Union Service

The World Day of Prayer was observed Friday afternoon in a union service at the Vass Baptist church. Mrs. F. L. Taylor, WMS president, led the program with a congregational response. Program talks were presented by Mrs. David Moe, Mrs. H. A. Borst, Mrs. Gene Hicks, Mrs. W. D. McGill, and Mrs. J. D. Hales, Jr. Mrs. W. E. Gladstone was pianist.

Conduct Services

Each evening last week, the ladies of the WMS of the Vass Baptist Church conducted services at the church in observance of the week of prayer for Home Missions. A special offering, known as the Annie Armstrong Offering, concluded the Friday night program.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marshburn and sons, Paul and James, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rayburn and son, Glenn, of Aiken, S. C., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frye.

Butch Griffin, sophomore at Western Carolina Teachers College, Cullowhee, arrived Friday to spend a semester break with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Griffin and family. Butch will return for classes on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, en route from Florida to their home in Sherrill, N. Y., called on the Rev. and Mrs. David Moe and children this past weekend.

Mrs. Daniel Boggs and Miss Agnes Boggs attended the funeral services for Mrs. Mamie Hunter of Durham at the Cameron Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. John J. Moe arrived here Saturday from Miami, Fla., for a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. David Moe and children, Beverly and Edill. Mrs. Moe, who resides in California, served in the mission fields in Southern China with her husband, the late John Moe.

Now in North Carolina you can go aboard the super-dreadnaught "U.S.S. North Carolina", the last of the great battleships, which is preserved as a war memorial at Wilmington. Visiting hours are from 8 a.m. until sundown.

Foster Home Parents Meet to Discuss Problems With County, State Officials

On Tuesday afternoon of last week, 16 Moore County foster home parents met in joint session with Moore County Welfare Agency staff to learn "how we can do an even better job for our children." Mrs. Walter B. Cole, director Moore County Welfare Department, welcomed the guests and introduced them. Miss Annie H. Jones and Mrs. Sarah McCaskill, child welfare worker of the agency, aided in making plans for the meeting.

Moore County has 14 licensed boarding homes with 22 children being board-d.

Mrs. Woodrow McDougal and sentative, and Miss Betty Gibson, child welfare consultant, with the State Board of Public Welfare, Raleigh, were present.

Miss Gibson was the speaker. She expressed appreciation for the splendid work that is being done by foster home parents, and the high regard in which they are held by our State Welfare Department. The parents were encouraged to ask questions centered around problems that had arisen or might arise in their homes. Several of the group made valuable contributions to this discussion, which was led by Mrs. Cole.

A film, "Hard Brought Up," was shown. This story showed some of the reasons children are brought into juvenile court and the part the judge, the officers, the doctor, the minister, and foster parent and the social worker play in helping children to become better adjusted to society.

Representatives from these organizations were present for the showing of the film: clerk of court who is the Judge of Juvenile Court, Sheriff's Dept., Robbin's Police Dept., Carthage Police Dept., Moore County Educational Department, Berkley School, Pinckney School, Carthage High School, Moore County Health Dept. and Moore County Welfare Board.

The following foster boarding home parents were present: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis, Mrs. Edna Person, Mrs. Lillie DeGraf-fried, Mrs. Ora Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Maria K. Jones, field representative Mrs. Oma Blanchard, all of Carthage; Mrs. Howard J. Gschwind and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Pre-vatte, all of Vass; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Armstrong of Cameron; and Mr. and Mrs. James Living-son of Southern Pines.

Approximately fifty people at-tended the meeting and showing of the film.

JACKSON SPRINGS NEWS

The World Day of Prayer was observed on Friday evening at the Presbyterian Church with Mrs. E. J. Blue, director of Spirit-ual Life, in charge of the service. She was assisted by Mrs. Kimes Blake who gave a devotional, and by Judy and Jennie Blue who sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Mrs. Marvin Poole was hostess to Circle II of the Presbyterian Women at the covered dish sup- per on Monday evening at her home. Mrs. John C. Blue gave the Bible study and Mrs. Mike Lam-beth had the program. Special guests of the Circle were Mrs. Lacy McDuffie and Miss Monnie Currie of Candor.

Attending a hat-making work-shop in Southern Pines on Friday night were Mrs. Charlie Mc-Donald, Mrs. Marvin Poole, and Mrs. Ollie Currie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dickerson visited her mother, who is ill in a Georgia hospital, last weekend.

Mrs. Bob Vickery, with Julie and Sarah, of Seneca, S. C., are guests of the Marvin Pooles.

Mrs. Joel Stubbs had surgery last week at Moore Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. W. L. Stubbs is also hospitalized there. Mrs. D. M. Poore of Chandler and Mrs. Betty Chandler of Glen Alpine visited the Stubbses on Saturday.

When the engagement of Miss Susan Currie of Jackson Springs and Elizabethtown was announced to Earl Barbour, Jr. of Candor last week, they gave Mr. and Mrs. John Barringer of Carthage the credit of arranging their first date. It was it the fall of 1960, and was an instant success, and the couple has been dating regu-larly since that time. Incidentally, Susan and Mrs. Barringer, the former Miss Elizabeth Clark, grew up together, graduated from West both finished Flora McDonald College in 1959 with majors in home economics. End High School together, and Mrs. Ed McInnis and Ray
