol on his breath, he is to be taken to Carthage, to serve 30 days on the roads; Martin W. Davis, Jr., Fort Bragg, public drunk, $5 and costs; Walter Grant McCarty, Route 1, Carthage, speeding 55 in 35 zone, $10 and costs; Patrick T. Lynch, speeding 45 in 35 zone, disobeying stop sign, found not guilty of speeding, pay costs and walk to ranger station on the Fort Bragg road.

Willie Gardner McLaughlin, disobeying stop sign, pay costs and walk to Pinehurst; James Edward Blue, no valid driver's license, careless and reckless driving resulting in accident on month on roads, appeal to Superior Court entered, bond set at $100; Eleanor E. Edwards, failing to yield right of way, accident resulting in property damage, pay the costs; Jay Warren Woods Lincilnton, failing to yield right of way, $10 and costs, appeal to Superior Court entered, bond set at $100; Milton E. McLean, careless and reckless driving, 10 days in county jail, suspended on payment of the costs and on condition that he not be found in an automobile for 30 days.

Allan G. Soitaler, Fort Bragg, improper auto registration, expired tags, pay the costs; Gerald D. Blanchard and James Larry Hathcock, each charged with discharging firearms in town, each directed to pay the court costs; Willie Lee Hainesworth, Jr., public drunk, allowing an unlicensed person to operate motor vehicle, one month on roads, appeal to Superior Court entered, bond set at $100; Neil F. Sineath, Carthage, public drunk, $10 and costs; James Harrington, Taylortown, public drunk, one month on the roads, suspended for 12 months on payment of $10 fine and costs and on condition that he not be convicted of any similar offense, or any offense involving alcohol, for 12 months.

Robert E. Harlow, Golf World's publisher, and Miss Ann Brechin, to Dunedin, Fla., for last week's PGA Seniors Championship, was returning with them Tuesday morning. They were listening to the radio, following the countdown for Astronaut Glenn's flight into space, and stopped at the top of a hill about 20 miles south of Gainesville, where they saw the vapor trails following the blastoff.

Jugtown Pottery Being Exhibited at Charleston

An exhibit of Jugtown ware made at the famous pottery in upper Moore County, is currently being held in the Old Slave Market at Charleston, S. C., and reportedly attracting wide attention.

A number of pieces of the ware owned by Charleston collectors are being shown, also some sent from Jugtown on special request. The exhibit opened last week with a tea given by the College of the City of Charleston, and is featured in a page of news stories, photographs and color drawings in the Charleston News & Courier.

Graham Culbreth In Hospital After Attack

Graham Culbreth, proprietor of the Sandhill Drug Company here, suffered a severe heart attack at work Saturday afternoon. He was taken to Moore Memorial Hospital where he is improving, though still in serious condition.

The Culbreths' daughter, Mrs. Mark Liddell, came from Little Rock, Ark., this week and is visiting in the home.

THE STORY OF MR. LIVINGWELL AND HOW IT CAN HELP YOU PROTECT YOUR OWN GOOD LIFE

This is Mr. Livingwell, an extraordinary man. Prosperous, wise, handsome, sportsman, traveler, patron of the arts. Your sort. Stories of the awesome damages awarded in liability suits have sorely troubled Mr. Livingwell. Suppose an accident occurred to provide grounds for a claim against him. Couldn't he be wiped out? He could—even though he carries normal liability insurance. This is why INA, Insurance Company of North America, has developed two protection plans for the Livingwells of this world. The INA-Executive and INA-Professional Policies provide coverage that starts where other liability policies stop. Doctors, lawyers, merchants (even a chief of two) were amazed when told how little these policies cost.

Why not permit us to amaze you? A telephone call or a visit to our office will give you the full story.

Ervin Appointed To USGA Position; To Leave in March

Eddie Ervin, associate editor of Golf World magazine, has been appointed public information supervisor for the United States Golf Association, and will go to the association's "Golf House" headquarters in New York in early March.

Ervin came to Golf World in November, 1959, from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he was assistant to the executive sports editor and golf writer for the St. Petersburg Times for three years.

Following graduation from Erskine College, Due West, S. C., Eddie was sports editor of the Index Journal, published in his hometown of Greenwood, S. C.

In his new assignment, Eddie will monitor all news releases from the U. S. Golf Association, which publishes several magazines.

His personal coverage of tournaments will be limited to six to eight USGA-sponsored events yearly, instead of the 10 to 12 tournaments he has been covering for Golf World.

These will include the USGA Men's and Women's Open and Amateur championships (the Men's Amateur will be held in Pinehurst next September), the Walker and Curtis Cup matches, and the International Trophy Championship, a two year old tournament played by amateurs from all the free countries for the Eisenhower Trophy.

Ervin and his wife, the former Mary Ann Jordan of Anderson, S. C., had just purchased their home at 100 Central Drive on the Pine Needles golf course, in August. Eddie will leave in a week or so for New York, where he will visit USGA Executive Secretary Joseph Dey, and his wife, on Long Island and he plans to look around immediately for a house for his family, which includes a son, Lee, eight, and two daughters, Lydia Susan, six, and Leslie, four.

Eddie, who accompanied Mrs.
